HER LOST COLONIES

By the surrender of the last German forces in German East Africa, Germany has lost the last of her overseas possessions, a territory embracing 180,000 square miles, with potential wealth that is incalculable, as little is known of the mineral wealth beyond the fact that it is immense. With it seven hundred miles of railway have fallen into the hands of the allies, which will be made into a link in the Cape-to-Cairo railway system, which has, heretofore, been forbidden to cross German territory.

The other colonies and dependencies which have fallen to the allies since August 1914 are as follows:

Togoland, captured by a Franco-British force August 26, 1914; area 33,700 square miles. In 1914 estimated revenue $875,000 and expenditures $1,450,000. In 1913 imports were valued at 10,600,000 marks and exports at 1,300,000 marks.

German Samoa, captured by a New Zealand expedition, August 30, 1914; area 1,000 (Savali and Upolu). In 1914 estimated revenue $2,975,000 and expenditures $3,450,000. In 1913 imports valued at 5,700,000 marks and exports at 5,300,000 marks.

German New Guinea, consisting of Kaiser Wilhelm's Land (70,000 square miles), Bismark Archipelago (20,000 square miles), captured by an Australian expedition September 11, 1914. Imports 5,872,000 marks and exports 5,041,000.

Caroline, Solomon, Marshall Islands, captured by the Japanese, October 7, 1914; area 10,500 square miles. Revenue estimated at $525,000 and expenditures at $975,500.

Kiao-Chan, surrendered to a Japanese and British force, former taking precedence, November 7, 1914; area 300 square miles. Revenue for 1914 estimated at 5,060,000 marks and expenditures at 18,410,000. In 1912 imports valued at 121,254,000 marks, and exports at 79,640,000.

German Southwest Africa was captured by General Botha with the Union of South Africa troops, July 9, 1915; area 322,450 square miles. In 1914, estimated revenue $5,875,000, and expenditure 10,085,000. In 1913, import ports 5,872,000 marks and exports 5,910,000 marks.

The Kamerun was completely occupied by a Franco-British force Feb. 18, 1916; area 300,000 square miles. In 1914, estimated revenue, $2,827,500, and expenditure, $4,315,000. In 1913, imports valued at 34,600,000 marks, and exports 29,100,000 marks.

100 SERBS FOR THE WAR

Chicago, Dec. 30 — One thousand Serbs departed from Chicago today for the east on their way to Europe to help retake their native homes from the Austrians and Bulgarians.

In a Kansas town where two brothers are engaged in the retail coal business a revival was recently held and the elder of the brothers was converted. For weeks he tried to persuade his brother to join the church. One day he asked: "Why can't you join the church like I did?" "It's a long thing for you to belong to the church," replied the younger brother. "If I join who'll weight the coal?"

BIGGEST BOYCOTT IN HISTORY

The Germans have lately been trying to make out a case for the retention of the stolen provinces, Alsace and Lorraine, or the ground that they are pro-German. But there never was a worse case in the history of man. For forty years and more the Germans have tried repression, terror, and bribery, but they are farther from reconciling the Alsations and Lorrainers to their rule today than they were in 1870.

The Alsations and Lorrainers do not exist for them. They pass him in the street as if he were invisible. If the Germans get up a fete, a ball, a concert, Germans alone are seen there.

Even the parks and tea gardens chosen by Germans as their resorts are out of bounds to the natives of the provinces. No German ever gets across the doorstep of an Alsation or Lorrainer except at the point of the bayonet or sword, or, if there should be such admission, the family is beheaded outcast, parish.

Occasionally love steps in, as it will, and makes a breach. Some young German falls in love with an Alsation maid and wins her affections and marries her. She goes to her nuptials alone. Henceforth that girl is a stranger.

GENERAL LOOMIS EXPECTS CLIMAX OF WAR IN 1918.

After over three years of war service, Brigadier-General F. W. Loomis, commanding the second brigade of the first division of the Canadian force in France arrived in Montreal recently on a three months leave of absence.

Discussing the war situation, the general said: "I think the climax must come next season. And it behooves us all to appreciate what we have been told that this is a very anxious time, and everybody should be doing everything they can do to bring a bout the success which can only be achieved by a united effort. The Germans are carrying on their political intrigues in Canada and even in Montreal, just as elsewhere. They are spreading suggestions about their own conditions, about their starving and lack of material on purpose, so as to dissuade us from making our extreme effort. No attention should be paid to them. Every help that is possible should be given at this moment and there should be no slackening of effort, the troops should be backed up by every resource in the Dominion until victory is achieved."

HAD SAVED MONEY

The exile had saved a bit of money, and came back to his native land for a holiday. There he met an old school fellow, and started to tell him of his success as an athlete.

"Just before I came back," he mentioned modestly, "I won a gold medal for a hundred yards' sprint."

"Good for you," said his old friend. "I've got trophies, too. I've got gold medals for the half mile, the mile, and the five-mile races; five silver cups for swimming, a marble clock and some more cups for cycling, and two or three belts for boxing and wrestling."

His old friend started at him in amazement. "Shure," he gasped. "It's the common athlete you are, isn't it?"

"Not at all!" was the grinning reply. "Not at all! my boy. I keep a pawnbroker's shop."
