The Board of Trade and City Council are again urging the implementation of St. Andrew's Rapids on the Government. Ed. Martin writes to-night denying the Free Press statement that he had been meeting to circulate a requisition for him.

ERNE OUTPOINTED McFADDEN

Fight Went the Limit, 25 Rounds, and Was a Hard and Interesting Battle.

New York, May 9.—Frank Erne of Buffalo was awarded the decision on points over George McFadden of this city at the end of a 25-round bout before the Lenox A.C. to-night. A large crowd was in attendance. The fight was in a way the semi-final for the lightweight championship, as these two men are considered among the sporting fraternity the best championship possibilities. They met at 134 pounds, and put up a strong, interesting fight, but Erne clearly outpointed his opponent. Erne was attended by Frank Zimpher, Casper Leon, George Salce and Butch Joyce, while McFadden was looked after by Tommy Shortell, Billy Hennessy and H. Bahr. Charley White was referee. Erne was the favorite in the betting at 100 to 70.

In the first three rounds Erne was all over his man, hitting him with the left to the jaw, and sending the right to the stomach and ribs. McFadden, however, awoke in the next few rounds, blocking beautifully and countering hard with the right on the chest and over the head. In the eighth round McFadden put a heavy right over the heart, and followed this up with a hard right chop on the eye, which drew blood. McFadden kept on countering on the injured eye with hard rights.

In the ninth, McFadden played his left repeatedly on Erne's damaged optic, and this beautiful jabbing blocked Erne's leads. In the 10th round the men fought viciously and rushed into clinches, having to be pulled apart. The referee cautioned them to break clean. Three times Erne led for the head in the 11th, but each time McFadden's glove was raised and Erne landed a hard right uppercut, and the men mixed it up at short range.

Following the break, Erne swung his left to the jawline, shaking up the New Yorker considerably. Erne played all over McFadden's body in the 12th, and had all the better of the 13th. In the 14th the men again cautioned for hitting in clinches, after which Erne swung his right hard on the jaw and followed with a left to the mouth.

In the 15th, after blocking a left lead, McFadden sent a right to the jaw, Erne answering with left jabs to the mouth. Just before the bell rang in this round McFadden swung a right hook to the jaw, bringing it to the back of the neck and McFadden kept up his jabbing tactics, Erne chasing him all over the ring in his endeavors to land.

Up to the 20th round neither man could be said to have a decided advantage. Erne was continually on the offensive. McFadden blocked beautifully. In the 20th round McFadden went for a right, Erne manning him half-way around the ring, and all his drives were blocked. Erne continued with left jabbing, followed by blow on the stomach, and a moment later a straight left to the face.

The 21st round opened with Erne still after his man. McFadden blocking cleverly, and in the exchange the New York boy got in a right over the heart and a jab in the stomach. Erne came back with a done jab, which started the fight. Erne's nose, however, was bleeding from a blow from McFadden's right. Erne continued his offensive, with McFadden digging his right into the ribs every time Erne came in close quarters. The 22nd round was a beautiful exhibition of lightning drives and clever blocking. Some heavy blows were exchanged, but the men were judging distance so carefully that little harm was done. In the 23rd round Erne blocked when McFadden received a jab on the jaw, which sent him to the floor. Erne followed with a right, but Erne kept his head and a right to the ribs. The round ended with McFadden blocking cleverly.

The rapid work was kept up in the 24th round, and in a clinch, McFadden threw Erne. Erne missed a right swing and tripped over the New Yorker's legs. The referee ending in a clinch and wrestling the referee parting them. The 24th round saw a continuation of the rapid work. Erne endeavoring to land a finishing blow, but McFadden blocked and came back cleverly.

In the 25th and last round McFadden fought desperately, poking his right to the ear and blocking Erne's right for the wind. It was given and taken to the end of the round, when Referee Charlie White decided the bout on points, in favor of Erne.

Connolly Knocked Out Kerwin.

Buffalo, May 9.—Eddie Connolly of St. John's, N. B., knocked out "Mystery" George Kerwin of Chicago in the 10th round of what was to have been a 20-round contest, before the Olympic A. C. of this city to-night. The fighting was very brutal, but from the start, but Connolly always had the best of it. Kerwin continually running into right and left swings.

In the 4th round Connolly staggered his man with a fusillade of jabs and swings, and finally sent him clear through the ropes. Kerwin's seconds pushed him back into the ring, Connolly dozing him with a left on the jaw and ending the contest. In the preliminary, Al Weing, the bicycle rider, butted "Bronze Billy" Brown, who this city quit in the 5th round, punishing him badly. This was Weing's debut in the ring.

The Crescents and Varsity play the third game of their series on Saturday. Each team has a victory record. The capitals will hold a meeting in their club room on Friday night. All members and players are requested to attend.

With Flags and Bunting—Duchess of York Cut the Cord After Usual Prayers.

