

Yes; He has proved it o'er and o'er again,
 That His delights are with the sons of men. *
 A little lower than the angels made, †
 God has to man surpassing grace displayed.
 His Justice would have left the world to go,
 With its deceiver, into shame and woe,
 Had He not pitied it and loved it so. ‡

A good seed, sown in ground prepared by God,
 Is sure to grow, and bear a mighty load. §
 The "Father of the Faithful" was that seed,
 From whom what numbers have and will proceed!
 God swore to it, and He will make it good,
 "I'll make of thee a mighty multitude." ||

So shall the will of God on earth be done,
 And all who love the Truth become as one;
 The greatest Empire that this world ere saw
 Will all her loyal children closer draw
 To her great heart by Love's magnetic law.
 Vain all the efforts of the foe to part
 Britannia's daughters from her loving heart.
 Though Jonathan, our Brother, went away,
 He had to go, Heaven's mandate to obey;
 But he'll return, when comes that happy day,
 When God's great work of Union will be done—
 Manasseh, Ephraim, Judah, all made one—
 His own Imperial Federation grand,
 Whose seat of power will be the Promised Land, ¶
 And through whom He will bless and all the world command. **
