

Mixed Emotions Greet Ford Idea Of Dry Blockade

Employees of Prohibition Unit
Fear Use of Army and Navy
Would Cancel Jobs; Neither
Service Anxious.

Washington, June 14.—Demand of Army Ford that the government turn over to the army and navy has excited mixed emotions in Washington. It meets with approval in some quarters and sharp disapproval in others. In the first place, the idea is by no means original with Mr. Ford. For months the extremists among the dry leaders, especially the chiefs of the Anti-Saloon League, have been insisting that the government ought to utilize the navy to prevent rum running. Little has been said about such use of the army, but it is a fact that President has repeatedly been urged by dries to employ the navy in prohibition law enforcement. As is well known, this demand has been complied with in part, and Coast Guard vessels which are practically a part of the navy, have been active of late in trying to halt rum smuggling.

Opposed by Dry Employees.

If the idea of Mr. Ford that the job of enforcement be turned over to the army and navy were literally carried out the prohibition unit and the great corps of civilian employees under it virtually would be put out of business. It is hardly necessary to say that this idea is received with anything but vigorous acclaim among the employees of the prohibition unit. The idea of being required to do what amounts to police duty in the enforcement of the dry laws is distasteful to both army and navy. In spite of the assertion of Mr. Ford that the army and navy "haven't anything to do in peace time," the fact is that both services have much to do in the way of keeping pace with the necessity of preparedness.

It is entirely unlikely that either the President or Congress will take seriously the suggestion of Mr. Ford. The business of enforcing the dry laws will continue to be primarily a civilian proposition, just as the enforcement of other laws is a matter of civilian officials. The view is expressed here by competent authorities that if the work were passed that the business of the army and navy from now on was to be primarily, or even in large part, that of enforcement of the dry laws, the morale of both services would fall off, enlistments would be reduced and it would be impossible to keep either force up to present standards. Appeals have been made to Congress from time to time to require that the army be used for the building of roads and other improvement purposes. Congress has always turned down schemes of this sort and has held to the view that the army should be utilized for military purposes and the navy for naval purposes.

It is regarded here as entirely unlikely that Congress will assent to Mr. Ford's plan to appropriate money for an army and navy which would be primarily organizations for dry law enforcement instead of organizations for preparedness for defence by land and sea.

Another Montreal Man Regains Health by Taking Tanlac

"The Tanlac treatment rid me of a bad case of indigestion, steadied my nerves and built me up until I'm a different man; so I've got good reasons for giving the medicine my highest recommendation." — The statement of Stanley E. Lortie, 388 Mt. Royal St., Montreal, Que.

"For six months I had so much trouble with my stomach, and my nerves were so unstrung, that I could get very little rest nights and was mighty shaky at work. Many a night I was in such misery I would have to get up and walk around and drink a cup of hot water to get any relief. A friend advised me to try Tanlac as it had done him a lot of good. I took six bottles, and now I feel fine and never have a touch of my old troubles. Tanlac is simply great."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

Sifted Forsees Exodus of People By Ruin of Forests

(Written especially by Hon. Sir Clifford Sifton for Canadian Forestry Association.)

It seems self-evident that if the plague of forest fires in Canada is permitted to continue, the exodus of population from our timber growing areas cannot very well be prevented. We have a large percentage of Canada's habitable area under forest. That percentage must produce timber and mines or be eliminated from our slate of assets. From this point of view of fire damage we may omit consideration of mines. Thus, if we allow the ravages of forest conflagrations to continue at the present pace, it is only a question of a relatively few years until we force from our northern areas the great body of population and all municipalities subsisting on forest manufactures.

I regard the forest not as a mass of trees but as the raw material of industrial expansion and of profitable employment, and as the industry of our thousands of municipalities dependent on wood-using industries. It is much more intelligent to discern in a "bush fire" the destruction of a multitude of pay envelopes. It drives the plain facts home when we visualize every human-made forest fire as a blow to our national well-being that will require thousands of a century to repair.

As the situation now stands, Canada should gain enormously from the simple fact of possessing great spruce areas with excellent water powers to utilize effectively and relatively cheap. To the south we have a partially deforested nation, exhibiting an insatiable demand for the products of a spruce forest, chiefly newspaper paper. Even as England's coal served to enrich her during the last century or more, so Canada's spruce and pine forests should be taken as representing a commercial resource almost untouched by anything else we possess except agricultural land.

Are we to tolerate a condition where, with every forest area on a rising market, our own citizens with a false notion of personal license, shall continue to start four thousand forest fires a year, killing the very resource from which the industrial workers of Canada stand to profit most? I believe the provincial governments could well afford to spend on forest fire prevention every dollar of their forest revenues up to a point where the forest capital ceases to show an annual depletion. If even one-half of the millions of forest taxation were spent on the most modern systems of forest protection we would rapidly diminish our shocking annual losses of timber and go far toward placing the timber resources on a business-like basis.

War Disaster That Cost 350 Lives Is Told Public Now

French Train Was Wrecked
With 500 Soldiers on Leave
After Fighting

Paris, June 14.—A railroad accident which cost 350 lives and yet remained unknown to the general public will be commemorated on Sunday at St. Michael-En-Maurienne, when Minister of War Maginot will unveil a monument to the dead.

