

away, leaving the man alone with the woman he loved.

The two stood in silence, looking upon the river beneath. Presently a voice crept through the stillness.

“Fingall! Oh, Fingall!—Fingall!”

It was the voice of a woman returning from the dead.