MAJOR MOWAT HAS SPLENDID MEETING

Union Government Candidate in Praxdale Riding Explains Method of Soldiers' Voting.

The meeting held last evening in Honour Hall in the interests of Major Mowat, the Union government candidate for Praxdale riding, was one of the most enthusiastic meetings of the campaign.

Dr. McGillivray said this was not the time to push personal ambitions, that it should be to elect before party. The soldiers need are reinforcements; the time for reward will be when the war is won.

Capt. Armstrong, D. S. O., received an ovation when he came forward to speak. He said it was something to be back in Toronto and hear Toronto yell once more.

He urged the people not to change leaders at this time. Major Mowat said the time for reward will be when the war is won.

Major Mowat explained the method of voting by the soldiers at the front. Sir Robert Borden had the supreme confidence of Canada today; the eyes of the world were upon the Dominion at this time. Major Mowat urged the women voters to think well and cast their ballot for Canada's good and welfare.

The grand master's manifesto appealing support for the Union government was discussed and the members cautioned against the danger of losing seats by the splitting of the Unifrat vote by supporting independent candidates, whether they be Labor or professed to be Unionist. The only safe course was to support only those endorsed by the Union government.

PREMIER CALLS FOR MORE SACRIFICES

mobilization ready for any point of vantage, and he realised the allies' superiority in man power in France on the battlefield, and there were considerable British reserves at home.

Premier Lloyd George, who was speaking at the dinner of the Grey's luncheoners, said:

"If this is the worst moment, it is because Russia has stepped out and America is only preparing to come in. Every hour that passes will see the gap formed by the retirement of the Russians filled by the gallant sons of the great republic. Germany knows it and Austria knows it, hence the desperate efforts that they are making to win the issue before America is ready."

Germany's victories were emboldened to the world, the premier said, but her troubles did not appear in bulletins. Something was known of that, however. The deadly grip of the British navy was having its effect and the value of the troops was making an impression which would tell in the end. He said those who during the past fortnight were organising a nervous breakdown in the nation were the same as those who recently were organising a hysterical shout over the Flanders victories.

Mr. Lloyd-George said that he was glad to understand that Lord Lansdowne's recent letter had been misunderstood, and that Lord Lansdowne was in agreement with President Wilson.

"I also," the premier declared, "agree with President Wilson and do not desire to force a controversy where none exists."

"I warn the nation to watch the man who thinks there is a half-way house between victory and defeat, the premier admonished. "These are the men who think you can end the war now by some sort of what they call peace—by setting up a league of nations. That is the right policy after victory; without victory it would be a farce."

Continuing his discussion of a league of nations, Mr. Lloyd George said it could not be had by a negotiated peace at this time.

"It is idle to talk of security to be won by such feeble means," he asserted. "There is no security in any land without the certainty of punishment. There is no protection in a state where the criminal is more powerful than the law."

"To end a war entered upon to enforce a treaty without preparation for the infringement of that treaty, merely by entering into a new, more sweeping and comprehensive treaty would be a farce in the setting of a tragedy."

A question of tonnage, Germany was gambling upon America's failure to transport her army to Europe. The future of the world depended upon the efforts of Great Britain and America to make to increase their output of ships next year, he declared. The food imports next year, he said in this connection, must be reduced three million tons by increased home production and economy.
