Harper's Bazaar, on table manners, says: "Do not betray by any gesture that you are hungry." Certainly not. For, of course, no one is supposed to go to the table to satisfy his appetite; it is a mere form. Any indication that you go there because you want something to eat is very ill-bred.—Boston Post.

He looked up very humbly, and said he He looked ap very humbly, and said he was sorry to be found in such a place, but he could assure the court that he was never in the prisoner's box before.
