LONDON. June 10. The Commons, to-night, passed the second reading of the Home Rule Bill, without division, on an amendment moved by Balfour for rejection having been previously defeated by a vote of 368 against, to 270 for. The announcement of the figured were received with cheering by the Liberals and Nationalists. The debate was marked by fiery declarations by Opposition speakers, who predicted that the imposition of Home Rule would result in Civil War in Ireland. Sir Edward Carson, Irish Unionist leader, said: "For my part I will continue to support the Ulster men, and will take full responsibility for their resistance. You may seize their arms or send troops, but you will not settle the Irish question. You know that you are crowing about peace when there is no peace, and you will fail in your object." Lord Charles Beresford declared: "If the Governoffer my services, poor as they may be, and help my fellow-countrymen.'

Shortly after 3. p.m. the bridge becomingly try to adore strangers before we walt to find out what brand of people Janet Miller, sister of the bride; Miss wipe his shoes. Up to the present we know Ayre, sister of the groom; Miss took it for granted that when a man Dorothy Ayre, cousin of the groom, and Mas appointed to the Governoyship of this country that no doubts should be sheaves of pink carnations. The flower girls, who were neatly attired wearing juliet bonnets, were Sheilah arrived with the Governor on board was provided in the country that no doubts should be entertained as to his gentlemanly traits, and as soon as the Allan Liner arrived with the Governor on board was provided in the country that no doubts should be entertained as to his gentlemanly traits, and as soon as the Allan Liner arrived with the Governor on board was provided in the country that no doubts should be entertained as to his gentlemanly traits, and as appointed to the Governoyship of this country that no doubts should be entertained as to his gentlemanly traits. we felt that he being selected by the alted position, was in itself a suffiine article, consequently all our pa-pers fall in line and the proprietors work all night trying to procure a good "cut" of the Governor's bust, so that they will be ready to trot him out at the very earliest opportunity. All his actions are closely watched, and if he speaks kindly to some old man, or tickles a child under the chin, his face and glossy shirt-front occupy a prominent place in the next issue of our papers, under which appears a long article pouring forth the most fulsome flattery upon him. It is therefore only natural that he should forn a poor opinion of us, and, as early im pressions generally hang on, he be lieves us to be a cheap crowd from the start and holds that opinion til he leaves our shores. We may won der why the Authorities at Home make a mistake in selecting a Governor fo us, but after all, they may not be to blame, for lots of goods shipped from England in good condition become "blown" before reaching Shea's wharf, and as the passage is sometimes a long one, it is quite possible for a Governor to "blow" himself and con-tinue "blowing" while he stays tinne "blowing" while he stays amongst us. But we do not hug a blown tin of Pineapple, no matter how attractively it is labelled, and we should not adore a Governor, with a handle to his name, until we convince ourselves thoroughly, that he is "all there." We have been soaked good and hard by Ralph the Rover, but 'tis no use throwing water on a drowned Rat. He has belittled himself by his writings, and it is a good self by his writings, and it is a good thing that the Herald gave us the medicine in four doses or we medicine in four doses, or we may not be alive to-day to tell the tale if we swallowed at all at one time. 'Tis we swallowed at all at one time. Tis a pity that the woman down north who presented him with the four eggs didn't store them away in the goats' house, for they might come in handy at some future date when Ralph the Rover may re-visit our shores. We would then be able to present them to him in a more hurried manner and return the compliment which he has return the compliment which he has paid us. And now a final charge, le us benefit by the lesson taught and take a solemn pledge that never again will we make jackasses of ourselver and the complete of the c by walking on one another in our engerness to idolize mistakes who strike a good job, and haven't sense enough to hold on to it. Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Breen, had a very narrow escape from frowning on Sunday last at Alexander Bay. The boys belong to St. John's West but are working all the summer at Rose Bay in Alexander Bay. Getting a boat they went out n a pond pleasuring. After rowing couple of hundred yards from the shore the lads began to rock the boat and it capsized. The occupants, on to the bottom of the upturned boat entil they became exhausted and let go. The boys were then seen to go beneath the surface and were making their final struggle for their lives when Mr. Rose, who had heard their cries previously, came along in a boat the drowning boys. After being brought ashore the lads had to be given stimulants to revive them. They vill not forget their unenviable ex-

Men Leaving.

Yesterday, we referred to the fea-are which the News recently introduced of pointing to the number of workingmen returning to the homeand from the States and Canada, by he Lintrose and Bruce. The News is either greatly in error or telling an absolute untruth in this regard. for it is notorious that on each trip of these ships of late the saloon passengers exceed in number the second class, and very few if any of our ex-patriated laborers come here to stay. It is not so with people leaving the colony. Every train and steamboat going takes quite a number of young men and women, and yester-lay the Ethie brought up to Carbonear over 50 persons, mostly young men, who took the express at Brigus Junction to proceed to Canada and the States, where they will settle down in future. Overburdened with axation as the result of the election of the corrupt Picnic Party, these young people see no future before them here and are leaving the country in ever increasing numbers.