A train of 800 soldiers, on leave after fighting on the Plave beside the Italian allies, left Modane, a town in Savoy, on November 12, 1917. The engineer said the train was too heavy to cross the mountains and refused to start until he received an order from his military superintendent.

His fear proved to be well founded, and his engine went wild in descending into the valley. The only effect of the airbrakes was to set the cars on fire, and the train crashed into a stone bridge near the entrance to the station.

HER HEART SKIPPED EVERY THIRD BEAT

Mrs. James Hurligh, 246 King St. E., Chatham, Ont., writes:—"I think it my duty to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me."

I suffered for years with palpitation of the heart, my nerves were very bad, and I could not be alone at any time. I doctored for over a year, and the doctor said my heart was very bad as it skipped every third beat. I gave up, just at this time, and my mother advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, saying my eldest brother had been relieved by using them when he was very bad with his heart and nerves. I got a box and started to take them, and when I had used it a little and felt stronger, I continued taking them for about three months, and felt better than I had for years.

When I think of the misery and suffering I went through before I started Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I feel like letting everyone know what they did for me.

An important feature of the bill was that it re-introduced the insurance principle, making all ex-service men eligible on account of disability incurred during service, and not merely disability actually attributable to service. The bill was given third reading with several amendments.

Detailed information concerning contracts for supplies of ties, etc., to the Canadian National Railways, was declined by Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways and canals.

In answer to a question by R. B. Hanson, (Con.), York-Sunbury, asking for details of tenders for ties to be used on the Metapedia Valley, Mr. Graham replied that the detailed information

Pensions Bill

A Government bill to give effect to the Ralston report on pensions gave rise to extended discussions last night. Hon. Dr. Beland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment, said that it restored the so-called insurance principle so that a man could be awarded pension for disability incurred during war service whether or not such disability was attributable to service.

An amendment by L. J. Ladner, (Con.), Vancouver South, to place the burden of proof on the Pensions Board in cases of pension ability which could reasonably be attributed to war service, was declared lost by the chairman on a calling for ayes and nays.

Further amendment to make eligible for pension the mother of an ex-service man who had died and whose husband was in a helpless or dependent position was agreed to by Dr. Beland, who said it would make little financial difference. Another to cover the case of a widow when marriage was contracted subsequent to appearance of disability was asked to be brought forward as an extra clause to the bill.

In the Senate:

Royal assent was given to a number of bills.

Senator Dandurand, government leader, stated that an effort was being made to prorogue parliament by the end of June.

The bankruptcy bill was under discussion.

Effort is being made to prorogue parliament by the end of the month, so Senator Dandurand, Government leader, informed the Senate last night. The Senate had the Bankruptcy bill under consideration in committee and Senator Dandurand urged the desirability of progress being made.

WORLD TRIBUTE TO SUSAN B. ANTHONY IS SET FOR JULY 22

Alice Paul Announces Plans for Memorial at Grave in Rochester Cemetery, To Be Preceded by Conference.

Washington, June 14.—July 22 is the date set for an international tribute to the memory of Susan B. Anthony, founder of the Suffrage movement, at her grave at Mount Hope Cemetery, Rochester, N. Y., according to an announcement by Alice Paul, leader of the National Woman's Party.

Miss Paul said that more than 600 leaders of the Woman's party and guests from every part of the world would attend. She said it was the purpose of the Woman's party to make Grant's Tomb in New York.

Miss Paul visited Rochester with Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, president of the party, and before they left official recognition of the occasion was promised on behalf of the city Government by Mayor Van Zandt and Secretary Roland B. Woodward, speaking for the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

The two days preceding the celebration, July 20 and 21, will be devoted to a conference at Seneca Falls, N. Y., the scene of the first equal rights conference in 1848.

The first day will be in the nature of a memorial, taking place in the same room and building in which the first meeting was held.

July 21 nurses, business women, lawyers, doctors, actresses, scientists and representatives of all phases of woman's affairs will discuss plans for introducing a bill in Congress which will seek to bring about at once throughout the nation the ideals for which Miss Anthony strove.

CAN EAT MOST ANYTHING SAYS MR. ANTHONY

New Brunswick Farmer Suffered for Years—Is Now Well and Happy—Praises Drecto Beyond All Medicines.

Mr. W. C. Anthony, a farmer of Red Head, near St. John, N. B., finds that Drecto has overcome years of suffering and restored to him the health and vigor that was rightfully his. His experience is one of the many that are constantly emphasizing the wonderful properties of this medicine as a regulator and restorative for all who are victims of internal disorders. Read what Mr. Anthony says:

"I suffered terribly with stomach trouble and indigestion, and everything I ate would burn to gas and I had intense pains in my kidneys. I also had liver trouble and biliousness and sometimes I would get so dizzy and sick that I could hardly stand. Now, thanks to Drecto, I am well again and can eat most anything without it causing me to fill up with gas. I am no longer troubled with my kidneys or liver and have gained five pounds in weight. I can recommend Drecto strongly, as it has made a new man of me. Drecto's goodness can hardly be measured."

Drecto is Nature's root and herb remedy that readily overcomes even the most obstinate cases of indigestion, constipation and other disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, by causing all these organs to function as Nature intended.

Drecto is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King Street. It is also sold by Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward Street, and in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson, and by a good druggist everywhere.
