A CHAPTER ON PICKLES.

Few Housewives can get along at all times without something in the line of pickles and sauces. Some of them make their own, but nowadays when the very best are sold at such low prices the inducements to expend much time in making the home article are not great.

Canadian pickles are cheaper than English. We can sell you a pint bottle of Canadian pickles for 14 cents—remember only 14 cents—and the English article at 15, 20, 22 and 30.

Then the Yorkshire Radish and Cetchup and sauces in half pint bottles can be had at 12 cents.

Of course such articles as these are but "a drop in the bucket" in a first class grocery. We keep them because many of the people want them and we think more would want them if they realized how good they were.
