ANSON'S GIFT. Anson's gift was a brass-bound silver chest, stocked with fancy and substantial silver articles. Among the letters sent by contributors to the fund was the following from President Young: "During his long and honorable career he has been a credit to his profession, and his sterling integrity, as well as his superior ability as a player, has won for him the confidence and respect of every manly sportsman in the land. He has a right to be proud of his record, for he

DONOVAN ON "LUCK." "How often do you hear one say that a game was won by bull luck?' asks Patsy Donovan. "Now, I am not a believer in this way of robbing a team of the credit of a victory. Fast ball playing makes good luck. Time and again during the season you will hear that the Baltimores are lucky: that all the lucky breaks are in their It is because they play fast They play so fast that they make luck come their way. Any winning team is apparently a lucky team, but if you analyze their reputed land, Gladioli, Fay Bell also ran. closely you will find that good ball playing, instead of good luck, brought about their victory."

FLYS. Jimmie Donnelly, of the Pittsburgs, is suffering with a broken finger. He will be out of the game several weeks. Wilson up to date leads in batting with an average of .381. Clarke, Werden, McCreary and Johnson follow. Pickering has not yet got his batting eye, and has only hit up to .219, while Rogers trails behind at .097.

Pitcher Wallace has made such hit by his clever work on third base for Cleveland that he is a flature for that position. Even if McGarr's arm comes all right he will not be put back on the bag, but retained as utility man.

The rule requiring a captain to re main in his position in the field when he desires to talk with the umpires is being cheerfully disregarded. The players make the rules, although the magnates do a lot of bluffing every
