

BRITISH WRITERS WERE HAPPY HERE

Visiting Newspaper Men Enjoyed "A Real Holiday"

ST. JOHN SPEEDS THE PARTING GUESTS

Drive, Luncheon and Trip on Ludlow to Watters' Landing Features of the Day—Will Have Good Things to Write About New Brunswick.

Although their visit to St. John Thursday lasted but twelve hours, the party of British journalists who for the last five weeks have been touring Canada, carried away the pleasant recollections of Canada's winter port when they left for Quebec last evening. A drive to points of interest in the morning, a luncheon at the Union Club at noon, followed by a river trip to Watters' Landing on the Ludlow comprised the programme during their stay. In the words of two of their number they had no more pleasant experience during their tour, they enjoyed a real holiday, and could look back on the few hours spent here as the best day of all.

Friday they sailed on the steamer Virginia for home, and to St. John, therefore, fell the honor of speeding the dominion's parting guests. A poem commemorative of their tour was read by B. McConkey, the president of the party, in the course of his speech on the conclusion of the river trip.

The party consisted of: Barclay McConkey, representing a series of newspapers, including the Telegraph, Irish Telegraph, Larne Times and Ballymena Telegraph, who acted as president during the tour; David L. C. Smith, editor of the Advertiser; Charles W. Starnes, representing the Northwestern Echo, Darlington, the Yorkshire Gazette and South Durham; W. L. Longstaff, a member of the Darlington town council; W. Longstaff, of the Newcastle Chronicle; Rowley Ellison, B. A., LL. B., of Ipswich, leader-writer of the East Anglian Daily Times; W. Redwood, of Bristol, managing reporter of the Western Daily Press; Joseph Cooke, managing director of the Sheffield Daily Independent; and representative of the Doncaster Gazette and Boston Guardian. Mr. Cooke is an alderman of Boston and was twice elected mayor of that town; also a Washington correspondent of the London Times, H. J. Elliott.

They were accompanied by W. J. White, Canadian government inspector of immigration agencies in the C. P. R.; J. B. Lamb, of the C. P. R.; J. B. Lamb, passenger agent of the I. C. R.; and W. L. Craig, advertising agent of the I. C. R. While in St. John C. Bogue Smart, of the department of the interior, who happened to be in the city, also joined the party.

W. Attenborough, of the Manchester Guardian, was detained by illness in Montreal. J. T. Dunford, of the Bridgewater Mercury, remained with him.

The visitors arrived from Halifax in their private car at 6.20 a. m. and were early astir. At 9 o'clock a delegation from the St. John press, accompanied by the mayor, Dr. J. W. Daniel, M. P., George Robertson, M. P., and H. B. Schofield, of the board of trade, called to extend a welcome to St. John. After the usual introductions the party were photographed and, boarding two bookborders, went for a drive round the city. Roadside stands were visited and greatly pleased the visitors with its rugged natural beauty. After making a circle of the lake the road past Fort Howe was taken, a brief stop being made at the highest point to give a bird's-eye view of St. John and the harbor.

Proceeding along Main street and Douglas avenue, the suspension bridge was crossed and the drive was continued by way of Lancaster Heights and Carleton to the ferry. While passing down the river wharf the visitors obtained an excellent view of the facilities of the winter port and were enabled to see the methods employed in building the new Clarke wharf. Crossing the bridge, a brief stop was made at city hall and the party then dispersed to follow their own devices until noon, when they were entertained at luncheon in the Union Club.

The luncheon was given by the local newspaper men, editors and managers of the different papers being present, together with Mayor Sears, Dr. Daniel, M. P., and George Robertson, M. P., and H. B. Schofield.

Senator Ellis presided, with Mr. McConkey, president of the visiting party, at his right hand and Mayor Sears and Dr. J. W. Daniel at his left. Mr. O'Brien was vice chairman. The table was adorned with flowers and the menu disclosed a tempting list of edibles. The card was a very dainty affair, and included pictures of local scenes.

When the hour for adjournment was near, the health of the King was drunk with enthusiasm, and Senator Ellis then toasted the British journalists and bade them a hearty welcome.

Mr. McConkey replied. He said he in St. John sang Jolly Good fellows with more vim than they felt noticed elsewhere, and they felt very much at home here. He spoke of the beauty and general attractiveness of the maritime provinces and said he should have some benefit from immigration, promised that the sea coast provinces of the Dominion should have good treatment in the papers, and closed with an expression of thanks for the entertainment given them here.

