Checking Baggage to England.

The system adopted by the Grand Trunk Rallway System, in connection with the transatlantic steamship lines for through checking of baggage to Liverpool, England, via the ports of Montreal and Quebec, is proving very popular, and is being more and more used as the system becomes generally known, and the company is receiving many complimentary letters and notices for inaugurating this improved method for checking and handling transatlantic baggage. Passengers contices for inaugurating this improved method for checking and handling transatlantic baggage. Passengers contemplating a transatlantic trip desiring to avail themselves of this system of through checking to Liverpool are requested to see that all baggage is propropril plabelled with the steamship laels

Mr. Aylesworth Objects.

Mr. Aylesworth rose to a question of privilege. Two days ago he had been misjudged in The Toronto World. He was reported as saying that he believed and hoped that there was no likelihood of public ownership in Canada-He had not used the expression "hoped." The house recognized the verbal distinction, because the minister of justice did not deny that as a matter of fact he did hope and desire the preventage of the province of the province the Canadian composer. The critics were favorable, and altogether the attention of England was turned to the possibilities of musical achievement in the chief dependency of the empire. As a matter of fact, musical education in Canada has proceeded in recent years by leaps and bounds. The example set by Toronto and Montreal has set the smaller cities aflame, and the advent of teachers of eminence has fanned the enthusiasm. For instance, the Town of Harrow, in the southeastern portion of Ontario, has a choral society conducted by Mr. Wm. Whorlow Bull, and eminent English musician, who settled in Windsor about a year ago, and has been most successful. Mr. Bull has a been most successful. Mr. Bull has a studio in Detroit and another in Wind-sor; he is the organist and choir master of the Central Methodist Church in er is president of the Yukon Telephone of the Central Methodist Church in Windsor, and, in addition to his work with the Harrow Choral Society, conducts similar organizations in Windsor and Walkerville. His reputation is exceptionally high and his opinions on matters of musical taste are regarded as very valuable. The following letter from Mr. Bull was received by the firm of Gourlay. Winter and Leeming only the other day: "Permit me to express my entire satisfaction with the Gourlay piano. I have used this instrument ever since I opened my studio in Windsor, and although it has had hard, constant use, it retains that sweet, clear, tion don't overlook the cheap excursion to New York via the Erie Railroad.
