

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

What has been called by one of the New York dailies a banker's paradise, is the handsome premises of the Hanover National Bank. The two hundred employees of that bank have spacious quarters on the twenty-second floor, where they eat, bathe, exercise, read and rest. On the Nassau Street side is a private dining-room for the president and vice-presidents, finer than anything in our hotels. Meals for two hundred are served from twelve to two in the main dining-hall, the men eating in squads of fifty and consuming thirty minutes at the repast. The baths are as fine as those in the palace of Andrew Carnegie. The 160 book-keepers and assistants of this institution used to work in the cellar; now they are over three hundred feet above ground, with an abundance of light and ventilation. A very fast private elevator connects them with the banking office.

Following an informal suggestion made by one of the officers of the institution the clerks of the National City Bank of New York have organized a club, which will be Protection from Loss.

The business of boiler insurance is an engineering business; the insurance is only a guarantee of the trustworthiness of the engineering services.

Measure the value of those services and then consider the guarantee. In doing this remember that EXPERIENCE, SKILL, and ABILITY are the determining qualifications of the value of those services.
