Progressive Revolt Against Hughes Worries the G.O.P.

Developments in Many States Indicate Bull Moose is Not in Political Cemetery, Though Voting Strength is a Matter for Speculation.

In Minnesota there is a tendency to has confidently expected to get.

Speculation as to Strength.

Opinion differs widely about what strength the Progressive party could develop. Before the Chicago convention it was conceded by the Republicans that, if Theodore Roosevelt ranas the head of the third party ticket the Republicans might nominate was a foregone conclusion.

But Mr. Roosevelt is out of it. He has indorsed Mr. Hughes. To the surprise of a good many of the Republicans, his indorsement has not had the magical effect it was expected it might have. He apparently is despised now in some quarters where but a short time ago he was idolized. A reasonable proportion of the rank and file of the Progressives indicated an intention to follow him back into the Republican party, but a good many of the Progressives indicated an intention to follow him back into the Republican party, but a good many of the Progressives have attacked him for his so-cailed "betrayal" of party which he organized.

One extremely disquieting feature of the stuation is the ability of the Progressives to get funds to keep them going. The withdrawal of George W. Perkins from the Buil Moose leadership has not left the organized of the progressives. The reason for that is apparent. The Democrats are ready to advance unlimited sums to the Progressives. The reason for that is apparent. The Democrats "breezed" to victory four years ago because of the spilt in the Republican aranks. They feel now, it is stated, that their surest path to victory again lies through another spilt; and to bring this about it is reported the Democrats are ready to do everything in their power to keep the Progressives alive.

The Progressives in 1912 polled 4,119,507 votes. That was 634,651 more than the vote for Mr. Hughes.

There was doubt in the minds of nost of the local Progressives Monday whether the appeal of John M. Parker or another national convention and a ational ticket will be heeded. Mr. Carker was nominated for vice-presinational ticket will be heeded. Mr. Parker was nominated for vice-president at the Progressive convention in Chicago in June. Mr. Roosevelt was expected to be his running mate, but he withdrew. Mr. Parker is one of the most ardent members of the Progressive camp.

He says he wants to continue the national party and will be ready to withdraw as second man on the ticket of give place to someone else. The Progressive National committee was clothed with power to fill vacancies on the national ticket, but that body is in favor of supporting the Republicant ticket, so unless the Progressive set together in convention again there will be no Progressive nominee for President.

If necessary funds are assured, it is reported, the Progressives may as-

New York, July 20.—The Progressive revolt against amalgamation with the Republicans is worrying the managers of the Hughes campaign. Assuming that the Bull Moose was resting peacefully in the national political cometery, the Republican leaders believe that certain victory was assured in November. But now there is dout whether the Bull Moose is restings at all. Several thousand officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company enlisted for active military duty with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, and the majority of them are now in Europe, bravely battling for Canada and the Empire.

As particulars of Army Reservists are not available, these lists of those who have given up their lives for their country or been wounded in action are necessarily incomplete, and do not therefore indicate fully the extent to which the Company's officers and employees have participated in the great struggle. participated in the great struggle.
