

NEED OF INCINERATOR PLANT IS DISCUSSED BY COMMISSIONERS

Question Raised by Mayor Frink - Estimate Shows it would Cost $50,000 - To Take Steps Immediately.

The question of constructing an incinerator plant in the city, which was brought up by His Worship Mayor Frink at yesterday's meeting of the common council is one that has been in the discussion stage for nearly thirteen years despite the fact that the need for such a plant has been growing more apparent each year.

In bringing the matter to the attention of the commissioners, His Worship referred to the fact that about twelve years ago legislation had been enacted by the provincial legislature empowering the common council of this city to take the necessary steps for the construction of the plant. The cost of establishing the plant, Mayor Frink said, was estimated at about $50,000. It would be necessary at this time to have the plant in a central part of the city.

The great amount of garbage collected from different sources about the city has been dumped along the shores of Courtenay Bay. Complainants have been frequent from residents in the vicinity and while no small portion of reclamation work has been effected by the dumping process, the sanitary conditions in the neighborhood have not been improved. Most of the dumping places about the city have now been filled up and it is imperative that something be done in the matter.

In calling attention to the need of the plant for the destruction of the garbage, His Worship said that on an average about thirty or forty tons of refuse are being thrown on the dumps each day. This material, gathered from all sources, cannot fail to become a menace to the public health and conditions such that immediate steps must be taken.

The other members of the council concurred in the opinion of Mayor Frink and were unanimously in favor of an early movement towards the establishing of the plant.

LETITIA'S PASSENGERS GOT AWAY YESTERDAY

Hundreds of Hardy Scotch Families Much Interested in New Land - Missing Girl Discovered Without Trouble.

Passengers from the Donaldson liner Letitia were landed yesterday and showed much interest in their new surroundings. Yesterday being a fine day many people from the different parts of the city were attracted to the scene at Sandpoint and it is safe to say that all were much surprised at the intense activity displayed there. During the afternoon the citizens and the newcomers from Scotland mingled freely, views on everything from the Balkan war to the best manner in which to plant potatoes being exchanged. All the passengers were evidently in a happy frame of mind and while waiting for their trains enjoyed walking through Carleton, dropping in at the different stores, and generally looking the place over.

During the day several amusing incidents occurred. One of Mayor Frink's men, armed with a shotgun, accompanied her daughter and immediately complained to the Donaldson Line agent, who, after a short search, located the missing girl in a drug store, where she was purchasing perfume. The first train carrying about 400 people left at half past four. On this train was a party of busom Scotch immigrant girls bound for St. Stephen, where they will be distributed among the different homes. These girls as well as the others seemed happy and waved a cheerful farewell as the train pulled out. The second train pulled out about supper time.

FOUND THE CAUSE THE REST WAS EASY

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS QUICKLY CURED HIS KIDNEY DISEASE.

How Hudson Marchbank After Suffering for Five Years, Found Quick Relief and Permanent Cure in the Greatest of Canadian Remedies.

Marchbank, King's County, N. B., April 14, (Special).—After suffering for five years from kidney disease, brought on by a strain, Hudson Marchbank, Esq., the well known farmer of this place, is again a strong, healthy man, and another grand cure for Dodd's Kidney Pills has been put on record. In an interview, Mr. Marchbank says: "About five years ago I hurt my back from lifting, and it developed into kidney disease. My back pained me all the time, and I was very much troubled with headaches. My appetite was little, I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the mornings; I perspired freely, and my perspiration had a disagreeable odor. I used liniments and plasters, but they did not do me any good, and as there were other symptoms that my kidneys were affected, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After taking them for a few days, my back was completely cured, and my kidneys have not troubled me since. When Mr. Marchbank decided that his kidneys were the cause of his troubles, the rest was easy. Almost all of his neighbors could tell him that Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure cases like his."

Five hundred women delegations, representing every Congressional district, armed with petitions demanding constitutional amendment for votes for women, marched to the Capitol and delivered their demands in person.

CHORAL SOCIETY SCORED BIG SUCCESS IN "MESSIAH"

Assisted by well known Soloists, Local Organization Won Merited Appreciation in their Rendition of Sacred Oratorio—Opera House Crowded by Music Lovers Last Evening.

ERNEST S. PEACOCK, Director.

Assisted by the renowned tenor Refertine Hornsbeek, Mrs. Leonora James-Kennedy, both of Toronto, Miss Alice Reese, Boston, and William Gustafson, Jr., Boston, the St. John Choral Society sang Handel's sacred oratorio, "The Messiah" in the Opera House last night. A large and appreciative audience turned out to see the efforts of the Society, and the oratorio was given a most finished rendition.

