Amina Kelly Tells of Her II. Subsequent Cure—A States Should be Read by Every mada.

That Shoule be Read by Every Chain Canada.

Miss Amina Kelly, a well known and much esteemed young lady living at Maplewood, N. B., writes: "I consider it my duty to let you know what your wonderful medicine has done for me. In April, 1896, I began to lose flesh and colors: my appetite failed and on going up stairs I would be go tired I would have to rest. I continued in this condition for three months when I was taken suddenly ill and not able to go about. Our family doctor was called in and he pronounced my illness chlorosis (poverty of the blood.) At first his treatment appeared to do me good, but only for a

Some New Commandments.

1. Thou shalt not go away from home to do thy trading, thou nor thy sons nor thy daughters.

2. Thou shalt patronize thine own merchants, also the printer, and they shall patronize thee. Make haste, therefore, and purchase that which will cause thy countenance to shine with intelligence, bring prosperity to both.

Thou shalt not sak for credit, as goods cost much money, and the merchant's heart is wearied with bills. His children clamor daily for bread, and his wife abideth at the home for want of such saiment as adorneth her sisters. Thries blessed is the man who pays cash.

4. Thou shalt adorneth her sisters. Thries blessed is the man who pays cash.

4. Thou shalt so consider him that is thy neighbor above them that dwellets in a strange town.

Thou shalt not sak for reduced prices for thy influence, for behold guils is in thy heart, and the merchant readeth it like an open book, he laugheth thee to scorn and shouteth to his clerks, ha ! ha 6. Thou shalt do whatever lieth in thy power to encourage and promote the welfare of thy town, thine powepople.

7. Thou shalt spend thy earnings at home that they may return from whence they came, and give nourishment to rance as may come after thee.

8. Thou shalt not to suffer the voice of pride to overcome thee, and if other towns entice thee, hearken not unto them, for thou mayest be deceived.

9. Thou shalt not be ar false witness against the town wherein thou dwellest, but speak well of it to all men.

Mrs Peter Brown was a worthy and thrifty housewife, and though proud of her Brown family she gut tired of browns—we refer to brown colors.

Now Mrs Brown had a, brown cashmere dress that she had donned on Sundays for fully three years. Going to church in sun, rain, sleet and snow for such a length of time had discolored and faded Mrs Brown's brown dress. The material still good gave Mrs Brown Toric that the brown dress cauld be changed in color and made to do service until times were better and money more plentiful with her.

Mrs Peter Brown had heard of the marvellous Diamond Fast Black for Wool, and decided to experiment in the work of home dyeling. The dye was purchased from her druggist, and the operation conducted as per directions on the envelope, and what a transformation resulted A deep, rich and pure black, equal to the finest blacks produced by French professional dyers—a new dress at a cost of about thirty cents.

"That's the way to get along easy,"

"But it isn't getting along easy that I'm after; it's being and doing right If my work isn't done right, it won't done any good to have it passed by the teacher. I wan't to be sure I'm right." A great man once said, "I would rather be right than be president." A small man—I mean in spirit—would have said, "I would rather get along easy than be right." The boy who looks at getting through more closely than he does at being exactly right, is apt to make a small, mean man in character, however much money or success he may gain.—Our Children.