London, May 9.—The Duchess of York, accompanied by the Duke of Connaught and Mrs. Geo. J. Goschen, the First Lord of the Admiralty, and others, launched the new royal yacht, Victoria and Albert at Pembroke this afternoon. After the usual prayers, the Duchess severed a cord, and the yacht glided into the water, amidst vociferous cheering. The scene attending the launching was one of the gayest imaginable. The docks, the neighboring buildings and all the vessels in the harbor were elaborately bedecked with flags and bunting. Among the spectators were many naval and military officers and members of the Government, uniformed or in their robes of office. There was an enormous concourse of people in and about the yards, and the greatest enthusiasm was manifested.

Matthews and Bartley Draw.

Denver, Colo., May 9.—The work of Frank Bartley of Chicago, in the 20 round fight with Matty Matthews of New York last night, which ended in a draw, proved a revelation to the spectators who did not consider him a composer of endurance.

The number of fair blows landed by both men was 72, of which 39 are marked in Bartley's favor and 33 to the credit of Matthews. The best work of Matthews was in the 9th, 14th, 16th and last. Both men were considerably bruised, but all marks of the fight will wear off in a day or two.

TWENTY-FOUR APPEALS JUDGED.

Four Cases in Which the City Favored—Successful in Three—Here They Are.

The Court of Appeal delivered judgment yesterday in 24 cases.

There were four cases in which the City of Toronto was concerned, and in three the corporation was successful. The city's appeal against the stay of proceedings granted the C.P.R. some time ago in the action brought to recover $40,000 taxes on the Esplanade alternately failed, was dismissed.

In the case of Saunders v. the City of Toronto, the full court decided that the corporation was not liable for damages. The city was successful at the trial, but the Divisional Court set the verdict aside.

The decision of Justice Meredith in the action of Ward v. City of Toronto was sustained. In this case, it will be remembered that Ward asked the city to buy his buildings, which he had erected on the lease which was near expiring, and he intimated to the city that he desired to renew. The city said nothing, and meanwhile the lease expired. Ward then said that he didn't wish to renew and asked the city to buy his buildings. This led to a lawsuit, in which Ward's contention was that if the city intended to renew the lease it ought to have said so before the old lease expired.

Chief Justice Meredith decided that the city intended to renew the lease.

The suit of the Scottish & Ontario Landed Investment Company against the city for damages on account of the sand being pumped into their elevators, was thrown out by the court.

The Sons of England failed in their appeal to annul the certificate which admitted R. Faulkner of St. Mary's to membership.

The third appeal of Fred Lister, who is in custody awaiting extradition for alleged forgeries in New York, was dismissed. The court decided in favor of Hon. S. C. Biggs in his suit against the Freehold Loan Company. This action was over a mortgage transaction.

The Gendron Bicycle Company's appeal against the recent judgment in favor of Cecil Elliott was dismissed.

The other cases were disposed of as follows: Keefer v. Phoenix Insurance Company of Hartford; appeal and counter-appeal dismissed. Fawcett v. Fawcett; plaintiff's appeal dismissed. Parham v. La Framboise; appeal dismissed. Kidd v. Thomson; appeal allowed. Kennedy v. Bowman; appeal allowed, and Bowman v. Kennedy; appeal dismissed. Griffin v. Westinghouse Manufacturing Company of Canada; appeal allowed. Wagon v. Boulter; appeal and action dismissed. McDougall v. Water Commissioners of Windsor; appeal allowed. Mutual Fire Insurance Company; appeal dismissed. Herman v. Mandarin Gold Mining Company; appeal allowed. Jones v. G.T.R.; leave to appeal refused. Andrews v. Cross; appeal dismissed. Fort Stanley v. Herricks; leave to appeal granted.

NERVE REPAIRING.

Nerve mending is just as practicable as any other form of repair. Lost nerve power is nothing more than lost natural electricity. This fact is now acknowledged by every great scientist in the world.

Dissipation, youthful indiscretion, later excesses, business and family worry, mental overwork, etc., etc., can result in but one common end—weakness and nerve exhaustion. There are the nervousness, lame back, etc., and other more or less delicate symptoms better discussed with me in privacy or by letter.

Those who find themselves in this condition are termed, in a general way, weak men.

WEAK MEN.

For thirty years I have studied this condition, and while I recognized almost from the start the living and self-evident truth that electricity is nerve-force, my time and attention were pretty well taken up with endeavoring to find the best possible means of applying the same. I knew that my patient should be subjected to a pleasant current for at least several hours a day, because the nervous system digests electricity slowly, just as the stomach does food. After a while a portable battery suggested itself to me, and I constructed one. This same battery has developed by evolution into my present great home self-treatment, the Dr. Sanden Electric Belt with scrotal attachment for men, now known and used in every part of the civilized world. Over 6,000 gave voluntary testimony to its merits during 1898.

Soothing, pleasant, strengthening, current through weakened parts during entire time you are asleep. Weighs but 6 ounces; attachment to regulate electricity.

Drop in to-day and examine Belt, when I shall be pleased to go over your case free of charge; or write for free book, "Three Classes of Men," which explains all, and is sent in plain sealed envelope. Write or call to-day.