The Messiah was under the direction of Ernest Scott Peacock, conductor and director of the Choral Society. To him in a very great measure is due the success of the affair, and the excellent manner in which the oratorio was interpreted reflects very creditably on his ability as director, while the degree of perfection to which the organization has been brought through his careful training of the voices gives the organization a foremost place in local musical circles.

Those who heard the society in the Messiah last year, and again last night, found a marked improvement, even if the first effort was a good one. In the intervening months by dint of careful training the organization has been brought to an eminent degree of perfection. The hundred or so voices blend more harmoniously, there is more rhythm of movement, and a better conception of the beauties of the pieces producing altogether a most pleasing result.

While the soloists naturally came more prominently before the audience, the choral work during the evening attracted more than passing notice. There was not, perhaps, as great an amount of volume, especially from the male voices, as was desirable, but the accuracy of the singers as to movement, and the excellent harmonizing of so many and varied voices easily counteracted this minor fault. The choral work throughout was strong, the chorus responding faithfully to the baton, almost as perfectly in simultaneity of movement as an automaton. Not once in the many difficult phases was there noticeable an appreciable defect in tone or movement. There are many talents of this mastery of these, the most noticeable which require careful manipulation, but in their work last night the singers showed that they had acquired a mastery of these. The choral work throughout proved most enjoyable and received the recognition it merited.

The soloists comprised a talented quartette. Two of these only recently charmed St. John audiences. Refertine Hornsbeek, tenor, and Mrs. Leonora James-Kennedy, soprano, when they gave a concert in the Opera House. Their reappearance in itself was sufficient to prove an attraction in view of the very favorable impression they left behind on the occasion. of their former visit. The other two soloists made their debut in local musical circles. Miss Alice Reese, contralto, and William Gustafson, Jr., bass, both prominent in Boston musical circles.

To discriminate in the work of the different soloists would be a difficult matter. Mr. Hornsbeek, whose magnificent tenor voice pleased so much on his former appearance in this city as heard again last night to advantage, though perhaps not to such advantage as in concert work. The Messiah afforded some splendid opportunities for a display of his rare talent and he fully sustained the reputation he created on his last visit.

Mrs. James-Kennedy won more laurels by her capable work; the many intricate passages of the soprano role she carried through in an artistic manner, and in the coloratura work in which she excels was in excellent voice.

In securing the services of Miss Alice Reese, who replaced Mrs. Harriet Sterling Hemenway, who was unable to come here for the occasion, the Choral Society were fortunate. Miss Reese has a decidedly pleasing voice, sympathetic and clear. In the several numbers which she sang during the evening she gave evidence of careful training, her thorough control of her voice and interpretation of the different numbers charmed her hearers as she brought to light the rare beauty of the music in which the contralto role abounds.

Mr. Gustafson, another debutant, also made a most favorable impression, and one that will assure him of a welcome another time. He is the possessor of a powerful, clear, well trained, of exceptional tone, quality and volume. His rendition of the solo numbers, of which there are more than a few, was one of the features of the evening. In the quartette numbers his work was also of particular merit and in the success and honors of the evening he was well to the fore.

The accompanist of the evening was D. Arnold Fox, who performed the difficult duty in his usual masterly manner. An orchestra assisted in the rendering of the oratorio and did excellent service.

On the whole the evening was one of real pleasure, and thoroughly enjoyed. In this evening's programme Mr. Hornsbeek and Mrs. James-Kennedy were heard in concert numbers, and selected choral numbers will be given by the choral society. Another large audience is looked for tonight.

METROPOLITAN OF THE GREEK CHURCH WHO WAS MURDERED

THE MOST REV. CHRYSOSTOM METROPOLITAN OF SYMRYNA

Four Greeks about to be hanged by the Turkish authorities at Smyrna were rescued while being taken to the gallows, according to the latest reports. The charge against the Greeks was that they had killed the Turkish minister of the Interior, Mr. Mitylene, who was a young Turkish woman. It is alleged that the testimony against them was perjured. Protests made by the Greek Church and the Greek community of Smyrna were ignored.

Because of the interest taken on behalf of these men by the Greek Church, the Turks murdered the Metropolitan of the Greek Church, the Most Reverend Chrysostom, a man of high education, who was formerly Metropolitan at Drama, Macedonia. He was transferred from that place because the Turks objected to his activities on behalf of the Christians living in Macedonia.

ADDRESSES TEACHERS ON TRIP TO ENGLAND

Fred J. Ney, Honorary Organizer of "Hands Across the Seas" Movement, Tells of Object of Trip.

