AN INTENSE DRAMA FOR NORTH END PEOPLE

Star Has a New Feature That Has Drawn the Attention of All Patrons of the Theatre.

This film shows the reasons underlying much of modern crime and gives the life history of three boys born of degenerate fathers, one of whom is a drunkard and the other a drug fiend. Because of this faulty parentage the boys are defective mentally, but not so much so as to be very evident. Owing to their environment they take to petty crimes and are brought before the children's court. They are then sent to physicians and psychologists to be examined by the Binet and other tests. Social workers visit their homes and on the strength of the reports are sent to the school for defective children. Interesting views of the various activities of Randall's Island are given, showing the intelligent supervision to which the boys are subjected.

A year later, the parents of Frank and John exercise their rights to take their children home, which they do, contrary to the advice of the physician in charge. Tom is forced to remain, since his father has died, due to an overdose of morphine. Frank, owing to his weak mentality, is easily influenced and falls prey to certain criminals. He is instigated to robbery and murder by these persons and pays the penalty for his crime by being sentenced to the electric chair. His brother commits arson and has the good fortune to be defended by a lawyer who has studied sociology and knows that the young man is irresponsible. He traces his life history, produces the early record of the children's court reports together with one from the Clearing House for mental defectives. On the strength of these reports John is committed to prison, this time permanently. In the meantime, Tom has grown to manhood on the island and unable to do himself or

Irvin S. Cobb Swaps Yarns With Our Mutual Girl and Her Aunt

Famous Author Telling One of His Darker Stories.

Our Mutual Girl is safe. Dunbar, the Man of Mystery, found her. He did it by a clever piece of detective work too.

Dunbar saw a well dressed young man walk up the steps of the home of Mrs. Knickerbocker, Margaret's aunt, and hesitate as he was about to ring the bell. He looked at a newspaper clipping and then hurried away.

Dunbar followed, and the young man, seeing that he was watched, broke into a run and jumped into an auto, which speeded away. Dunbar got in another car and followed. After a long chase through Westchester county Dunbar trailed the fugitive to his home.

Dunbar climbed through a window, went upstairs, opened a door and caught a glimpse of Margaret. Ordered out of the house, Dunbar forced a confession from the stranger, who gave the name of John Travers. He said that three weeks before his auto had struck Margaret, knocked her down and severely injured her. Being afraid of the police, he had taken Margaret to his home and turned her over to his mother and a physician.

Margaret was out of danger, and Travers was about to notify her aunt, he said. Dunbar volunteered to go for Mrs. Knickerbocker, and soon aunt and niece were again together.

The successful termination of the long search for Margaret may be seen by the public on and after June 22 in the coming chapter of Our Mutual Girl serial.

society an injury, passes a peaceful and happy existence.

"The answer is apparent to everyone who sees this film, that the best way is to prevent crime, that society may not suffer from it at the hands of mental defectives; that punishment after the crime as in the case of Frank is locking the barn door, after the horse is stolen; that in the case of John the permanent commitment to prison came only after great damage had been done; that in the case of Tom, the right and only method of handling such individuals was followed.

IMPERIAL WILL SHOW POLO GAMES TODAY. New Yorkers are the "wisest" people in the world. They don't have to prove it; they admit it. Witness the following incident, narrated by John Noth.

"I was walking through a cross street the other day and I saw several men holding a fine, new safe to a fifth floor window. The usual crowd of busy New Yorkers had gathered to help the moving men. All of a sudden the two-inch rope they were hoisting with broke and it ran through the block with a whirr! that could be heard a long way off. Of course, the safe came tumbling to the street. One of the sidewalk advisers jumped out of the way. Then with a look of incredulity and disgust, he said, 'Huh! Just another one of those darned movie stunts.'

IMPERIAL OFFERS MUCH NEXT WEEK

Big Films, New Musicians Polo Championships and St. John Fire of '77.

Great things are promised for Imperial patrons next week. On Monday the prime film feature will be a two-part Pathe story of the old pirating days on the Spanish Main. This is called "The Ghost," and has to do with a buried treasure and the projection of it. In the same bill the Hearst-Selig Weekly will be shown, dealing with sporting matters and war affairs.

Two additional features are to be introduced in Monday's programme in the line of films. These will be a review of the St. John Fire of 1877—it being the 37th anniversary today—and a repeat of today's championship polo games at Meadowbrook, L. I. Both these features should attract persons who like subjects other than fiction.

STANLEY LAWTON, Late of Sousa's Band, who joins the Imperial Theatre Festival Orchestra today.

Or course the splendid singing duo, Mellor and DePaula, will remain another week; they have only fairly commenced to give their best numbers. The Imperial Festival Orchestra will be strengthened by the introduction of Stanley Lawton, for seventeen years with Sousa's Band, and Harry Stevenson at the drums.

Wednesday's feature is to be a ball-throwing drama entitled "A Treador's Romance," pictured in sunny Spain, and on Friday and Saturday the Kabuki series will be resumed with the thrilling chapter "A Cruel Crown."

NEWSY NOTES FROM UNIQUE AND TYRIC

Miss Blanche Ring, the famous musical comedy star, will be seen at the Unique next Wednesday, and Thursday in a portion of her recent success, "When Claudia Smiles." This feature is presented in Chapter eleven of Our Mutual Girl serial.

