Disastrous Fire. — A disastrous fire occurred on Dundas street, between Burwell and Maitland streets, on Sunday morning. The fire brigade turued out, and were quickly on the spot. Upon their arrival they found the butcher's store, occupied by Messrs. Kemp and Barlow, and owned by Philip Cook, in a blaze; the west side of Mr. Bridle's three story frame house, which is only a few feet from the butcher's store, was also in a blaze. There was regular hurricane blowing from the west, and the flames leapt with fierce fury from story to story, until the house was entirley destroyed. The firemen seeing that there was no hope of saving the adjoining building, over which the flames were carried by the fearful wind-storm raging. After a desperate fight they succeeded in subduing the fire. The butcher's shop and the frame house occupied by Mr. Bridle were totally consumed. The brick store in front of it, and occupied by Mr. Bridle, was also gutted, a large stock of confectionary being destroyed. DISASTROUS FIRE. - A disastrous f