Fred J. Ney, of the Department of Education for the province of Manitoba, and the honorary organizer of the "Hands Across the Seas" movement, addressed a number of the school teachers of the city in the schoolroom of the Congregational church, last evening, on the object of the movement, which is to take parties of Canadian school teachers to the old country. Three such parties have already made the trip and have returned much benefited for their journey.

Mr. Ney last evening pointed out that by taking this trip the teachers would be given an insight into the educational system of Great Britain, thus bringing the people of Canada into closer touch with the Motherland, through the medium of the schoolroom. Another object of these trips was to strengthen the bond of sympathy and friendship between the two countries, and to show that all Englishmen were not of the same class as the remittance men.

Already, said the speaker, a large party have agreed to take the trip this year, and will sail on the steamer Gramplan shortly after the schools close for the summer.

Much interest was shown in the lecture by those present and undoubtedly some of them will make the trip. W. J. S. Myles presided.

The movement has as patrons, men prominent in education on both sides of the ocean. Among them are: The Archbishop of Rupert's Land, Primate of all Canada.

The Right Hon. the Earl of Meath, Field Marshal, the Earl Roberts, Sir Gilbert Parker, Hon. and Rev. E. Lyttelton, Headmaster of Eton, Hon. J. Roche, M. D., Minister of the Interior for Canada, Hon. G. H. Murray, Premier of Nova Scotia.

The Ministers of Education for the Provinces of Manitoba, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

BLOCKER BRIGADE BUSY SEARCHING FOR WAY OUT

Continued from page 1. eral leader. He favored a revision of the rules, but it must be done by a committee of both sides.

Onesiphore Turgeon, of Gloucester, N. B., stood in for a while during the evening, while A. K. MacLean was getting ready. After Mr. MacLean had finished, Hon. George Graham offered some observations.

On the orders of the day the absurd yarn that the government, on Wednesday last called on politicians to keep the angry Liberals in order, was exposed. A. K. MacLean brought it up. He had seen statements in Liberal newspapers and knew of conservative action on that eventful day police men had made their appearance on the floor. He suggested that the government had procured the attendance of the policemen, and that this should not have been done.

Mr. Borden replied that he had seen neither the newspaper paragraphs nor the policemen, and that the side had had nothing to do with causing their appearance.

The speaker stated that no order had been given to have policemen on hand. There always were two or three in the corridors and one of them was in charge of the chamber in the recess between 6 and 7 o'clock. The story that on Wednesday he had attended to Mr. Stanfield's office asking for "protection." The statement was utterly false, he said. He had hitherto been able to take care of himself and had there been any danger—there had been none—he would not have asked for protection.

Closure Debate Resumed. The closure debate was resumed, and Mr. Oliver made his speech. As he frankly confessed when the speaker took him to task for irrelevancy he was very short of material and found it very hard to say anything. However, by dint of speaking very slowly and making long pauses between sentences he managed to keep going.

It also was by dint of mentioning a lot of things which had nothing to do with the case. Among those were: The number of dismissals effected by the present government. The alleged intimidation of home-seekers in Saskatchewan. The Saskatchewan provincial election. The MacDonald election. The duty on lumber.

A government which had done all these awful things, he said, could not be trusted to administer closure fairly. Lemieux Admits Necessity. Mr. Lemieux admitted that revision of the rules was necessary, and urged the government to effect it by referring the matter to a committee of the House. He went on to complain that the speaker of the House had been insulted.

In the evening Mr. Turgeon and Mr. Devin spoke. A. K. MacLean then made a speech of some length. In the course of which he submitted two points of order. The first was that the closure resolution was irregular because it had been moved a day too soon, in that notice should have been given of it by 5 o'clock on Monday, instead of at 10 o'clock. The speaker decided that this was invalid, the motion of the House having permitted resolutions to be moved on the same notice as that according to the order.

Mr. MacLean's second point of order was that two days' notice should be given of the previous question. The speaker took this into consideration. Mr. Graham followed, arguing that the new rule would enable the government to exercise tyranny at the expense of the younger members on their own side, and of independent members, as well as of the opposition. Referring to the naval bill he said that no constituency had voted for the present policy.

"Alas, alas," said Mr. Ames. "The government has introduced. I'll read you my own speech, if you like." Mr. MacLean's speech Mr. Graham's speech, Mr. Speaker decided against Mr. MacLean's second point. He had been in the House on three occasions when the previous question had been moved without notice. Mr. McNutt followed.

"We therefore commit his body to the ground, earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust, looking for the general resurrection at the last day and the life of the world to come. These were the words with which the financier's body was lowered into its grave at 3:40 o'clock. The Lord's Prayer was chanted by the mourners, and with benediction, the ceremonies, lasting scarcely ten minutes, were over.
