Rev. Mr. Mullin will Not Resign the Stanley Pastorate.

John, Tuesday, there was some discussion with reference to the Presbyterian church at Stanley, of which Rev. Mr. Mullin is pastor. The majority of the members of Presbytery seem to be of the opinion that it would greatly improve matters if Rev. Mr. Mullin were to resign as pastor of the Presbyterian church at Stanley. This matter has been hinted to the rev. gentleman, but he absolutely and positively refuses to accept of it. It is stated that the congregation, of which he has had charge for a number of years, is gradually but surely becoming smaller and smaller, and that the Rev. Mr. Muliin although a very able minister in many respects, is not calculated to accomplish a very great deal of good in his Rev. Mr. Mullin does not appear to entertain the same view as that held by many members of presbytery. Instead he contends that he and the members of his congregation are getting along very amicably. Mr. Mullin several proposals, but he stoutly refused o entertain any of them. He is of the opinion that the presbytery is opposing him unfairly and is determined to stand up and if necessary fight for his rights. No action was taken by the presbytery

THE MCADAM TROUBLE.

In the St. John Presbytery meeting at St. | Sproul Who Committed the Asault on Simmons Committed for Trial.

Haggerty's Connexion with the Affair.

The trouble at McAdam between G. A. Haggarty, mechanical superintendent of the C. P. R., and Simmons, the store-keeper, has ended in the dismissal of both. The difficulties between the two date back several months. There appears to have been two parties, and these two parties have not pulled together in any sense of the word. They appear to have been divided in nearly every matter respecting the Atlantic division of the C. P. R. Some time ago Mr. Simmons was assaulted and badly beaten on the street. This brought on a crisis, heightened by the arrest at Milville the other day of Harper Sproul, charged with assaulting Simmons at the instigation of another party as alleged.

Sproul's preliminary examination was ommenced before Police Magistrate Marsh The greater part of the discussion held for the prosecution and Wm. Wilson for Tuesday. Wesley VanWart, Q. C., appeared > the Atlantic division, C. P. R., up to Septtember 1st. He had charge of all stores and kept the time of the mechanical department. Sproul worked for the C. P. R. up to April last. He was under the direction of Master Mechanic G. A. Haggerty. Witness, as storekeeper, certified Sproul's time and there was trouble about it in March. Sproul was locked up in the room where he worked and the shop timekeeper could not get to him. As a result witness had to strike out 40 hours of his time, About the 13th of March, Sproul threatened witness saying he would fix him if he interfered with his time again. Witness then directed For Wood the shop timekeeper to stop Sproul's time, but as Mr. Haggerty had become responsi ble for his conduct, he was allowed to continue at work. In April he was discharged for building velocipedes with the company's material and in the company's time. Sproul afterwards reported that witness gave him material belonging to the company. Witness did not see Sproul again until Oct. 19. On that day, when witness was passing the tank house at McAdam, about 5.25 p.m., Sproul sprang out and clinched him with both hands. He said: "Now I've got you," struck witness on the forel ead and knocked him down. He then kicked witness in the mouth and on the left cheek and thumped him with his fists. Witness was stunned came to his assistance. When he got up he Young, Vanceboro, attended him. Witness's nervous system was completely shattered as a result of the assault. His lead

After the noon adjournment W. Simmons was cross-examined by Mr. Wilson, but his evidence disclosed nothing further except some details regarding his previous differences with Sproul which led to the investigation of June 27th-28th. Sproul had charged that Simmons, as storekeeper, had given him certain articles from the comquired from day to day, he showed techni- pany's stores. He was completely exonerated at the investigation.

William Fraser, yard brakeman at Mc-Adam, gave evidence that on the night of from what we hear of him in the market, from the roundhouse to the water tank and saw two men near the tank, one on top of the other, but did not know what they were doing. He was some distance away from them and it was just growing dark. He afterwards saw one of them going in the

He stopped at McAdam half an hour and then went to Vanceboro. He stopped there nearly an hour, and returned to McAdam, stopped there an hour and a half and went on to Woodstock. BISHOP MEDLEY'S MEMORIAL.

