The Method of Instruction

is that which, after careful observation and mature experience, has been judged best calculated to interest the youthful mind, and to develop most harmoniously all its powers. The best text books extant, in the various studies, are placed in the hands of the student, and he is required to make himself acquainted with successive portions of these as they are from day to day definitely assigned by the teachers, and to furnish satisfactory evidence of such acquaintance in his recitation rooms at the appointed hours. To do this he must study, and persevering in so doing week after week, he acquires the habits of