Away on the Ludlow.

Impatient toots from the Ludlow as they lay at the east side ferry slip, summoned the party from the Union Club about 1.15 p. m., and it was not the half hour before all were on board. Owing to the delay it was found impossible to take in both the inspection of the harbor and the river trip, so the former was reluctantly abandoned. The outing was part of the city's programme of entertainment in addition to the visitors and their official friends, among those on board were: The Mayor, Ald. McGoldrick, McGowan, Lewis, Lantulum, Frisbie, Christie, Holder, Kelley, Sprague, W. L. Longstaff, Sprague, Ex-Ald. Tilley, Rowan, Brennan and McArthur. W. Murdoch, James Pender, J. A. Lohely, John J. Gorton, W. C. B. Allen, J. H. Dooey, H. M. Hopper, W. B. Howard, C. P. R., D. P. A., Walter Brown, train master, C. P. R., J. R. Gilliland, George McArthur, W. Hawker, T. O'Brien, H. Fleming, A. C. Currie, H. A. Brown, J. W. Gardiner (Montreal Star), Frank B. Ellis (Globe), C. F. Cran-dell (Sun), and a representative of the Telegraph. Captain Ferris, the harbor master, was at the helm, with Capt. McCaffrey in the wheel house, and W. B. Poirer was the engineer in charge below decks.

The appearance of the Ludlow, replenished in her new coat of navy gray and flying the Union Jack and Canadian ensign, was the signal for a hearty cheer from the men on the wharves and discordant shrieks of greeting from the tugboats. The passage through the falls and the sail up the river to Watters' Landing passed without incident. A running lunch was provided on board and was done full justice to and the various points of interest such as the Boar's Head, the Nereis bridge and the Prince of Wales oak, were pointed out to the visitors.

On arrival at Watters' Landing about 3.30 o'clock the party landed for a stroll beneath the trees. Major Gordon was persuaded to dance a highland jig and some of the visitors took snap shots of the neighborhood. The development of one picture in which a stray calf figures prominently was awaited with interest. A return to the steamer was made about 4 o'clock, the party being photographed on the beach before going on board. The sail Indiantown was tried out under ideal weather conditions. The sun came out from behind the clouds and a pleasant breeze was blowing.

Some Speech-making.

As the voyage drew to a close the party assembled in the cabin of the Ludlow for a graceful speech expressing the pleasure the city felt in welcoming the visitors. He regretted that the limit of their stay was so short that they must content themselves with a brief visit, especially Fredrickson, the captain. The river St. John the citizens regarded as the most beautiful waterway in the world and at the short time at their disposal they had endeavored to show them some of its scenery. After a reference to the tour and to the feeling that they must content themselves with a brief visit, he concluded by calling for three cheers for the representatives of the British press, and then Mr. McGoldrick spoke briefly, expressing the hope that on their return they would not forget the friends they had made in St. John.

James Pender, for the manufacturing interests in the city, also said a few words in which he expressed the hope that the visitors had had a most enjoyable trip and would give St. John a prominent position in future accounts of their journey.

Mr. McConkey, in reply, after thanking the speakers for their remarks, said the trip had been a most delightful one and they had no more pleasant experience during their stay in Canada. It was better to be a member of the Darlington town council, he added, than a poet who desired to remain unknown and with their permission he would read them a short poem. Mr. McConkey then read as follows:

TO CANADA.

(From a party of British journalists, after a visit to the Dominion, July 28-Aug. 29, 1907.)

Widened rise your rich domains,
Holding captive stranger eyes—
Garden of Eden, golden plains,
Flowing under urban skies.
Vastness, grandeur, fruitful loam,
Clustered homesteads, homesteads lone,
Lured lines of smoke and steam,
Where men call their souls their own.
Verdant deeps, majestic heights,
Plank you for the nation's pride,
Tumbling falls in endless files,
Rear and crown in grandest hymn.

Scenic splendors of our earth,
Lost in cloud-filled distances,
Share their glory on your earth,
Rozal in their radiance.
Earth's abundance, nature's lap,
Earth's strong contours line your face,
In your veins earth's richest sap,
Fit you for the nation's pride,
You are ten-fold by the tale
Of the great things that are done,
Cruelty, rugged mount—the trail
Froder by your hardy men.

