THE NEW BIRTH OF RUSSIA.

It is an accomplished fact. The average Briton will find difficulty in admitting it. He has always conceived of Russia as a vast, barbaric Empire, ambitious to extend her frontiers, especially at the cost of Great Britain. Russophobia has been a national disease. One of the weightiest reasons for the widespread distrust of the late W. T. Stead was that he championed Russia, that he was its apologist, and the advocate of an entente cordiale with what he regarded as the one empire in Europe with which we ought to be on the friendliest possible terms. He would have rejoiced to see this day. He had a profound faith in its national and political destiny. — W. L. Williams, in Price of Butterine.

Harvey J. Co. Reply to "Theobald." Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—Referring to statements regarding butterine, made in your issue of last evening, we feel that we ought to say that said statements are entirely incorrect.
Speaking for ourselves, we have been most anxious to avoid advancing prices of butterine. When a year ago the duty was increased, no increase was made in local prices. We were able to avoid an advance then only because at the same time there was a temporary decline in foreign quotations of materials and we were fortunate in being able to cover requirements for some months ahead. The decline proved to be temporary and quotations have been advancing steadily ever since.
We held off the inevitable advance as long as we could in the hope that a season decline might enable us to continue manufacturing without change. Through the greater part of the fall every pound of butterine declined by us, left a serious loss.
We determined that if at all possible we would not be forced into putting up prices at least until the fall trade was over, but it then became imperative.
The only alternative was to close down.

Yours truly,
HARVEY & CO., LTD.

Kaiser Sees
Germans Defeated.

Paris, Jan. 28.—"Mounted on horseback, the Kaiser was all ready to make a triumphal entry into the ruined city of Arras on January 20 when the French hurled the enemy from the suburb of Biangy, once more destroying the Imperial hopes," writes the war correspondent of the Mallin from the battlefield.
"The Kaiser had originally decreed January 16 as the date for the capture of Arras, but the French staff learned this, and the attack was delayed four days. The assault was delivered with vigor, long columns of Germans advancing from Biangy eight abreast, when the vanguard was attacked and annihilated by an ambush.

"A small force of French had concealed themselves in an iron works commanding the main road, and, under the first shock of surprise, the Germans fell in heaps. Although they fought bravely, the enemy were driven back and meanwhile strong French reinforcements were rushed to the front.
"After a battle of five hours the Germans retreated to their original entrenched positions. The battle was waged half a mile from the centre of Arras, whose population of 3,000 lay huddled in cellars while the trench howitzers hurled melinite shells, weighing 150 pounds, into the town."

War Will End

By Next Autumn, is Madame de Thebes Prediction.

The general forecast of Madame de Thebes for 1915 follows: A year of fog, but as the days that sometimes dawn hazy are later beautiful, so 1915 will be.
Before the sun runs its third course in 1915 blood will cease to flow (appari-ently meaning before autumn). The result will be entirely different to what France expects. A scourge will menace.

The Kaiser will soon die or else disappear.
Germany will cease to exist in present form; the country will be torn by revolution.

The hour will soon strike when Italy will be compelled to draw the sword.
The dismemberment of Austria is imminent.

There is a brilliant future for Belgium.
England is on the abyss of frightful religious wars. She will be cured by fire.

For Russia I see only good.
Serbia has not yet finished her wars.
Bulgaria will be rent by men now in retirement.

The hour of an American woman, prodigiously gifted with money and energy, is near. She will meet an end she little expects.

The United States will be troubled by financial crises, though it will be a fine industrial and a fair agricultural year.

Forecast for the year: Generally dry, volcanoes active, furious waves in the burning seas, lives snuffed out by the thousand.

Off Horses and the Sword.

You have noted that unless the large or horse of a team were driven on the off side you are annoyed or even distressed? This is, of course, because your heart is on your left side. You may say that it is because you are used to that particular arrangement of horses; but did you ever ask yourself why the large horse is harnessed up the right side? Let us follow it up; it is really very interesting.
It is because, not so very long since, we had a postilion to drive for us, who rode one of the horses. It was his habit to hitch the smaller horses on the left hand side, because it is easier to get on a smaller horse than on a larger one—and because it was the habit to mount a horse from the left side.

