TURNED OUT TO DIE.

Daughter's Inhuman Treatment Leads to Aged Woman's Death.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Jan. 3.—The body of an aged woman, Mary McDonald, was found in a back field at St. Peter's.

It was brought out in the inquest that her daughter and son-in-law had turned her out and refused to admit her. She then begged from house to house, and having got astray, wandered about through the night till exhausted, when she expired on the ground and lay down to die.

The jury brought in a verdict of death from exposure and strongly censured her daughter.

THE TONIC OF HEALTH

Must be a food as well. There is no medicine that is both a food and a tonic—it aids digestion, promotes assimilation, converts food into nutriment that builds up nerves, blood, brain and bone. That tonic is Ferrozone, which contains exactly what a run-down system needs. Ferrozone supplies oxygen to purify the blood, phosphorus to develop the brain, iron to harden the muscles. No wonder it makes such vigorous men and women. You'll eat, sleep, think and feel better by using Ferrozone; try it now. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty chocolate coated Ferrozone tablets, at all dealers.

WILL BE STATE BURIAL

Montreal Offers to Honor Remains of Late Minister Prefontaine.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—A state funeral will be accorded the remains of the late Hon. Raymond Prefontaine. It is expected that the body will reach Montreal about Jan. 23. The remains will then be conveyed to the City Hall and lie in state for two days at the council chamber, after which regular mass will be sung at Notre Dame, and the burial will take place at Cote Des Neiges Cemetery. That is, if the Government accepts the city offer.

AN AMERICAN DISEASE.

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills—accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood and thus aid general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself—25¢ per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers.

An unfulfilled promise is apt to come back at a way not at all pleasant.

Sunlight Soap is better than other soaps, but is best used in the daylight way. Buy Sunlight Soap and follow directions.

Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Eucalypti tablets, ten cents per box. All drug stores.

Uniform good temper sometimes means want of necessary aggressiveness.

ELECTION MANIFESTO

Joseph Chamberlain Vigorously Attacks New Government.

Characterizes It as "Home Rule, Little Englander Government"—Makes Exposition of His Fiscal Policy, Especially of the Subject of Colonial Preference—Unionist Party Is He Says, Agreed—His Summing Up.

London, Jan. 3.—Joseph Chamberlain issued his election manifesto yesterday. After vigorously attacking the new Government, which he describes as being essentially a "Home Rule, Little Englander Government," depending for its existence on Irish votes, he devotes himself entirely to an exposition of his fiscal policy, especially to the subject of Colonial preference, which he speaks of as the first item in the constructive program of the Unionist party; the second item, closely connected with the first being the policy of retaliation.

He declares that the Colonies will not wait indefinitely, but will be forced to enter into arrangements with strangers. He points out that the scheme of Colonial preference will include a provision for the small tax on foreign wheat but says that as both home-grown and Colonial wheat will be free, and the supply from the Colonies unlimited, the price of bread will not be increased in the slightest degree.

Unionist Party Agreed.
Mr. Chamberlain declares that he believes the Unionist party to be absolutely agreed regarding these aims, though he admits there may be some differences of opinion when the time comes to discuss the methods by which these aims are to be accomplished. He says, however, that these differences of opinion probably are exaggerated, and that they are matters more of verbal distinction than of practical importance. Continuing, Mr. Chamberlain says:

"I believe our objects can be attained by a moderate general tariff, scientifically adapted to the existing conditions of our trade, and so arranged as to secure the largest amount of employment at fair wages for our people. It would necessarily provide for the free admission of raw materials and of articles which we do not make ourselves, while it would place a toll on the manufacturers of those countries which do not treat us fairly."

Summed Up.
"Our policy is constructive and practical, while the policy of our opponents is destructive and theoretical."

BLAST FROM DEVONSHIRE.

Issues Manifesto Against Retrograde Fiscal Policy—Says Home Rule Is a Side Issue.

