

P A R T E

POLICY FORMULATION AND MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

Canada's Department of External Affairs is a large and complex institution. To function efficiently, it requires central co-ordination of policy and of operations carried out in a federal system, property management on a world-wide scale, staffing of offices located in many countries, administrative units to deal with multi-currency budgets and complex protocol questions and an effective communications network. The following pages describe these activities.