Geo. Enos, assistant operator at the Lyric, who has been indisposed for some time, is again at the crank in the Lyric operating room.

The Morris Sisters in acrobatic dancing and late songs will be seen at the Lyric the first three days of next week.

The Lyric management hope to present the English comedian, Philip Lynch some time during the week of July sixth.

A remarkable feat is performed in the "Thanbuser oddity, 'An Hour of Youth,' at the Unique Monday when one of the performers enjoys a swim in an ice running river.

Mr. Arthur Mills, pianist at the Unique, now located in Truro, gave an organ recital there recently for which he received much praise.

The attic encounter in "Texas Bills Last Ride" at the Unique Monday and Tuesday is said to be one of the most startling scenes produced for some time.

Whitely in Bridgewater Mabelle Godfrey, pianist at the Lyric had the pleasure of hearing her recent song compositions "In Virginia- With You" rendered by an able vocalist. Miss Godfrey presided at the piano during the rendition and was tendered a hearty ovation by an audience that taxed the capacity of Crags and Fraser's pretty theatre.

The Keystone Company will show in detail How Motion Pictures are Made at the Unique next Friday and Saturday. This subject should prove very interesting.

Miss Elsie Metz, cashier at the Lyric, is spending a month's vacation in Boston.

The Tin Soldier and the Dolls has been especially imported by the Unique management for Kiddies' Day next Saturday afternoon.

Two fancy frames have been placed near the stage in the Lyric to announce coming features. This addition is a marked improvement.

W. J. Mills, who is claimed to be one of the most wonderful quick change artists and impersonators in vaudeville, will present his unique act at the Lyric the latter part of next week. His Miser from "The Chimes of Normandy" and "Cardinal Rich-

Not a Bad Man But a Comedian

This is William F. Young, known to newspaper men and sporting promoters all over the country as "Tammany" Young.

"Tammany" is a versatile and resourceful. Five years ago he saw a girl in a laundry, and he liked her looks. He asked her to go to a show with him, and she refused. This made "Tammany" like her better than ever. His courtship progressed slowly for two years, but finally the girl (she was Miss Mae Gertrude Savage of 142 West Thirty-sixth street, New York) went to the theatre to see her admirer act. This did not make her think any more of him, for he was playing the role of a "tough guy."

Six months ago Mr. Young bought the laundry and made Miss Savage manager. A few weeks ago he journeyed from California to New York, and they were married, and now Mr. Young manages "Tammany" and the laundry too.

lieu" are said to be wonderful student. Mills makes his changes in full view of the audience.

A massive Japanese spectacle entitled "O Mimi Sui" will be shown at the Unique week of June 23.

S. C. Harley left Thursday on a business trip through Nova Scotia.

Prince and La Polita, refined exponents of the Tango and Maxixe, have been booked for the Dominion Day special feature at the Lyric.

THE GEM LEADS OFF WITH STELLAR SHOW

Pictures and Musical Numbers For the Waterloo Street Theatre Will Be High Class.

A good story of peeps behind the scenes in theatrical life is always refreshing, and when produced by such clever players as the Lubin Co., with the popular artists Arthur Johnson and Lottie Briscoe in leading roles, it is even more delightful than usual. Such a feature has been billed for the Gem Theatre for Monday and Tuesday next. The story deals with the elevation of a young woman from the slums. It is entitled "Regeneration" and is presented by a strong cast of Kalem players. The story deals with the uplift of a young man and a lucky accident which puts him into good circumstances, and then the interest in a young woman elevated from a position such as his was.

The series of Edison features "The WAS TROUBLED WITH BOILS AND CARBUNCLES.

There is no more frequent source of illness than that arising from bad blood, for when the blood becomes impure, it is only natural that boils, pimples or some other indication of bad blood should break out of the system.

Boils in themselves are not a dangerous trouble, but still at the same time are very painful, and the only way to get rid of them is to cleanse the blood of the impurities. Cleanse it thoroughly by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, that old and reliable blood medicine that has been on the market for nearly forty years.

Mr. James Wilds, Plaster Rock, N.B., writes: "I was greatly troubled, a few years ago, with boils and carbuncles, and the doctor told me I was in a bad condition. My appetite failed me, I began to lose strength, and was pretty well run down when one of my friends recommended Burdock Blood Bitters. After using a few bottles I began to feel like another man. My troubles soon left me, and to-day I can certainly give Burdock Blood Bitters a high recommendation to my friends."

Man Who Disappeared," being shown in collaboration with the Popular magazine, with Marc McDermott appearing in the leading role, are proving most attractive. Each picture shown thus far had met with a pleasing reception. Another in the series entitled "The Light on the Wall," will be given for the week-end show at the Gem. based on another daring adventure of McDermott in company with a pretty girl, both of whom have fallen into the hands of a gang of ruffians.

ROBBER. Wallace Reid, of the Reliance and Majestic companies, recently was robbed at his home in Los Angeles. He had gone out to try his new car, when the burglars broke in through a window. They made off with five suits of clothes, several pairs of trousers, an overcoat, shirts and underwear. When Mr. Reid went to the studio next morning he told his friends that every stitch of clothing he then owned he had on his back.