London, Jan. 3.—The Duke of Devonshire, Liberal Unionist, has issued an important election manifesto in which he virtually advises the Free Trade Unionists to support the Liberal candidates rather than the Protectionist Unionists. By treating the fiscal question as a mere side issue he deals the strongest blow yet against Mr. Balfour's election tactics.

The duke asserts that there is no indication that the party become predominant Protectionist, and he declares there must be no deviation from attachment to free trade.

The duke confesses that he knows no more now than when he left the late Government of what is the policy of the Balfourian fiscal scheme, which its authors declare to be acceptable to free traders and protectionists alike.

On the other hand, he says there is no ambiguity about the Chamberlainian fiscal policy, which is a retrograde fiscal policy by whomsoever it may be proposed.

The manifesto contends that the Unionist party organization has largely been captured by the Protectionist wing, and that should the party become predominantly Protectionist there will be either real danger to free trade or the prospects of the exclusion of the Unionist party for an indefinite period from either power or influence.

In conclusion, the duke declares that it is the duty of Unionist Free Traders to take such action as will prove that the Unionist party, as a whole, whether in Opposition or in Office, is still uncommitted to a retrograde fiscal policy by whomsoever it may be proposed.

MAY BE FIVE KILLED.

Bad Head-On Collision Occurs at Kingsburg, Man.

Winnipeg, Jan. 2.—A head-on collision occurred early yesterday afternoon between two freight cars at Kingsburg, 45 miles east of Chatham, when the engineer and brakeman were killed.

It is reported that three more are killed and many injured.

The wrecking train from Port William left for the scene at 2 o'clock.

Honor For Canadian.

London, Jan. 2.—The New Year honors include only one recognition of the Indian staff. Among the names on the list is that of Major Aldin Joly de Lotbiniere, R. E., superintending engineer, to be companion of the Indian order. He graduated from Kingston, Ont., Military College in 1882.

Over Dose of Laudanum Killed.
Peterborough, Jan. 2.—Edward Towns, an employee of the American Cereal Co., is dead as a result of an overdose of laudanum taken to induce sleep. The young man had been working night-work. He was a brother of F. G. Towns, postmaster of Dover.

Found Dead in His Barn.
Campbellford, Jan. 2.—Jas. Hall, one of the oldest residents of this village, was found dead in his barn shortly after noon yesterday. Deceased was about 75 years of age and leaves a widow and family of eight.

GIVEN ACID FOR MEDICINE.

London Man Pays With Life For His Wife's Mistake.

London, Jan. 3.—Benson Winegarden of 723 Waterloo street, died Monday morning as a result of drinking carbolic acid, administered to him by his wife in mistake for olive oil. Winegarden has suffered from kidney trouble for upwards of eight years, and has been practically an invalid during that time, although able to be up and about occasionally. New Year's eve he was very ill, and his condition did not improve as the night advanced, and about 6 o'clock his wife arose to give him a dose of olive oil.

After swallowing a mouthful of the acid, he asked his wife what it was, and not finding her mistake he summoned medical aid, which arrived too late. Mr. Winegarden living only 10 minutes after taking the dose.

Besides his widow, he leaves a family of eight children. He was 56 years of age.

CONTRACTED CHRONIC DIARRHOEA WHILE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

"While with the U. S. Army in the Philippines, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. I suffered severely from this terrible disease for over three years and tried the prescriptions of numerous physicians, but found nothing that did me any good until I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two small bottles of which entirely cured me. I have since had no return of the disease."—Herman Stein, 212 N. Union Ave., Pueblo, Colorado. For sale by all druggists.

Leg Broken While Voting.

Kingsburg, Jan. 2.—James Fisher of Sudbury sustained a fracture of the thigh bone of his leg on Monday during a contest at the polling sub-division there. Dr. Elliott, Seely's Bay, reduced the fracture.

Kingsburg Bye-Election.

Kingsburg, Jan. 2.—It is generally understood that the Kingsburg bye-election will be held on Monday, Jan. 22.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS.

The fact of giving children medicine containing injurious substances, is sometimes more disastrous than the disease from which they are suffering. Every mother should know that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is perfectly safe for children to take.

