IN CONCLUSION.

The Committee cannot but express their regret, that such important missions as Crapaud, Springfield and New London are unprovided, and that the many attached members of the Church, are at present deprived of those religious privileges, to which they have been accustomed; they would fain hope however, that the Lord of the harvest will send forth laborers into his harvest, and that these missions will ere long be occupied by faithful and devoted men. At the meeting of Committee held this day, the sum of £50 cy. has been appropriated to meet one of the grants made by S, P, G., for a settled minister whose mission shall embrace Springfield, Crapaud and Barretts, and the balance set apart towards the same object, in order to secure the services of a travelling missionary; they would urge then the members generally, the duty of sustained efforts to further the objects of the Society, embracing as it does, the advancement of a high and holy cause, the good of man and the glory of God, and would close their Report for the past year with the prayer, that God would be pleased to direct and prosper all its operations to the setting forth of his glory, and to the good of his Church through Jesus Christ our Lord.
