From Kaladar to Bon Echo

THE Summer of 1916 was late in yielding its wealth of crops on account of a long wet June.

But Emerson's Law of Compensation usually gets in its work and what is lost in June is made up for in July or August or September, and the man who sees nothing more in a perfect day than a weather breeder is missing the best of life.

It was the last day of June that I started with the old stage driver, (whose name, McCausland, denotes his sturdy Scotch ancestry) from Kaladar Station to drive to the foot of Lake Massanoga, thence to Bon Echo by water.

I have motored over this same road in a brand new Cadillac car, also in a second hand Ford runabout, but to get the real quintessence of enjoyment, you must go by stage and sit in the
