

What Society is doing

FOOTSTEPS.
(By Henry Chappell.)
Dead son of mine, when first two
With step untraced a league-
long yard.
Then in my heart your throne was
set complete,
And love about you mounted royal
guard.
For you 'twixt wroght, adventur-
ous, planned,
Nor dreamt that I was building
on the sand.
Then eager steps a hundred times a day
Raced up the stair and down and in
and out,
Luring me on to join the boyish
play;
Making me one in prank and merry
pout.
Day was a garden lit by sunny
beams,
And night another day of happy
dreams.
With every passing year my burdens
fell,
For you, my son and friend, took up the lead.
Love came to you, and all the world
went wild,
And life stretched out before, a shining road.
I saw the promise fair of youth
unfold,
And all my harvest ripening to
gold.
Then came the call, the parting and
the pain,
When hands alone had voice to say good-bye.
Now death has trampled down the
golden grain,
And all my places in ruins lie.
O costly lays that sacrifice has won,
The throne is empty, I have lost
England's son,
You were mine own; to England,
one son more
Of legions who for her have borne
the cross
And laid it down on weary hearts
and sore.
I take my cross, and if my heart
be bowed
The parent mourns, the patriot is proud.
Dead son of mine it may be that you
know, Grieve for my grief, and sorrow for
my tears,
So for your sake the tide shall only
flow,
I lift my head and face the empty
years.
Day with its memories of bitter-
sweet,
Night with its echoes of a soldier's feet.

"It is new—and it is wonderful"

IN a moment of curiosity I stepped in to see and hear this new phonograph. I had no idea what a surprise I was due for.

"The young man who volunteered to demonstrate the Vocellion for me chose as his first record an 'Ave Maria' played by Eugene Ysaye.

"The Vocellion sounded the first notes.

"Have you ever been really thrilled by music from a phonograph? I never had until that moment. The tones the Vocellion was bringing from the record were true violin tones—none of the richness, the appealing qualities produced by the instrument's low were lost.

"Record after record was played for me. I sat entranced, gripped by the marvelous naturalness.

"Then I tried the Gradualo, the Vocellion expression device I had heard so much about. I drew the tone to a fine pianissimo. I pressed it to its fullest volume—I controlled the notes of the record.

"The pleasure of it—I can't describe. You must try yourself.

"So my views on the phonograph have been completely reversed. It is new and wonderful—this phonograph, the Aeolian-Vocellion."

The AEOLIAN-VOCALION
We invite you to come in and test the perfection of its reproductions.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 13

ABRAM'S GENEROUS TREATMENT OF LOT.

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 13:11; 14:14-16. GOLDEN TEXT—A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity. DEVOTIONAL READING—Romans 9:1-24.

DEVOTIONAL MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS—Genesis 13:14-24; 14:14-24.

I. Abram and Lot Return From Egypt (vv. 1-4).
Abram went into Egypt because of a famine. No doubt the famine was sent in judgment for the sins of the people, but also for Abram's sake. He needed the grace of his heart developed. He needed to be less selfish, to be more of his own heart, and the faithfulness of God. The child of God is not promised exemption from trials, but grace sufficient to endure them. Abram failed. In the midst of his trials he went off to Egypt without God's direction, where he got into trouble. To take one's own way always brings him into trouble. His expedient to save his life was unworthy of Abram. He lied, and a lie is never justifiable. It is much better to die than to lie. Abram by prevarication deceived the king, but as soon as the truth was known he was thrust out. Though Abram had stayed from the path of way of faith, he had the good sense to go "unto the place where his tent had been in the beginning, where the altar was." This showed that he was willing to confess his mistake, and begin life over again. This Egypt experience was a loss spiritually to Abram, though he became rich there. Increase of riches is no sign that a man is in fellowship with God.

II. Abram and Lot Separate (vv. 5-11).

The goods of both Abram and Lot greatly increased. When they attempted to settle down, trouble arose between their herdsmen. This is the first over financial matter between relatives. Jealousy and strife between men, their enmity and selfishness in men. Many times members of the same family are estranged from each other through strife for wealth. For the chosen of God must be wealthy when they are rich and contented when they are poor. The enemy of the Lord's people looks out "The Canaanite" and the Perizzite dwell then in the land" (v. 7). It is had enough for God's children to quarrel, but to do so in the presence of the world which delights therein is greatly to dishonor their Father. It is a fine example of the art of living together peacefully. The disgraceful situation was relieved by a generous proposition from Abram. Lot was allowed his choice. Separation is sometimes necessary, though he owed all to Abram, his selfish heart caused him to grasp for the best. Lot's action shows that his stay in Egypt was ruinous to him. Perhaps he chose the plains of the Jordan because of their resemblance to Egypt. One cannot go into Egypt without being affected by it. This was a fatal choice for Lot. The motive which drove him was worldly advantage. Though he for awhile prospered, it was an expensive undertaking for him. Lot with all his goods was taken away when the confederate kings came against Sodom. He is an example of one saved so as by fire (I Cor. 3:11-15). He set his affections upon earthly things, and the time came when he had to separate from them. The world and its lusts pass away, but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever (I John 2:15-17). Lot was not wholly corrupt; he was a man who allowed the world to get the better of him. Once his money and his family were in Sodom he simply endured the wickedness, longing to escape from it (II Peter 2:6-8).

III. Abram Delivers Lot (Genesis 14:14-16).

Though Lot's trouble was the result of his selfish choice, Abram's magnanimity of soul expressed itself, taking up arms to deliver him from the oppressor. This was because Abram was a man of faith. Faith trusts God and fights for the right.
While Lot suffered from his evil choice, Abram was greatly prospered. He grew rich in temporal things, while at the same time he was rich toward God. It was much better to have God and a poor piece of land, than a rich piece of land without God. When Lot was involved in the ruin of his evil choice Abram had the power to deliver him. Abram's whole life shows that those who make obedience to God first get the needed worldly gain (I Kings 10:23; Matthew 6:33).

Scripture Penetrates.

So far as I have observed God's dealings with my soul, the light of preachers sometimes entertained me, but it was Scripture expressions that did penetrate my heart, and in a way bearing to themselves.—John Brown Harding.

What Are They?

Best are they who, best undone,
Best by faith in God's own Son;
Best, who take his precious blood
Through to the eternal God.
They by truth are thus set free,
Rock of Ages, hid in Thee.