It contains nothing harmful and for coughs, colds and croup is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

Students' Mad Act.

Caledonia, Minn., Jan. 3.—Matthew Syver, intimated with Pearl Wheaton, daughter of S. H. Wheaton, a wealthy farmer, broke into the Wheaton home near here Monday night, shot and killed the girl, and then fatally wounded her sister Ruth, her mother and himself. Syver is a dental student at the University of Minnesota. Pearl Wheaton refused to marry him.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

As mercury will destroy the senses of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. M. O. H. RUSSELL.
A Commercial Woman and a Successful Operator in Oil.

Mrs. Mae Ora Hood Russell of Bloomington, Ill., is the only woman oil operator in Kentucky and perhaps in the United States. Since the discovery of oil there have been but one or two women who ventured into the business on a large scale, and so far as is known this young woman of some twenty-eight years is the only one to make a success of the business, and today she is rated as among the largest operators in Wayne county, Ky., alone are worth a vast sum of money.

The entire career of this woman shows that she was out for a comfortable life rather than that of a home woman, and, although once married, she is now unhampered, as she says, by the presence of a man.

Mrs. Russell was born Mae Ora Hood, daughter of prominent people of the Illinois town, and after receiving ing a good common school education became a stenographer. She married W. L. Russell, a rich oil operator of Ohio, and, although she lived with him a short time only, she learned much of the methods employed in obtaining good oil leases and the manner in which oil was produced in paying quantities. The first strike of oil by Mrs. Russell was a well which produced at the beginning over 1,000 barrels per day, by far the largest struck in the state, and now produced even a greater amount than any other well yet brought in in that section.

Mrs. Russell holds leases on thousands of acres in close proximity to this well, and practical oil men say that the properties owned and controlled by her will make her the richest oil operator in the state. There is never a day, rain or shine, hail or snow, that Mrs. Russell is not with her large force of men at work in the fields, and oil operators who have been at the business for years marvel at her wonderful capacity for work.

Attractive in face and figure, though apparently delicate, Mrs. Russell greets one with the gracious manner of a gentle, educated woman and would be the last person in the world who would take for an oil operator.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hints on Table Manners.

If you do not care to take wine when at a formal dinner a gesture of disgust is sufficient to show the servant that he or she is not to pour any in your glass. You should not use a knife when eating fish, and lettuce leaves should be folded with the fork and so conveyed to the mouth. Ices may be eaten with a fork or spoon, as one may prefer.

Always remain composed in case of an accident at the table. If you are the hostess, never apologize. Both host and guest should ignore it, although if the guest is the offender he or she may offer a few words of apology, says the Philadelphia Press.

Never allow your servant to reach across a person in placing or removing anything and see that in clearing the table only one or two plates are removed at a time. The habit of piling one plate on top of another shows a lack of proper training. The knife and fork should be placed side by side on the plate at the conclusion of each course.

Is Your Kerosene Sour?

One day recently an Indianapolis woman went into a lamp store to buy some new burners and complained to the woman in charge that her old burners when lighted, gave off most offensive odors. The lamp woman said to her:

"I am quite sure it is not the burners that are at fault, nor is it your lamp work. Your coal oil is probably sour."

The buyer was astonished to learn that coal oil could sour. The woman in charge asked the buyer how long she had had the oil, and when the buyer reported that she had not had her oil can filled for some time she was informed that coal oil sours just as much as milk—not so soon, of course, for it will stand much longer, but to be sweet and to burn without odor the oil must be fresh. The coal oil can should be thoroughly emptied at frequent intervals. It should be aired and when refilled kept closed.—Indianapolis News.

Marriage and Temper.

Every one agrees that marriage has a strong influence upon the temper, says a writer, but is it good or bad?

