QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

ECZEMA.

Collie has a breaking out on each side of his nose. He was fed largely on meat during the winter. He is quite healthy, and feels well. H. McC.

Ans.—Get an ointment of three drams bismuth to an ounce of vaseline. Dress the parts, three times daily, with this, and give him a teaspoonful of sulphur once daily. Feed no meat or sweet stuff. V.

Miscellaneous

FEEDING A STALLION.

1. Is flaxseed a benefit, or is it in any way injurious if fed to a stallion through the season?

2. What is the best way to feed a Clydesdale stallion through the season, and about how much feed (grain) should he get each day?

Ans.—1. Flaxseed is a beneficent feed fed an ounce a day to a stallion through the season, and one can safely give about one-half cupful.

2. The best of judgment is required to feed a stallion through the season, and by that is meant that every groom must be a judge of quantity, as stallions differ very much in their requirements. Not too much hay, bruised oats in such quantity as they will always dispose of, and some bran. A pinch of buchu leaves should be used once a day instead of saltpetre. Oats seem to be the natural feed of work horses, and this is equally true of the stallion. Wheat and barley, even if boiled, are treacherous.

BLINDNESS IN SHEEP.

What do you think would cause a ewe to go stone blind? The eye looks quite natural, but the sheep eats but little, and grinds her teeth. She stands in the corner with her head resting on the boards. Is there any danger of the other sheep taking this from her?

J. M.

Ans.—We should judge that this is not infectious, but is probably due either to acute indigestion or to congestion of the brain. In such cases a purgative of a quarter of a pound of Epsom salts should be given, followed by a tonic of a dessertspoonful of gentian and a teaspoonful of ginger given in gruel as a drench for a few days, until the appetite is renewed.

TRADE TOPICS

MODERN POTATO DIGGING.—Mr. Broughton, of Sarnia, Ont., advertises in "The Farmer's Advocate" "Hallock's potato digger." It is a two-horse implement, which digs, sorts and bags the potatoes. After a thorough test on his own farm, Mr. Broughton found it exactly what is required by up-to-date potato-growers, and he would like them to know about it. He will send a catalogue that tells all about it. Read his advertisement, and get the pamphlet.

HAVE YOU GOT YOURS?—After much trouble and expense, the Sharples Separator Co. succeeded beyond their hopes in reproducing from life, in the softest and damtiest colors, probably the sweetest dairy maid ever offered by any cream separator company as a free picture. The demand for this picture has been so great that the first lot was quickly exhausted. The Sharples Separator Co. has ordered more. Send at once to the Sharples Separator Co., West Chester, Pa., the names and addresses of five farmers who keep cows but have no Tubular Cream Separator, and the Sharples Separator Co. will mail to you, in return, the picture of the 1907 Girl free from printing and large enough for framing. Write the names plainly. Give your own name and address clearly. You must mention the name of "The Farmer's Advocate" to get the picture. The Sharples Separator Co. has a limited number of wall calendars, and will send one of them free, with each picture, as long as the calendars last. If you want both, write at once.

Because You Need The Money

It's your business and if you don't attend to it, who will? You cannot afford to keep cows for fun. That isn't business, and, furthermore, it isn't necessary. There is money in cow keeping if you go at it right, and besides there is more fun in going at it right than there is in staying wrong.

You need a Tubular Cream Separator because it will make money for you; because it saves labor; because it saves time; because it means all the difference between cow profits and cow losses.

Look into this matter; see what a Tubular will do for you and buy one because you need it.

How would you like our book "Business Dairying" and our catalog B. 18 both free. Write for them.
