ADVICE FOR RHINE GUARDS

British War Minister's Sensible Talk

To Young Troops Off for Germany.

London, England, (Special Cable to Christian Science Monitor.)—Mr. Winston Churchill, Secretary for War, has sent the following message to the young soldiers in the battalions proceeding to the Rhine.

"You are about to proceed to Germany to form a part of the British Army keeping its watch by the Rhine, until the Germans have agreed to and carry out our just terms of peace. Our period of training has been completed and you are in every respect fit to undertake the serious duties of active service.

"The bridgeheads you will be guarding will enable the Allies at any moment to move swiftly into Germany in case of the failure of the enemy to comply with our rightful conditions.

"I am confident that you will bear yourself with modesty and with discipline, observing at all times a correct demeanor toward the inhabitants

Extraordinary Photography.

The skill and energy of photographers has been expended in all manner of novel ways. They have, among other things, attained difficult pictures of running horses, jumping athletes, flying cannonballs, flashes of lightning and of the shifting spectral lines of revolving double stars. But there is one thing, it appears, that but one photographer has been able to picture, namely, the airy soap bubble.

One scientist, a skilled photographer tells of his ambition to picture a soap bubble in the act of breaking. He has experienced the greatest difficulty, however, in all attempts of this kind. Anyone who has ever watched a brilliant bubble in the act of bursting knows how quickly it vanishes. The authority mentioned thought that it might take one-twentieth of a second, but, by repeated experiments, he has found that the time occupied in the disappearance of the iridescent film is not more than one-three-hundredths of a second. To catch and photograph one of these vanishing films between the instant of its breaking and that of its complete extinction proves a most difficult undertaking, but it has been accomplished.

It might be thought that it would be equally difficult to catch a lightning flash, but it must be remembered that lightning makes an intensely vivid illumination makes the soft reflection of a soap bubble is evanescent even in the bright glare of an electric spark.

From picturing the image of the flying edge of a broken bubble in the ance would be remarkable even in a very much younger man."

Several incidents exemplifying his valor and devotion are quoted. An infantry patrol had gone out to attack an enemy post in the ruins of a village. The Rev. Hardy followed the patrol, and about four hundred yards beyond our front line of posts found an officer of the patrol dangerously wounded. He remained with the officer until he was able to get assistance to bring him in. There was a great deal of firing, and an enemy patrol actually penetrated between the spot at which the officer was lying and our front line and captured three of our men.

On another occasion he worked under shell and trench mortar fire, digging out men buried by a shell. Once when our infantry had withdrawn from a wood, and it was believed there was no one left, Chaplain

Hardy came out of it, and on reaching ad advanced post, asked for help to get in a wounded man.

Accompanied by a sergeant, he made his way to the spot where the man lay, within ten yards of a pill-box which had been captured in the morning but was subsequently recaptured and occupied by the enemy. The wounded man was too weak to stand, but the chaplain and the sergeant eventually succeeded in getting him to our lines.

Throughout the day the enemy's artillery, machine-gun, and trench mortar fire was continuous, and caused many casualties.

Notwithstanding, this very gallant chaplain was seen moving quietly amongst the men and tending the wounded, absolutely regardless of his personal safety.

Rev. T. B. Hardy is vicar of Hutton Roof, Kirby Lonsdale, Westmoreland. He was for sixteen years master at Nottingham High School, where he is remembered as a quiet, unassuming man. He took a keen interest in gymnastics and all forms of sport. While in Nottingham he held curacies in the city and district, and before accepting the living of Kirby Lonsdale he was headmaster at Bentham Grammar School in the West Riding of Yorkshire. Born in London, he was educated at City of London University. About eighteen months ago he was awarded the D.S.O. for bringing in the wounded under fire. Mr. Hardy's only son is a captain in the R.A.M.C. while his daughter is serving with the Red Cross.

The only other army chaplain to win the V.C. in the present war is the Rev. E. Noel Mellish, who brought in a number of wounded under heavy fire. This award was gazetted in 1916. One other instance of a clergyman winning the honor is recorded—that of the Rev. J. W. Adams, who saved some men of the 9th Lancers under fire in Afghanistan in 1879.

