RESTORING FORESTS.

ONE WAY TO PREVENT A REPETITION OF THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD.

The Division of Forestry has been asked to devise a plan by which the area can be recovered with timber and the too rapid run off of the rainfall prevented.

Soon the famous Johnstown flood of May 31, 1889, will be recalled to the public by an attempt to reforest a large part of the Conemaugh watershed to prevent further damage from freshets. The Johnstown Water Company, which controls 3,000 acres of mountain land, has asked the Division of Forestry to devise a plan by which the area can be recovered with timber and the too rapid run off of the rainfall prevented.

The region is peculiarly liable to freshets, owing to its geological character and the removal of its timber.
The now historic catastrophe which swept away $10,000,000 in property and half as many lives as the battle of Gettysburg was but an exaggerated instance of many similar floods. This tendency has been increased by logging off the timber and clearing numerous farms, so that the rainfall flows quickly from the surface, causing high water at one time and the drying up of springs later.

The Johnstown Water Company has bought up many of these farms and torn down their buildings, and now wishes to expedite their return to the forest. The tract is in a sandstone region, much broken, with valleys averaging 550 feet in depth. The timber consists of hemlock, oak, locust and ash, with some beech and poplar. The openings are from twenty to fifty acres.

As soon as the weather permits, J.
W. Toumey, superintendent of tree planting, and another working plan expert of the Division of Forestry will examine the region and decide on a plan of reforestation. In the clearings tree planting will be required.
An attempt will probably be made to increase the stand over the whole area by skillfully assisting natural reproduction. Protection from fire and cattle will also be required. The expense will be shared by the Government and the water company, the former furnishing the expert work and possibly some of the material for planting.

The Division of Forestry is in consultation with three important railway companies over a contemplated innovation in American railway methods. These roads—the Atchinson, Milwaukee & Santa Fe, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Zanesville & Ohio—are considering raising tie and pole timber on a large scale on their now nonutilized right-of-way lands. Other large Western roads are also interested.

This action is due chiefly to the failing of the natural supply of this material in all but the newer portions of the United States. About 1,000,000 acres of timber are consumed annually by railroads in buildings and repairing at the present rate of timber depletion the increase cost of such material will soon be a serious factor in railroad economy. The Santa Fe line has already done some experimental planting, and the results have done much to stimulate interest. This road planted 1,250 acres in catalpa fifteen years ago, the total cost was $25,000, but it is estimated by the railroad officials that in ten years the tract will have produced 2,500,000 worth of poles, ties and posts.

Investigation of the causes, effects and means of prevention of forest fires in the West will be carried on this summer in Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and South Dakota. Besides field study, designed chiefly to discover means of preventing the fire, the division is making a historic record of all important fires which have occurred in the United States since 1754.
Although yet incomplete, this indicates that the annual recorded loss by forest burnings in the United States is the lowest, $20,000,000. It will probably run far above this sum, as the Pacific Coast States have been examined only partially. Accounts of over 5,500 disastrous fires have been obtained in the seventeen States already examined. Michigan, Minnosota, and Wisconsin have suffered the most severely. These records are taken chiefly from newspapers, and where it has been possible to compare them with the figures of practical lumbermen it has been found that the tendency of the press is to underestimate the damage.

The former official estimate of the wooded area of the United States, placed at 26 per cent., has been raised to 37 per cent. by the latest computations of the Division of Geography and Forestry of the United States Geological Survey. That office has issued a bulletin containing new figures on American forests, some of which tend to prove the national timber resources greater than is supposed. The two latest States to be examined are Oregon and Washington. The former is estimated to contain 234,653 million feet, B. M., in standing timber; the latter, 114,788 million feet. Destruction by fire has been exceedingly severe in Washington. On the assumption that the burned areas contained on an average as much timber as the untouched portion, 40,000 million feet have been destroyed since lumbering began. This amount would supply all the sawmills of the United States for two years, and at a value of only 75 cents a thousand means a dead loss to the State of $30,000,000. The amount actually logged in the same period has been 36,000 million feet, making the estimate by the same comparison of areas. Oregon has suffered less from both fire and lumbering, owing to the smaller facilities for marketing the product.

Indian Ham Sandwiches.

Pound and mix well together one-half cupful of chopped ham, a tablespoonful of soft butter and a dash of tabasco or cayenne. To this add tablespoonful of Indian chutney and the same amount of chervil, chopped fine. Stir and mix all thoroughly and read on thin, unbuttered bread.

CULLINGS.

A buy word—Cash.

Linen was the first fabric weaved.
The full do not believe the hungry.
It doesn't require a blacksmith to shoo a horsefly.

It is a remarkable fact that few bald men ever die with consumption.

It is not the work a man does that tires him; it is getting rid of it.

Don't call a man a rascal until you have evidence that he really is one.

Rub the window panes well with old newspapers; it will let in the sunshine.

Vegetarians have clearer complexions than people who eat animal food.

Disease germs, like robbers, prefer the dark because their deeds are evil.

When a man is missing, every one's first impulse is to count the women left in town, to see if one is short.

No man ever got rid of a lie by telling it; it is sure to come home, sooner or later, to hobnob with its author.

If anything is done in the name of love its silliness becomes romance to the women.

Start to fix over an old house, and it will cost you just twice the original estimate.

