Providence, Ky., Nov. 26.—Eleven coal miners, two white men and nine negroes, were entombed in mine No. 3 of the Providence Mining Co. yesterday afternoon following a gas explosion, and it is believed that all are dead. The mine is a new one, the shaft being but 100 feet in depth, with only a few entries.

The explosion was so violent that little hope is entertained of the miners having escaped death. The explosion blew great masses of slate and stone from the shaft. A mule blown out of the shaft alighted 150 feet away, still lives. Eleven Die In Mine.

HUGHES MATTER EXPLAINED WHAT OPPOSITION WANTS

Hon. Mr. Paterson Makes Effort to Find Out, But Cannot-They Were All Excited a Year Ago and Now They Call For Delay - Monk and Paquet Introduce Gilbert of Drummond-Arthabaska.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—An incident unique in Parliamentary practice, and with without precedent in the history of the House of Commons, octurred yesterday afternoon when Arthur Gilbert, Nationalist member for Drummond and Arthabaska, was introduced to Mr. Speaker. Speculation as to who would escort Mr. Gilbert to the House was relieved when F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier) and Dr. Eugene Paquet (L'Islet) retired from the chamber before the orders of the day were called.

Amid a silence more ominous than accidental Mr. Gilbert shook hands with the Speaker, and proceeded slowly to his seat on the back row farthest from Mr. Speaker. If Mr. Gilbert was welcome, nobody tried to make him feel so. There was not a sound, and it is significant to note that the occupants of front seats on both sides of the House found it convenient to be otherwise engaged while this interesting ceremony was in progress. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden found something interesting in the memoranda on their desks. George E. Foster was in a brown study, hat pulled well over his eyes, and Hon. Wm. Paterson seemed to be counting squares on the ceiling. The Nationalist, if there were any, were not conspicuous by their presence or demonstration. P. E. Blondin, J. A. Lortie and W. B. Nantel, the three followers of Mr. Monk, were not in the House.

Apart from the introduction of Mr. Gilbert, member for Drummond and Arthabaska, the feature of yesterday's sitting of the House of Commons on the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, was Hon. Wm. Paterson's vigorous onslaught on the position of the Conservative party in the light of Mr. Borden's amendment offered in lieu of that by Mr. Monk. Mr. Paterson persistently asked the question, when the Conservative party was anxious for an immediate contribution to the imperial navy a year ago, why did hon. members present a change of front now and urge the delay consequent upon an appeal to the country. He suggested it was due to the influence of Mr. Monk upon that party.

Mr. Borden, he sai

"early" in the original resolution. The Prime Minister acceded to this view, and the word "speedy" was inserted.

Continuing, his voice increasing in volume and raising in pitch, the Minister of Customs, said: "Mr. Borden made a suggestion and wanted one word inserted, that would indicate that they were to act promptly. Now the whole tone of the Opposition is, 'Do not go into the creation of a navy; ask the people."

In conclusion, he said, that if the Government would build a Canadian navy in close co-operation with the Admiralty, the Conservative party would endorse it.

Continuing after recess, Mr. Paterson asked what position would Canada occupy if the matter of naval organization were stayed until a general election. Hon, gentlemen opposite, recognizing the need for immediate action last year, were in favor of making a gift of $25,000,000 to the Mother Country. Now they do not propose that anything should be done in the matter of self-defence at all.

"Is it because the member for Jacques Cartier (J. D. Monk), whom they tried to read out of the party, is in the party again, and has assumed the leadership?" (Liberal cheers.)

Dr. Sproule (East Grey) declared there was an absolute need for a plebiscite or reference to the people on the naval question, and described the Government's attitude as "arbitrary, autocratic, tyrannical, and out of harmony with the principles of constitutional government, as known and carried out by the Imperial Parliament and the colonial dependencies of the Empire."

He condemned the Government for its apathetic policy towards the Hudson Bay Railway. The construction of a bridge across the Saskatchewan River at the Pas Mission was poor management, because it was not known whether a bridge at that point would serve the railway when located. Furthermore, if the Government with the propose of the west.

Discussing the fiscal situation, Dr. Sproule charge the Government with Guebec bridge, he was inclined to sympathize with the people of the west.

In pronouncing sentence Sir Albert De Rutzen, chief magistrate of the Metropolitan Police Court said: "You disorderly women have been treated with too much leniency in the past."
