THE FOOL AT THE WHEEL

"How long are Montreal's streets to be used as speedways by fools at the throttle of high-powered motor cars?" asks the Montreal Star. "There is not another city on the American continent where pedestrians are so constantly at the mercy of indifferent or criminally careless speed maniacs. Scarcely a day passes when the record of accidents does not produce its record of combined recklessness and cowardice on the part of some motor car driver, recklessness where the lives of others are concerned, arrant cowardice which trusts speed to escape the consequences. The majority of car owners and drivers are not in this category, but they suffer for the sins of others. Public patience is at the breaking point and will no longer tolerate indifference to what has become more than a mere nuisance and has developed into a public menace. There is one certain method of putting a stop to this business of making our streets into race courses, this disregarding the established rules of the road, and that is a term behind the bars. That is what is inevitably coming to some of the pests which infest our streets. That is what public sentiment demands."

No need of your screen doors or windows rusting if you will paint them as soon as purchased, with good paint and oil.

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK-YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREAT-ER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN

Issued by the Canada Food Board in Collaboration With Experts on the Staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm

100 P. C. USE OF VEGETABLES

The more general use of vegetables as substitutes cannot be too often reiterated. Their worth is not half appreciated and with the war gardens flourishing space there is a tendency to be wasteful when such an abundance of garden truck is available.

As a matter of fact, their uses are not exhausted when they have been served as fresh greens, made into salads or boiled according to custom. Much of the sugar and mineral content, so valuable and pleasant to the taste, is generally lost in cooking because women do not study ways and means to conserve it. None of the elements should be wasted. For instance, carrots, corn, peas, beans, are rich in sugar and the water in which they are cooked should be saved for soup. Spinach should always be consumed in its own juice and every spoonful saved. Onion water may be used for gravies and soups.

Delicious soup is made by simmering potatoes "diced" with skins left on, peas, onions and seasonings. A thick puree which is combined with a thin cream sauce is made of this composition. Peas and the cobs from which uncooked corn has been cut may be used to advantage in making soup.

CHILDREN JOIN NAVY LEAGUE

No more pleased and enthusiastic audience ever filled the Imperial than assembled there yesterday afternoon when the Navy League mass meeting was held. Invitations to be present were issued free to all the children of the city, and they attended in full force. Naval pictures, which were greeted with shouts of joy, patriotic songs and a stirring patriotic speech from Colonel E. T. Sturdee preceded the enrollment of those children who seized the opportunity of becoming junior members of the league.

Colonel E. T. Sturdee presided at the meeting and was supported on the platform by Mayor Hayes, R. E. Armstrong, Dr. Bridges, H. Schofield, C. B. Allan, F. W. David, R. E. Smith and Captain Mulcahy. The National Anthem and "O Canada" were sung with a right good will, and then a fine series of British navy motion pictures was shown. The children filed up on to the stage and by the payment of twenty-five cents became full junior members of the league, were recorded as such by members of the Y. W. F. A. and given their badges by genuine sailors. A large number joined the league, and were able to be present yesterday afternoon will be given the opportunity of joining to-morrow afternoon at the Imperial.

The thanks of the league are due to W. H. Golding for his free use of the Imperial and for his ready assistance in organizing the meeting.

SCHOOL CLOSING AT THE ORPHANS' HOME

There were forty-six very happy children in the Protestant Orphans' Home in Britain street yesterday. The closing exercises of the home school were held in the morning at 10.30, and the children who took part in them carried out the programme of songs, recitations, dialogues and flag drill with evident enjoyment and striking success. The programme had been arranged by the teacher, Miss N. B. Vanwart, and the pupils were a great credit to the kind and thoughtful care which she has given them. Forty-one of the children attend the school. After the exercises, the prizes were distributed by W. E. Daymond, W. S. Fisher and Rev. D. Hutchinson, who each spoke a few words to the children.

The list of prize winners is as follows: Grade 8, Adeline Armstrong, Aileen Morrissey; grade 5, George Baird; grade 4, Alice Armstrong, David Chambers; grade 3, Helen Foran; grade 2, Millie Puddington, Gwen Gallagher, Frank Belding; grade 1, Elsie Rogers, Murray Puddington.

The prize presented by the president, T. H. Estabrooks, to the boy who tried the hardest and aimed the highest, was awarded to David Chambers, who is leaving the Home this summer. The Estabrooks prize is presented every year and is in the form of a watch. There was on view the needlework which had been done by the girls since Christmas, and it made a noteworthy exhibit.

FOR CAPT. BARTLETT

Karluk, according to an announcement made today by the naval department. This grant, which consists of £14, was founded by the celebrated Arctic explorer, the late Admiral Sir George Back, for the reward and encouragement of scientific geographers and discoverers.

You Can Use An Ingersoll Radiolite No Matter What Watch You Carry.

The latest Ingersoll invention is a watch that tells time in the dark.

Luminous dial watches were known only to a few people until Ingersoll by the use of a substance that contains real radium placed them within reach of all. Now you can buy one at your dealers for a very small sum.

There are many uses for a Radiolite—in the trenches, the sick room, the nursery, on rising early, in mines or factories, out of doors, anywhere that you need to know the time in the darkness.

There's no Radiolite but an Ingersoll Radiolite.