A ruinous end attends a riotous life.
Well were it for the drunkard, as he hath lived like a beast, if he should die so.

We find plenty of people who don't average well; they know too much for one man, and not quite enough for two.

One swallow may not make a summer, but one grasshopper can make a spring, and one bicyclist can make a fall.

Find your purpose and mold your life to fit it. Try your best to be somebody and do that on saturday time.

Some doctors are very good at treating skin diseases; they usually do their skinning when the bill is to be paid.

When a man refuses to have his teeth cared for, saying that he can't afford it, it means that he lacks the necessary nerve.

It is a good thing to have a pocket ful of money; but if your best friend is located there your condition is deplorable.

Some men are misinterpreting the doctor's advice to bathe frequently in hot water. They bathe their insides "with fire-water."

If you make a debt, let it be but small.

But 'twere better to make no debt at all.

JUST ITEMS.

Determination does not let go its hold to spit on its lands.

Action has little time to use its tongue.

It is altogether too easy to be charitable with other people's soup.

"Age never looks so wrinkled as when it tries to appear young.

Deserve your wife's respect and you need not fear the world's opinion.

Crime makes fools of its smartest friends.

Boys are less apt to leave home permanently if it is easy for them to go and come at will.

If you have a complaint to make remember the best results are obtained by a polite statement.

Never wait for a thing to turn up.
Go turn it up yourself. It takes less time and is surer to be done.

There is evidently something in the name after all. Phil Graves is an undertaker in an Ohio village.

Don't keep on telling what you are going to do; but point out what you have done.

To destroy the odor of paint in a newly painted room, put a handful of fresh hay in a bowl of water, and let it stand in the room over night.

If a man is a mule, elbow grease will make a good lubricator for it. If he is not a machine, he ought to lubricate himself with good horse sense.

The way to get credit is to be punctual in paying one's bills. The way to preserve it is not to use it too much.
Settle often; have short accounts.

It is a very difficult matter to make a church the right size. Every one we ever saw was too small for weddings and too large for prayer meetings.— Atchinson Globe.

The man who throws coal into a hot furnace for a living has one advantage over his employer: his wife doesn't throw it up to him that he sits in a cool office all day.

GOLDEN ITEM FOR COOKS.

A good way to improve a ham after it is boiled is to wrap it in buttered paper and bake it for an hour. It adds greatly to the flavor.

If you wish to improve your coffee, just before you take it from the range drop in a pinch of salt.

In making soup of split peas, have you ever used salt pork, just a bit, and a small onion? Some epicures prefer it to the proverbial ham-bone, and it is easier to get.

In serving black-bean soup, rub the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs through a sieve, and sprinkle them thickly on top of the soup. The black and gold look very pretty.

On all white soups—milk, potato, turnip, clam or oyster—place, just before serving, on the top of the soup in each place a tablespoonful of whipped cream. It gives great delicacy.

WHERE THEY CAME FROM

Maurice Jokai, the Hungarian novelist, gives the following birth-places of certain diseases:

Influenza from Russia.

The plague from Turkey.

Cholera from Hindustan.

Small-pox from the Saracens.

Scarlet fever came from China.

Yellow fever from South America.

It's a bad sign

When you have that obstinate lingering cough which will not be shaken off.

I have used three bottles of Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery since my correspondence with you," writes Mr. A. E. Novotny, of New York, N. Y. (Box 1427). "I feel that I am in need of no more medical assistance. When I started to take your medicine I had a regular consumptive cough, of which I was afraid, and everybody cautioned and warned me concerning it. I was losing weight rapidly, was very pale and had no appetite whatever. Now my condition is changed entirely. I do not cough at all, have gained eight pounds in weight, have recovered my healthy color, and my appetite is enormous."

A VICTORY OF PEACE.

Why the Colonel Was Deprived of His Military Title.

It was two days after the final signing of the peace papers between the United States and Spain when a lady called on the editor. She was a pleasant-looking woman, but there was a line around the lower part of her face that looked as if it had never been put there to be smoothed. She talked as if she might be a Western woman, and that she had not been deeply harrowed by the conventionalities of elaborate society was manifest.

"Excuse me," she said, without much waste of time in preliminaries.
"But is there peace now between the United States and Spain?"

"There is, madam," responded the editor. "It began on Tuesday, the 11th day of April, about 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon."

"And there isn't any more war?"

"Not any with Spain, madam."

"Any with any other country?" she asked as if a new thought had come to her.

"Well, we are having something of a small domestic difficulty so to speak with a few measly Malays in the Philippines."

"Is it real war?"

"It looks a good deal as if it were, madam."

"Um," she said in a tone of disappointment, "that's what my husband said. But I wasn't quite sure. You see, my husband used to be in the militia and he insisted on my calling him colonel before folks, and I didn't like it. At last I agreed to call him colonel as long as there was any war.
But I told him I'd just be drafted if I would call him when there was peace. I didn't hear till to-day that there was plumb peace with Spain, and when he said there was war enough yet for me to keep on calling him colonel, I thought I'd just drop in and see you about it. Good morning," and she marched through the open door and disappeared.—Washington Star.

HIS KISS.

He kissed her 'neath her parasol, He called her his June rose,
But that, O reader, wasn't all As, happily, you suppose.
