What is Going on in Baseball
and Other Athletic Games.

News, Local and Telegraphic, Gathered From Reliable Sources.

Yesterday's exhibition work-out, with the D.A.C. team, gives ground for the belief that Chatham will this year come well up in the race. True, the contest was not won, that was not Manager Black's primary intention. But the players all had excellent practice and, barring a little nervousness and uncertainty of the early season with its lack of practice, did well. The quartette of twirlers were all given an opportunity for work. Wilson took the first three innings and let the visitors down with one ground hit, which on the perfect diamond would easily have been cut off. He made a very favorable impression. Hale, who followed, did not fare so well. This youngster had splendid speed and lots of kinks and benders, but was decidedly nervous and had a bad attack of stage fright in the sixth inning, which proved disastrous to the rest of the game. Many, however, are of opinion that he will round into good shape and soon get control. Denean followed for two innings and handled them up a little wild, but with considerable caution. Habel, who took the last innings and had things all his own way, striking out two of the batters who faced him.

The team on the whole worked well. Runners and Boyd did the back-swinging. Shorty is as reliable as ever, while the new man, although a little nervous at the opening, made a splendid impression and his throwing is calculated to make base-runners cautious.

Capt. Grimshaw, on first, knows how to play the position and demonstrated it. Fullmer, on second, worked hard and it was pleasant to see him consistently backing the throws to first. Manager Black decorated short-field, and handled a couple of warm ones in good style. Handboe, on third, is a likely young man and handles himself well. In the outfield Conklin was the stellar attraction and played a phenomenal game. Little in left made a clever capture, and Black in right had only one chance, which he was somewhat slow in getting after.

With the stick the Reds did not do much yesterday. Barrett was very speedy and it was hard to connect with the ball at such an early stage in the season. Pitcher Wilson opened the batting with a scorching two-bagger.

DIAMOND DUST.
Shortstop Tim O'Connell did the umpiring, and did it well.

And now to get into condition for London and the opening day.
The attendance comprised 350 in the grounds and about 2,000 around the fences.

If Conklin keeps up the clip he set yesterday he will be the star outfielder of the league.

Catcher Fred Phelps, of the D. A. C., formerly of the Reds, was given the glad hand when he came to bat.

GIVING OUT RELIEF.

Ottawa, May 4.—The Rideau Rink presented an animated scene at the active distribution of articles of apparel took place there. Outside the rink the crush was great, as hundreds of sufferers stood around awaiting their turn for admission. Only clothing was being distributed to-day.

About 25 people were admitted in a bunch, and the distributing committee handed out the articles, which consisted of bedding, clothing for men, women and children, boots and shoes and stockings and socks.

The clothing was handed to the people in the different departments, and the order calling for such was examined at a door through which the people were allowed to pass out. It is estimated that there is in the Rideau Rink $5,000 worth of goods.

THE TWO LETTERS

That Passed Between Our Savior and King Agrippa

Found Carved Over the Palace of the Old Kings of Ephesus.

New York, May 4.—The Herald and the Journal and Advertiser print special cables from London and Rome respectively which say that two letters, one from King Agrippa to Christ, and the other from the Savior to the King, in reply—letters referred to by Eusebius in the fourth century—have been discovered, after being lost for 1800 years. The letter from King Agrippa to Christ reads:—

"I have heard of Thee and the cures wrought by Thee, without herb or medicine, is reported that for it Thou restorest sight to the blind and maketh the lame walk, cleanseth the leper, raiseth the dead, chasest out devils and unclean spirits, and healest those that are tormented of diseases of long continuance."

"Hearing all this of Thee, I was fully persuaded that Thou art the very God come down from Heaven to do such and such, or that Thou art the Son of God, and performest them. Wherefore I have sent Thee a few lines, entreating Thee to come hither and cure my diseases, besides—"

"Hearing these things, however, I have not sent Thee, but after my accession I invite Thee to my city, which is but a little one, but is beautiful and sufficient to entertain us both."

"Blessed art thou for believing me, whom thou hast not seen, for it is written of me that they that have seen me shall not believe, and they that have not seen me shall believe, and be saved. But, concerning the matter thou hast written about, this is to acquaint thee that all things for which I was sent hither must be fulfilled, and then I shall be taken up and returned to Him that sent me. But after my accession I will send one of my disciples, that shall cure thee of thy distemper and give life to all them that are with thee."

The Journal and Advertiser says:—
"The special cable from Rome purports to prove the truth of the tradition that is almost as ancient as Christianity. Of course The Journal cannot vouch for the truth of the statements which were made yesterday."

April 30th, by Professor Bohrmann, of Victoria University to the Archaeological Congress in Rome, but they are of intense interest. The cable message continues:—Professor Bohrmann announced that these letters had been discovered carved in stone, of the gateway of the old palace of the Kings of Ephesus, and that they were undoubtedly the letters referred to by Eusebius and other early writers, according to whom they were written in Syro-Chaldae characters, and originally discovered under a stone, eighty-four miles from the City of Iosmum, in the year 17, and then lost. Fragments purporting to be the original were declared spurious by Pope Leo XIII. Professor Bohrmann says this discovery proves that such letters were written, and supplies the full text.

A special from London is also printed, in which Professor George Robert Milne-Murray, keeper of the Department of Botany and Natural History in the British Museum, is quoted as saying that the inscription was undoubtedly genuine. Professor Murray has been shown a fac-simile.

LIBRARY AFFAIRS

The library board met on Wednesday evening. There were present, Chairman Twohey, and Capt. Smith, Thomas B. Laidlaw, and E. L. Day.

Mrs. M. Mellish donated the library a copy of the report of the Smithsonian Institution. Donation accepted and the secretary instructed to acknowledge same with thanks. The following accounts were passed: C. E. Robinson $2.35, one copy Lampman's poems $2.25, postage $1.25, received from Wilkinson $1. J. W. Bressy $7.05, A. R. Crowe $2.50, J. C. Wanless 25c, and Gas Co. $4.25. The librarian reported as follows: New borrowers 11, books given out 1,907, received from fines $3.99, cards $2.05, catalogues 45 cents, sale of books 74c; total receipts $7.23. The report was received. The matter of binding some books that needed it was left to the library committee. After a motion had been passed ordering the payment of salaries, the meeting adjourned.

LIKE SMOKING HUSBANDS.

"I think it was awfully funny for that Blesie wife to leave her newly acquired husband just because he smoked," said a Chatham young lady after reading Wednesday's Planet.

"I know the story of a girl who avers that they will never marry a man unless he smokes, and one who even goes so far as to say that she will not marry a man unless he smokes and is a widower. The reason they all give—for you know all girls have reasons for everything—is that smoking makes men more contented. I like tobacco smoke myself," said the fair Chatham maiden with a smile as she adroitly changed the subject.

DRESDEN

May 4.—Frank Sharpe is recovering from an attack of inflammation of the lungs.

W. A. Collier and W. Wilson, of Chatham, were in town yesterday.

We are sorry to learn that E. Irish is still very ill and that his recovery is regarded by his physicians as doubtful. Miss Mabel Leonard has returned from a month's visit to Florence.

John A. Stephens, of Toronto, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Jas. Stephens.
