THE SYMPATHIBING WOMAN.-If we were called open to describe Mrs. Dobbs, we should without hesitation, call her a sympathising woman. Nobody was troubled with a malady she did not suffer. She knew all about it by experience, and could sympathize with them from the bottom of her heart.

Bob Turner was a wag, and when one day he saw

Mrs. Dobbs coming slong the road towards the house, he knew that, in the absence of his wife, he should be called upon to entertain her, so he resolved to play a little on the good woman's abundant store of sympathy.

Hastily procuring a large blanket, he wrapped bimself up in it, and threw himself on a sofa near by. "Why, good gracious, Mr. Turner, are you sick?" asked Mrs. Dobbs, as she saw his position. Oh, dreadfully !" grouned the imaginary invalid.

" What's the matter?"

"Oh a great many things! First and foremost, I've got a congestion of the brain."
"That's dreadful!" sighed Mrs. Dobbs. "I came pretty near dying of it ten years to come next spring.

"Dropsy," again groaned Bob. "There I can sympathise with you. I was trou-bled with it, but finally got over it."

"Neuralagia," continued Bob. "Nobody can tell, Mr. Turner, what I have suffered from neuralsgia. It's an awful complaint."

"Then again, I'm very much distressed by inflammation of the bowels."

mation of the bowels."

"If you've got that, I pity you," commented Mrs. Dobbs, "for three years, steady, I was afflicted with it, and I don't think I've fully recovered yet."

"Rheumatism," added Bob.

"Yes, that's pretty likely to go along with neuralagia. It did with me. "Toothache," suggested Bob.

"There have been times, Mr. Turner," said the sympathizing woman when I thought I should have gone distracted with the touthache." "Then," said Bob, who having temporarily run out of his stuck of medical terms, resorted to a scientific name. "I'm very much afraid that I've got the tethyasurus." "I shouldn't be at all surprised," said the ever ready Mrs. Dobbs, "I had it when I was young." "Though it was with great difficulty that be could resist laughing, Bob continued. "I am suffering a great deal from a sprained ankle. "Then you can sympathize with me, Mr. Turner. I sprained mine very built when I was coming

"But that isn't the worst of it."
"Well, what is it!" asked Mrs. Dobbs, with curiofity.

"I wouldn't tell any one but you, Mrs. Dollos, but the fact is-(here Bob greaned)-I'm afraid, and the doctors agree with me, that my reason is affected-that, in short I'm a little crazy."

Oh, Mr. Turner, is it possible?" exclaimed the lady. Its horrible; I know it is! I frequently have malls of getting out of my head myself!"

Bob could stand it no longer; he burst into a roar of laughter, which Mrs. Dobbs taking for the precursor of a violent paroxysm of inamity, she was led to take a hurried leave.

THE FLOATING POPULATION OF LORDON.-Mr. D. W. Harvey, the Commissioner of the City of London Police, has caused an account to be taken by the police of the number of persons entering the City within a given period. The result shows that the amazing number of 706,621 individuals passed into the city by its various entrances during the 24 hours tested; and as the day selected for the enumeration was free from any extraordinary attraction to the city, there can be no doubt that the return furnishes a fair estimate of the average daily influx. Of the 706,621, the aggregate of this census of a day, 49,-342 only, or less than one fourteenth, entered during the night, viz., between the hours of 11 P.M., and 7 A.M. It is hardly necessary to add that these numbers are altogether irrespective of the resident po-

RUADY-MADE YEART. - Perhaps all our lady readers may not understand the best method of having good ceady made yeast always on hand. We invariably have good bread made from the yeast cakes prepared as follows .- " Put into three pints of water a handful of hops, and nearly a quart of pared potatous, cut late small pieces. Boil for balf an hour, and strain while scalding hot, into sufficient flour to make a stiff batter. Stir it well, adding one tablepopulation fresh yeast and set it in a warm place to rise. When light, mix it stiff with Indian meal, roll out thin, and eat into round cakes or square pieces, two, or two and a half inches in diameter. Dry these thoroughly, and keep them in a bag in a dry place. They will remain good for months. Before using, take one of those cakes for each medium-sized losf, soak in warm water till soft, and add a teaspoonful of sods for three or four yeast cakes. Add this to the flour with warm water, and raise in the canal manuer. Some put the light yeast, without adding the Indian meal, into close jars or jugs, and ase as needed. It will not keep many weeks by this FERR THINKERS. - Some scioliste have discovered a short path to celeority. Having heard that it is rantly silly to blieve everything they take for grantod that it must be vastly wise to believe nothing.— They therefore set up for free-thinkers, though their only stock in trade is that they are free from thinking. It is not safe to contemn them, nor very easy to convince them since no person makes so large demand against the reason of others, as those who bave none of their own.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13, 1857. Messre. Perry Davis & Son. - Gents. - For more than a year I was afflicted with a troublesome cough, attended with a yellowish frothy expectoration, and great emaciation followed. Whether it was a liver or lung cough I knew not, but there was an incessant tickling sensation in my chest. Calling one day at the office of the United States Journal, of this city, one of the proprietors strongly recommended me to try your Pain Killer. I sent and got the article, and was helped immediately, and am now well. This was last March. I withhold my address as my family and myself are averse to notoriety. That what I have written is solemn truth, is well known to the proprietors of the Journal. I write under the influence of grateful feeling. Yours truly, AMICUS.
