

Soap to Stand Germs Off

All who handle money in business should wash their hands with a Germicidal Soap. That means store salesmen, cashiers and pay roll clerks as well as other office people who receive money. Bank Tellers as well.

Mothers should have a dependable Germicidal Soap to wash children's cuts turning into something worse, like blood poison and skin troubles.

Tests of Parke, Davis & Co. Soap show it kills all germs in one minute. Thus the hands washed with it cannot carry to the mouth, nose and food such diseases as colds, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria, influenza, measles, bronchitis, etc.

It makes a fine Bath Soap to remove odors while cleansing generally. Equally effective as a Shampoo, helps remove dandruff, relieves itching and leaves the hair soft and fluffy. 25c. a cake.

ANOTHER OVER BRIDGE.

The East Saint John fire department was called out again last night to rescue a horse that lrad gone through the cordurory bridge beyond Kane's Corner on the way to East Saint John. A like occurrence happened on last Sunday night. At this point there is a trestle bridge carrying the street railway tracks, which, after a fall of Simonds street, with a membership of snow, is mistaken by drivers of horse vehicles for the ordinary road. It is suggested that a railing is necessary to prevent drivers making this mistake.