The habit of getting on a horse from the left side was formed because men had the habit of wearing the sword upon the left side; therefore to get upon a horse from the right side while wearing the sword, was not practical; one's sword would get tangled between one's legs. The habit of wearing the sword on the left side rather than on the right was formed because most men were right-handed habitually; and so could draw easier and quicker from a scabbard on the left.
The habit of being right-handed was formed so that the heart might not be so easily reached by the opening sword.—Eugene M. Rhodes, in Harper's Weekly.

The Pantomime.

Yesterday afternoon and night Rossleys was crowded. The pantomime "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp" is the most beautiful of all.
The songs are certainly a splendid collection and well sung; the dances very dainty. When it comes to a real show Rossleys are always on top.
There will be a matinee Saturday for the children. Send them to see the best of all the pantomimes. The pictures newly arrived are acknowleged very superior to any seen here, while the music supplied by the orchestra, with Mr. A. Crocker as leader, is the finest heard in the city in years.

For King and Country.

The three act military play "For King and Country," produced at the Casino Theatre last night attracted a large audience. The play was under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson. The cast was a strong one, and the different roles were cleverly portrayed. During the intervals songs were given including a soldiers' song by our volunteers.

A Generous Action.

The Rossleys, with their usual generosity invited the children of the different city orphanages yesterday to see the beautiful Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp, and it is needless to state that the children enjoyed the treat. Mr. Rossley has had the children to each change of pantomime which we consider very kind of both himself and his talented wife.

Got Four Months.

The man McGrath, who was remanded for eight days after pleading guilty to the charge of stealing a large quantity of goods from the Messrs. Baird, Ltd., with which firm he was an employee, came up for sentence. His Honor Judge Knight, took into account some mitigating circumstances, and he was sentenced to four months imprisonment without the option of a fine.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END

Such crowds as attend the Rossley West End Theatre is wonderful, and yesterday was a record day. There are three changes of pictures every week and songs also by Aneta, the child vocalist, who has made a wonderful hit; a nice voice and every word distinct and clear, and what more quite unaffected and natural something new in picture house singers. The West End Theatre is recognized the classy picture theatre of St.
John's, and Mr. Rossley intends to keep it well up to his idea of what a picture theatre should be.

Teutonic Losses
Are Enormous.

Amsterdam, Jan. 29.—Prussian casualties in the war up to January 21 had reached the enormous total of 988,960, according to figures published by the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant.
It says that these figures are taken from 141 lists of Prussian losses, and continues:

"This total comprises killed, wounded and missing, the wounded numbering 615,059. Of these about forty per cent. have already returned to the front.

"To the total of 988,960 will have to be added 140 Bavarian, 96 Saxon, 99 Wuerttembergian and 14 naval casualty lists to show the complete losses of the Teutonic armies."

700 Reservists Leave Colors—Revolts in Zagabria.

Trieste, Jan. 29.—Only 2,500 reservists have obeyed the summons of the latest levy en masse and 700 of these deserted to Italy. Revolts have started in Zagabria owing to the scarcity of food because of army requisitions.

The uprising was suppressed but blood was shed and it is suspected that the ringleaders have been hanged.

WILHELMINA IS CLEARLY LIABLE TO SEIZURE NOW.

London, Jan. 28.—A hint that the British Government may seize the American steamship Wilhelmmina, which is now en route for Germany with food consigned to an American, is contained in the following editorial in the Globe:

"The American steamer Wilhelmmina has no longer any right to land food or supplies at Rotterdam. Her claim that she has a right to do so under The Hague Convention was originally good, but has been completely disposed of by the decision of the German Government to seize all corn and flour for its own purposes.

"We have no doubt that this is the view taken by the American Government, since the matter really does not admit of discussion. There is no danger of American neutrality being violated or the United States departing from its neutral principles of its own accord."

U. S. SHOULD PROTEST.

New Haven Journal-Courier. — The utilization of the airship in these ways (bombardment of defenceless towns) is an exhibition of savage cruelty to which we as a great and independent nation must offer our emphatic dissent. We have been charged with neglecting our interest in the prosecution of the war by the belligerents until our pocketbooks were touched, and there is a warrant for that charge.
Here is an opportunity to rise above such a sordid charge and place our Government upon record as protesting, in the name of humanity, against the wholesale slaughter of innocent women and children and helpless old men and invalids.

The United States cannot sit by and see the rules of war arbitrarily amended in such a brutal manner. It is our right and our duty to protest for the sake of future international conventions.