TEETHING TROUBLES

Baby's teething time is a time of worry for most mothers. Baby's little gums become swollen and tender; his bowels get out of order and constipation, colic or even diarrhoea sets in. To make the teething period easy Baby's Own Tablets should be given the little one. They sweeten the stomach; regulate the bowels and keep baby good natured. Concerning them Mrs. Marcel D. LeBlanc, Newramcook, West. N. B., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past six years and have found them indispensable. To my mind nothing can equal them in allaying the fever accompanying teething. I would not be without them and can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SETTLE FOR CASH

(Philadelphia Record). The proposal is now made to assess Germany about 30 billion dollars and take part in cash and part in bonds. If Germany defaults on bonds, how is the money to be collected? Perhaps the League of Nations could boycott German commerce, and while it would be difficult, it might not be impossible for Germany to get along with no foreign trade. There might be difficulty in getting action by the League.

It would be better to settle for cash even if the amount should be reduced. It is desirable to complete the transaction and not have it dragging along for the next half century. Germany could raise a good deal of money if it had to, and it would make a stalwart effort to raise the money if the Allied and American troops were not withdrawn until it were paid.

In 1871, Germany fined France a billion dollars, and the money had to be paid over before the German army was withdrawn. It did not believe France could raise this amount, but it did; it was the biggest financial operation ever carried through. Germany expected to keep its troops in France for many years, and when it got the money it was sorry it did not demand a larger sum; it intended to keep its grip on a prostrate enemy for a long time.

After the war of 1875, Russia accepted Turkey's promises to pay an indemnity. The promises were not kept, and Turkey is still owing a great part of the money. After the enemy's troops have been withdrawn there is no way of forcing payment except to make another war. We want to get through with the war and its settlements and get the world's armies reduced.

But if it is impracticable to get cash for the full amount, there are properties that may be taken. For example, there is a very considerable merchant marine in German ports. Every vessel in German ports and America can use should be exacted. Besides the shipping, there are the German railroads, most of which belong to the Government. The privately owned roads can be taken, too, and the owners can look to the Government of their country for compensation. The railroads could be operated by a commission named by the Allies and America, and the profits used as a part of the indemnity. Possibly the same method could be applied to some of the great industrial establishments, but this would involve a good many complications.

The wisest plan would be to settle for cash, a part of Germany being occupied—perhaps its seaports—until the last of the cash is turned over. If Germany defaults on its war debt it can raise a large sum for indemnity, and to secure the removal of the victorious nations.

The Matter of Jobs.

It isn't the job that you want to take. So much as the job you can get. And the meanest job in the world you can make. The biggest the world's held yet. For it isn't the job but the man that counts. And the man makes the job he fills. A poor little job or a job that mounts 'till it outtops them all on the hills. Any old job is a fine old job. As long as the man who takes it. Is made of the stuff that can transmute Jobs. Into the wonderful thing he makes it. And it isn't to wait and to sneer and sulk. But to grasp what comes, and then sail in to it, turning it into luck. No, it isn't the job it's the man. The tiniest job in the world grows fine when the spirit is fine that hold it. And day by day it puts on a shine. And a glory of growth enfolds it; If it's only a bootblack, still there's a chance. As your dreams and your hopes are unfurled To top yourself as the days advance. To the best bootblack in the world. Which Kind of Parlor?

The building craze to-day is largely using methods in use in the days of the Pharaohs, said the principal architect of the office of works, at the Royal Sanitary Institute in England recently. "The parlor question, as went on, is a difficult one. Some people prefer one large, pleasant room to a poky living room and small parlor. Others urge that the parlor is necessary for children to do their lessons in, to accommodate the piano and household goods, and also the coffin in the event of a death in the family."

who should neither be treated with harshness nor familiarity. I am sure that at any moment you can discharge any duty that may be intrusted to you.

"The increases of pay which have lately been given to the armies of occupation ought to enable you young soldiers in the course of a year to put by a sum of money which will be a substantial help to you in coming out of the army and the means of making a good start in civil life.

"Special arrangements will be made to help you continue your education and to fit you to take your places in civil and industrial life on your return.

"There will be good opportunities for athletic sport and games, in which I hope you will try and excel so that it will not be all work and no play.

"Lastly, you will realize that you are in a special sense the inheritors of the glories won by the British armies and that you are chosen to uphold in your own persons and by your daily conduct their high traditions of bravery and fair play. I wish you God speed, fine adventure, and a swift return."