Taking a woman's point of view for a moment, we can easily see how her temper may be improved by marriage. When she marries she has, we may assume, attained the ambition of her life. She has got a husband and a home of her own. She looks forward to a happy life—in fact, the future is as bright as a future well could look. This is bound to tell. Perhaps before marriage she was inclined to peevishness. She might even have had grave doubts about ever being a wife. She might have a discontented family circle to deal with, and so on. These things are all brushed away when she marries. She enters a condition which enables her to see a roseate hue on the most ordinary things of life. If this does not improve her temper nothing can.

Table Saving Mats.
Asbestos mats in all shapes and sizes covered with white cotton flannel may be had from any of the shops, and are of great help to the careful housewife in protecting her fine table from spots due to hot dishes. These mats may be covered with dollies made on purpose to fit them, and in this way they do not spoil the appearance of a prettily set table in the slightest. Another good way to keep the heat of the dishes from striking in is to cover the table first with a square of white oilcloth, then with a padded and quilted silken cloth underneath the table spread. The oilcloth is excellent for keeping out the heat and protecting the table in every way.

The Dower Chest.
The "dower chest" as a gift for the newly betrothed maid is growing in favor and antique shops in the country are searched for the old carved chests of Virginia and Massachusetts pioneers. Some persons with money to spare are sending agents to Europe to find the real antiques, such as figure in historical pictures. The dower chest of carved oak with massive bands of brass would be loved by every prospective bride. Some chests are of generous proportions, and if they are filled with rare embroidered silks, cashmere and fine linens, as was the old custom, their value will be enhanced very materially in the bride's eyes.

Full Door Mirrors.
When a girl has scant space in her boudoir she may economize in room by putting away her chival glass and having her closet door inlaid with a mirror reaching from the top to the floor. It makes a wonderfully attractive feature, reflecting all the knickknacks and oddities. The girl finds it much more convenient and certainly more useful than the cheval glass, which had to be tilted and turned to see the hang of the skirt or to catch a glimpse of the slippers. When a girl can afford it, nothing is more effective than to have all her doors made with mirrors and draped with soft silk that harmonizes with the upholstery.

Why Actresses Are Beautiful.
When we are in search of really handsome women we look to the stage and wonder why we find them there. A beautiful actress gives as the real thing. Women on the stage make it their business to be beautiful, which they consider as important as dramatic talent. They do not attempt the footlights unless they have some looks and a good carriage. They improve their beauty by careful exercise, diet, study, a desire to please and the pleasure they get from their work.

Hands and Housework.
Sensible young matrons who desire to preserve their hands will use a mop for washing dishes. The hands need then never come in contact with dish-water and may be kept soft and white. Another common sense scheme for the preservation of the hands is the wearing of gloves for housework. As a protection against callous spots on the palms a pair of old gloves may be laid aside to wear on sweeping days.

Matching Oak Furniture.
Oak furniture does not go well with red, and where it is necessary to retain a red rug, if the latter is at all dark, a dark yellow wall will be successful on the walls. The walls and paper can then be harmonized with flowered curtains in red and yellow madras. Blue back of oak is always a good choice, and there are many greens that go with it well.

Mushrooms.
Never select mushrooms or dishes containing mushrooms. The process of cooking is in itself right, but after getting cold mushrooms are apt to develop injurious properties and to become dangerous food. Therefore consume what mushrooms you cook at once or throw them away.

Bookshelves.
Safety pins are good substitutes when a book is not handy, but easier still are corset laces of cotton, linen, silk or elastic, according to the use for which they are intended. By means of the metal ends these can be used for draw strings.

When long hair becomes so matted that it is difficult to comb the tangled locks they should be saturated with alcohol. This done, they will become amenable to the brush and comb as if by magic.

A young girl's chest will naturally grow full and strong if she will remember to draw long, deep breaths that inflate it and draw in the abdomen.

The mica sides of oil stoves, which get so smoked and dirty, may easily be cleaned with a piece of flannel dipped in kerosene.

Rub kerosene on the sink under the stove once a day, and it will always look bright.

