MORALITY IN NEW YORK. What a Bowery "Whooper-Up is-Work for the Truly Good

A New York letter says : A man has for many years been notorious in olis as a keeper of low-down public metropolis as a keeper of low-down public resorts, has now opened a variety show of a sort which restores to the Bowery an institution which, I supposed, had moved ultimately westward, with the retreating between civilization and savagery. There is nothing novel about the performance which consists of the poorest and coarses singing and dancing : nor about the drinking, which is done at a hundred tables Adelaide street was passing Dr. Small's scattered through the auditorium; not about the assemblage, which is of the mos brazenly depraved that can be imagined. A decisedly unique feature, however, is the presence of the proprietor. He sits on a small platform, in a high chair, not palpably ashamed of his position, and in a loud voice directs the entertainment. He is a big, fat man, with a hairless head, and possibly regards himself as an interesting exhibit. The place was crowded at the time of my visit, and I took a seat in a corner from which I could look quietly. Close by sat three young women, a little better dressed than the rest of their sex among the throng, and more nearly sober. A man joined them. His conversation quickly disclosed that he was the amuse quickly disclosed that he was the amuse-ment director of the house. He engaged one of the women as a dancer for the ensu-ing week, and another as a singer.

"Here is Addie left," and the singer turned to the third woman of the party, "can't you give her a date?"

"Sorry," and he emphasized his regret with a violent oath, "but we haven't anything for her to do on the stage. give her a week as a whooper-up.

give her a week as a whooper-up."

I was delighted when the woman asked him what was a whooper-up, because I was very curious to find out.

"That's one," and he pointed out a girl whom the confines of a red Jersey waist seemed to unduly restrict, so great demonstrative was her exuberance. She drank constantly. She gigaled convulsively at all constantly. She giggled convulsively at all of the witticisms uttered within hearing. She laughed loud and long at the stage fun, and she joined with shrill hilarity in the choruses of the songs. Altogether, she seemed the maddest, merriest creature in

"She's a whooper up" the man explained.
"It's her business to keep the jollity going.
She leaves us Saturday night. Addie can have her place."
Addie accepted the offer. She said would be fun anyway.

Be You Expect a Cure?

If so, don't delay too long. We have cured hundreds of patients suffering from consumption, bronchitis, laryngitis, asthma, catarrh and catarrhal deafness, who could not have been helped had they delayed one month longer. And we have refused treatment to over 100 cases during the last year who delayed one month too long. By the use of cold inhalations conveyed to the diseased parts by the spirometer, the wonderful invention of 1r. M. Souvielle, of Paris, exaide surgeon of the French army, and other proper local and constitutional treatment, we are curing thousands of cases of the above named diseases every year.
