"German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior.

[Despatch to the New York Recorder.]

Frank C. Lawsen, an American mechanic of Zacatecas, Mexico, has been arrested and placed in jail on the charge of exceeding the limits prescribed by an old Mexican law still in force regulating matrimony.

Lawson came here about four years ago from the City of Mexico, bringing with him a pretty Spanish woman as his wife. She died two months after their arrival, and Lawson soon took another young wife. This woman died also, and the American continued to exercise his matrimonial propensities at a rate that astounded the natives, particularly as none of the wives lived longer than two or three months after becoming a bride.

Lawson never wore the weeds longer than three months after the demise of his respective wives, when he would repeat the matrimonial experiment. The people of the city are very conservative in such matters, and they let Lawson alone with his remarkable and unfortunate domestic affairs until three days ago, when I was learned he had married his thirtheenth wife since his arrival in Zacatecas.

The authorities began working on the case, and, as there was no evidence at hand to show that his twelve previous wives died from other than natural causes, he was arrested under the law enacted many years ago which prohibits a man entering into the matrimonial state more than nine times.

Lawson, therefore, has four offences to answer for, and will probably receive a long term in prison. He is about 40 years old and well educated. He has resided in Mexico fifteen years.

Progress.

It is very important in this stage of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects, possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

The Arbitration.

Great Britain and the United States have now completed the appointment as follows,

GREAT BRITAIN

Arbitrators. { Lord Hannen, Sir John Thompson.
Agent Hon. C. H. Tupper.
Counsel { Sir. Richard. Webster, Mr. C. Robertson, Hon. W. H. Cross

UNITED STATES

Arbitrators { Justice John M. Harlan, Senator John P. Morgan
Agent Ex Minister John Foster
Counsel { Ex. Minister Phelps, Mr James S. Carter, Judge H. B. W. Blodgett

The recognized ability not only of the arbitrators, but of agents and counsel who have been selected on both sides, leave no room for doubt that the case will be ably presented. The three foreign governments who were to appoint arbitrators have have not yet announced the names of their appointees but three distinguished jurists will certainly be selected.

SEVEN YEARS SUFFERING. — Gentlemen,—I have suffered very much from inflammatory rheumatism, which through wrong treatment left ugly running sores on my hands and feet. With these I suffered for seven years, during which time I had neither shoe nor stockings on. I commenced using B. B. A Bridge Built by Red Ants.

The following remarkable story, told by an eye-witness, is entitled to a place among the instances of intelligence among the lower animals. A cook was much annoyed to find his pantry shelves attacked by ants. By careful watching it was discovered that they came out twice a day in search of food at seven in the morning and four in the afternoon. How were the pies to be protected from the invaders? One morning he drew a circle of molasses on the shelves around each pie and sat down to wait.

He did not have to wait, for at 6.50 a.m. a long line from the right hand corner of the pantry was a line of ants slowly making their way in direction of the pies. They seemed like a vast army coming forth to attack the enemy. In front was a leader, who was larger than any of the others, and who always kept a little ahead of his troops. They were of the sort known as the medium-size red ant, which is regarded as the most intelligent of its kind. About forty ants out of five hundred stepped out and joined the leader. The general and aids held a council and then proceeded to examine the circle of molasses. Certain portions of it seemed to be assigned to different ants, and each selected unerringly the point in the section under his charge where the stream of molasses was narrowist. Then the made his tour of inspection, the order to march was given, and the ants all made their way to a hole in the wall where the plaster was loose. Here they broke rank and set about carrying pieces of plaster to the place in the molasses which had been aggreed upon as the narrowest. To and fro they went from nail-hole to molasses until by 11.30 o'clock, they had thrown a bridge across. They then formed themselves into line and marched over, and by 11.46 every ant was eating pie.

The aroma of the tobacco leaf is so comdletely conserved in the manufacture of "Myrtle Navy," that age has no effect in diminishing it; even after the plug has been kept for years it gives out its full flavor under the combustion in the pipe, mellowed in tone by its age and making the most exquisite smoke which tobacco can be make to give. AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

—Try bagging some tomatoes, for earlies; it is said to make fine specimens that ripen ten days ahead of those not bagged on the same plant. The bags should be put on when the fruit is well set.

—A P. E. Island farmer sends the following prescription to a Charlottetown paper, and warrants it to be fatal to the potato bug: Get common, small roach lime; slack for twenty-four hours, suitable to sift through the hand as in broadcast sowing, and sow over the plant in the morning before the daw is off. One barrel formation is gratuitous. The lime can be supplied at twenty-five cents per barrel.

—Cream is ripe for churning when it is just sensibly sour to the smell or taste, and if the churning is delayed after this point the quality of the butter will be injured. Moreover, by longer delay the churning itself may be prevented or made very difficult by the changed condition of the cream, and the butter rendered almost worthless. Hence it is very necessary not only that the period mentioned should not be exceeded, but that the temperature of the cream during this period should exceed 62° to 65°

—The farmers of Aberdeen Carleton Co. seem determined not to let the grass grow under their feet, but are resolved to carry out the resolution passed at the late Farmer's Convention at Glassville, to take immediate steps for the organization of a Farmer's and Dairymen's Association. Accordingly the Sec. of the Aberdeen Agricultural Society is now issuing notices of public meeting to be held for that purpose in the Caledonian Hall, Glassville, on the evening of Wednesday 20th. As ladies are eligible to membership it is hoped that the farmers of Aberdeen and surrounding districts will bring their commanding officers and lieutenants (which is to say, interpreted, their wives and daughters), along with them, and the Directors of A. A. S. will give them a warm reception. Now then, troop along, "a' ye Hoose o' the Hoose" to retire to the cide kimmers "Come under my plaidie, and sit down beside me—

There are nearly as many fads and fancies about feeding colts and young horses as their are owners, says an exchange. There is, of course, a danger of their getting over fat if fed too highly, but there is to my mind a disposition to oftener cross the border of danger by drawing upon a colt's resources of strength when the resources are to much exhausted. A growing colt needs feed heavier than a mature horse, and in some particulars needs to be varied from the bill of fare that is given to older horses. There is a prevailing opinion that clover hay is not fit to feed a horse at all, and, while I would not feed a road or track horse when grown, I would feed no other when the animal is young. The regimen I practice is mild, grass, clover, and timothy.

Mild first, because it can digest and can assimilate it, add the rest in their regulation order for precisely the same reason. If any who reads this article let them test it and see.

Feed one colt timothy, another, clover, or feed the same one each kind of hay at different times. Then throw out the manure where the rain can fall on it and as it washes away the digested portion you will be surprised to see how comptely the clover is digested and how entirely undigested is the timothy.

I need hardly add that colts ration apart from the hay it eats should be more varied than the older horse. No kind of feed is perfect, hence the need of variety.—Ex

Willie Tillbrook Son of

of McKeesport, Pa., had a terrible bad time under one ear which the physicians lanced and then it became a running sore, and was followed by erysipelas. Mrs. Tillbrook gave him and soon it healed up, he became perfectly well and is now a lively, robust boy. Other parents whose children suffer from impure blood should profit by this example.