The Unveiling of a Tablet and Window

From the Exeter (England) News, Oct. 11, 1894. St. Thomas, separated from Exeter by the River Exe, has a particularly fine parish church, larger by far than any parish church Exeter itself can boast of. The fabric has many exceptional points of architectural interest, and contains the 14th century carved oak eagle lectern that originally stood in the Cathedral. On the north side of the sanctuary is a recumbent figure and canopied tomb, by the sculptor Bacon, to the memory of the late Mrs. Medley, wife of the late Bishop Medley, of Fredericton, and Metropolitan of Canada. On the south east wall is a memorial to the late Bishop Horden. In the have, also on the south side, is a memorial by Messrs. Harry Hems and Sons, of Exeter, to the late General Gordon, of Khartoum, whose grandparents' remains lie in the church.

Yesterday afternoon the ceremony took place of unveiling a memorial tablet and window to the memory of the late Bishop Medley, who for seven years was the be loved and earnest vicar of St. Thomas. The window, by Mr. Drake, of Exeter, is on the north side near the font, and is of much artistic merit. The subject is the presentation in the Temple. The tablet has been placed on the nort-east wall, balancing with the fine one on the south side to Bishop Horden, which latter cenotaph indeed, has been the motif for the present memorial. The latter is of well-moulded and polished grey dove marble, upon which is an engraved and ornamentals brass of latten, an alloy greatly used in mediæval days. The legend, cut in fair and egible characters upon it, reads:

legible characters upon it, reads:

To the memory of The most Reverend John Medley, D.D., 1st Bishop of Fredericton, 1845-1892, Metropolitan of Canada, 1879-1892. Born 1805. Died at Fredericton, New Brunswick, Sept., 1892, in the 88th year of his age, and the 48th of his Episcopate. He was Vicar of St. Thomas with Exwick, and Incumbent of Oldridge, 1838-1845. Prebendary of Exeter Cathedral, 1842-5. An unfailing friend to the poor. To him Exwick owed the erection of its free and open church, Oldridge the enlargement and restoration of its Chapel, and this Church many of its fairest ornaments. Erected by Parishioners and Friends, October, 1894.

The ceremony of unveiling was performed. The ceremony of unveiling was performed with much feeling by T. M. Snow, J. P., of Cleeve, Exeter, and an address was given by the Archbishop of Ontario (Dr. J. Travers Lewis). The handsome tablet, which is of exquisite design, has been carried out and erected by Messrs. Harry Hems & Sons, the well known church workers of Woodstock line on a coal shed.' He asked | Exeter. The fine canopied tomb and recumbent figure on the north side of the sanctuary, erected by the late Bishop to his wife's memory is said to be one of the best wo:ks of the late sculptor, Bacon. St. took me into a private room, asked me if I would do him a favor; I replied 'I will.' He said, Simmons got a hell of a pounding troubles in 1871. During the religious troubles in 1549, Rev. Robert Welshe was own domestic servant, Barnard Duffeld, to do this brutal and impious act. Joseph Gould has been the active hon. secretary and treasurer for the memorial committee, and has admirably carried out the duties.

The Archbishop of Ontario (who succeeded Bishop Medley), speaking from the steps of the chancel, said it was a great privilege for him to take part in that ceremonial. They had met together to perpetuate the memory of one of the greatest of modern bishops. The very fact that it was nearly fifty years since he was vicar of that parish showed that his memory was still green. He knew of no bishop who ever commended himself more to those to whom he ministered than did Bishop Medley. With his uncompromising churchmanship was mingled a depth of charity.

ley. With his uncompromising church-manship was mingled a depth of charity. that on the night referred to, Sugar Brook would have been past at a fast rate, had not instructions been given to pick prisoner up, as train was behind time.

Re-examined, Foster said: "When I told Mr. Haggerty 'allright,' I meant to give him to understand that I would take prisoner on and say nothing about it."

At the opening of the police court, Thursday morning, the defence announced that they would not call any witnesses. Sproul was asked if he had anything to say in explanation, and replied that he had not. Police Magistrate Marsh committed Sproul to jail to await his trial at the next York circuit.