Yes, measured gifts of God,
Mark you chosen of his call;
But the men who turned your soil
Are the greatest gift of all.
Wanderers, they sought your shore,
O'er the sea, they came to you,
Raw and ruthless like the bore,
And the rugged mountains too,
Largess from their boundless hearts
To the poor who are, they are,
Of themselves, lords of their lands.

This thought we carry home,
That the burden of our pen,
Far-dung under Heaven's dome,
You are the nation's pride,
From their eyes a new world's dawn,
Gleams from the rugged loam,
Shine, home and brain are drawn,
Steadfastly to your land.
For your distant brethren, run—
Crowning all your glories stand
Foremost your adopted sons!

"In the name of my colleagues and myself," concluded Mr. McConkey, "thank you for this magnificent cup you have placed on our tour."

Rule Britannia, Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King were sung as the Ludlow drew to the wharf at Indiantown about 5.30 p. m. A special car, provided by the St. John Railway Company, quickly carried the party to Quebec, where they spent some time in seeing the stores and buying souvenirs.

The visitors' private car was attached to the party for Quebec, where they left at 7 o'clock and the mayor, George Robertson, M. P., and several of the city newspaper men went on board to say goodbye.

His worship was toasted with hearty cheers and musical honors and after a brief reply, called on C. W. Starnes, of Darlington, for speech. Mr. Starnes said they had enjoyed the best day of their tour. In many of the other cities visited they had seen the same things, but in St. John they had a real holiday. They were leaving with a very pleasant recollection of New Brunswick and would not forget to recommend its attractions on their return. He thanked the mayor and their brethren on the St. John press and hoped some day to meet them in the old country and make some return for their kindness.

Before the train drew out the visitors sang The Maple Leaf in hearty fashion. Their hosts responded with Will Ye No Come Back Again and God Save the King brought to a close a visit which will be pleasantly remembered.

President McConkey Interviewed.

In conversation with Mr. McConkey, the Telegraph representative learned that the president of the British party had visited Canada on a similar trip four years ago but did not have an opportunity of seeing the maritime provinces. He was tained by business in Ottawa. Comparing the west then with its condition today, he said he saw great changes. Places which could boast of but three or four houses were now busy towns.

Mr. McConkey showed much interest in the labor question as it affects New Brunswick and inquired as to the farming possibilities and the capital required by intending immigrants. The Ellinore Home farm at Nainewegauk was mentioned and the system of bringing out young children to grow up in Canada and become Canadian farmers met with his hearty approval. He regretted, he said, that he did not permit a visit to the farm but both his colleagues and himself would on their return give the movement every encouragement and support through the medium of their journals.

FIREMEN HAVE NEARLY ALL READY

Long List of Entries Promise Great Sport on Barrack Green—The Programme.

The arrangements for the firemen's tournament next Monday and Tuesday are almost completed. There are some items yet to be decided on, such as the time for starting the parade, which was announced for 10.30 Monday forenoon. It may be that it will start half an hour earlier on account of the pressure of other parts of the programme.

It is known now that very nearly 500 firemen will take part in the tournament. Nearly all the hotels and boarding houses of the city will be taxed to accommodate these and thousands of the friends of the departments, who will accompany them.

It is affirmed that the parade will excel anything of the kind ever seen in the maritime provinces. Those who are coming from outside points have been at great pains to decorate the apparatus they will bring, and the local men have spent the evenings for weeks past at the same work.

There will be thirteen events in the list of sports to be held on the Barrack Square. These have been all filled out in such a manner as to guarantee an exhibition, the like of which has been rarely witnessed in this part of Canada. The following is the complete list of events, entries and prizes, as far as received:

CONSERVATIVES TO HOLD CONVENTION SOON

Mr. Borden's Visit Confirms Decision That City and County Be Contested.

The Conservative party of St. John and county will hold a convention within a few days to put in the field a candidate to oppose Hon. Wm. Pugsley for the vacant city and county seat.

When R. L. Borden, the opposition leader, was here this week, the St. John situation was under discussion and Mr. Borden expressed the hope that the constituency should be contested. The matter will come before a convention but the call for the meeting has not yet been issued as the date has not been determined on.
