A WONDERFUL EXPLOSIVE.

The Touch of a Fly's Foot Would Enough to Set It Off.

Enough to Set It Off.

"What would be the consequences of firing a barreful of nitrogen iodide it would be impossible to say," declares a writer in the Strand, "simply because the stuff is too awful to be made in such quantities.

"It may sound like a joke, but it is nevertheless the truth that the tread of a house fly is sufficient to explode this dangerous material. It is not necessary. dangerous material. It is not neces that a fly should walk over the com-puond. It has only to let one foot come into contact with the explosive, when the jolt causes it to explode and to blow the insect into the air.

the insect into the air.

"Another manner in which the peculair property of this explosive can be demonstrated is by scattering a small quantity of the dry powder over a sheet of clean paper. It then resembles pepper, and only needs a few sharp breaths of the manipulator—just sufficient to make them roll—to cause each speck to ignite and explode, meantime giving off a long, thin column of dense purple smoke. If a barrelful of nitrogen iodide could be made it would have to be kept moist to prevent danger. By comparison, gumpowder is a mild, innocent, inoffensive material."
