Editor BOOKS AND NOTIONS.

DEAR SIR,—Thanks with a great big T for Checking Book you so kindly sent me. It fills a long felt want and is just the thing the doctor ordered. Don't know how my subscription stands for BOOKS AND NOTIONS, but you can credit me with $1, which please find enclosed, as I wouldn't be without the official organ for double the amount. Wishing you every success,

I remain yours, etc.,

T. H. SMITH.

MY DEAR SIR,—Kindly mail to me a sample copy or two of different dates of BOOKS AND NOTIONS.

What first-class stationers do you know of anywhere, who carry a line of the very finest and most recherche letter and note paper and envelopes, domestic and foreign?

What learned antiquarians, bibliophiles and persons versed in hymnology do you know of anywhere? Their names and addresses, please, and who else can you kindly name to me, who could give me additional names of such persons and their abiding places?

Who are the very ablest and most learned divines (or some of them) you know of anywhere? Their names, locations and denominations, please.

Kindly let me hear from you, and ever believe me most sincerely and fraternally yours,

CHARLES MARSEILLES,

Journalist.

[Would some of our readers favor Mr Marseilles with answers to his questions.—