Armour's
Extract
of BeefMakes Food
More Nourishing

We do not claim that Armour's Extract of Beef is a food. It is a tonic for the appetite—is soothing and grateful to the stomach—helps one to get all the nourishment out of the food—inures quick, sound digestion.

Start dinner with a clear bouillon or savory soup with Armour's Extract of Beef added to give the true beef flavor—and see how easily the dinner is digested.

Pegged Boots in Canada.
There are few, if any, pegged boots made in the factories of the United States, while fifty years ago the sewing machine was yet unperfected and nearly all shoes save the hand-sewn were hobbled or pegged. In Canada there are a few scattering factories producing pegged boots for men and boys. Adam Bertsch, a Rochester pattern manufacturer, recently ran across one at St. John's, Nfld.

Mr. Bertsch was interested in the quaint manner in which the boots and shoes are manufactured, the machinery in use being long out of date, as compared with the present standard in the United States. There are no up-to-date methods, and one might easily imagine stepping into this factory that the cycle of time had turned back forty or fifty years. The pegged boots are high cut, such as men wore generally before the war, and find a ready sale in Newfoundland and in Canada.—From the Shoe Retailer.

A "WHEEZY" CHEST.
Means your trouble is deep-seated. To delay is dangerous. All the inflammation will be drawn out in one day by applying Xeroline. It penetrates through the pores of the skin, relieves inflammation and thus prevents serious consequences. For sore throat, weak chest and tendency to colds, no prescription is better than Xeroline's Xeroline. For nearly fifty years it has been Canada's great household remedy. Twenty-five cents buys a large bottle.

Young Girls Sold in Marriage.
Mrs. T. Chisholm, Manitoba, reporting recently to the Dominion Women's Christian Temperance Union convention on foreign work, denounced child marriage, practiced among Germans, Galicians and Poles in Manitoba. She instanced a case of a thirteen-year-old girl forced to marry a man much older, whom she had never seen till the week before the marriage ceremony. The fathers of young girls were paid $25 or $30 by the prospective groom. The girls were practically sold by hard-up parents. She knew cases of fourteen-year-old girls being compelled to marry under similar circumstances. The Attorney-General had been asked to stop child marriages unless they could get a case for prosecution through the girl refusing to say yes at the marriage altar.

WHEN SEVEN MEN DIE.
You know at least one of them has catarrh—but it was neglected. When "Catarrhoxone" cures so quickly it is foolish to suffer—it is a shame to keep on sniffing and hawking. Catarrhoxone goes direct to the source of the trouble—why it's so dead certain to cure. It stops the cough, prevents that disgusting discharge, clears phlegm out of the throat in five minutes. Very pleasant, and safe, too; get Catarrhoxone from your druggist to-day.

THE LAND OF THE AZTECS.
Who has not read of the glorious and wonderful old Mexico? The days when Montezuma held gorgeous court in the ancient capital of Gran Tenochtitlan are departed, but they have left Mexico one of the most interesting countries in the world. Picturesque ruins and relics, in a setting of flowers and sunshine, everywhere delight the fortunate visitor; each day's travel reveals fresh beauties. And out of the ruins a new Mexico is arising, a land of possibilities, abounding in resources of all kinds. In the peasants' hands the soil will yield five crops a year, metals and minerals in abundance. Our business men have here a splendid field for investment, and should see and judge the land for themselves. Leisurely investigation under sunny skies will be pleasant work, while the ladies will be delighted with their bargains in native work and precious stones.

An attractive itinerary, covering the whole of Mexico and the best of the Southern States, and including a visit to Cuba and New Orleans for "Mardi Gras," has been arranged for the "Current House-party" tour, leaving Toronto early in February next, being the most extensive trip ever taken by any party. The special private train will contain every possible comfort and luxury, and the entire equal to that of a first-class hotel. A pleasant, smooth running trip is assured, the management having had long experience in this branch of travel. Canadian enterprise, when it is the best, is worthy of your attention. Full particulars, with descriptive literature, upon application to E. M. Outhurst, 25 Maitland Street, Toronto, or C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C. P. Ry., Toronto.
