Our Men Across the Water.

The safe arrival on the other side of the Atlantic of the F Company marks the completion on the other side of a battalion with a reserve of half a battalion. This is good work for Newfoundland, as it is three times the number of troops she promised last August to send to the other side. Newfoundland also promised to bring up her Naval Reservist to 1,000 and she has brought it up to 1,120. Eighty six reservists went on H. M. S. Calgarian and eight on the Glenalmond, ninety-four all told. There are between thirty and forty still here, bringing the number up to 1,120. The most gratifying feature of this recruiting is the doing in "deed" much more than was promised in words. The Newfoundland Regiment has a battalion and a half on the other side, consisting of five companies, and a platoon has already been raised here towards Company G. The men are most anxious to go to the front, and those high in authority over them have told them that they will soon be sent forward. The more training the men can get first, and especially the more training the officers can get, the better they are for the front. Officers, the more efficient the battalion will be as a fighting force, and the less likelihood there will be of casualties from ignorance and poor leadership. To illustrate this point, we give the story told by a soldier of a Scottish regiment. He said they had been eight days in the trenches and were waiting to be relieved. One night a Canadian battalion was to relieve them. The Scotoman said they could hear them a mile off. They were talking and smoking cigarettes, and the sound of their voices and the light of their cigarettes reached not only the British trenches, but the German lines, who turned their guns on them and decimated them, so that but a part of the Canadian battalion reached the trenches, and the Scotch battalion had to stay in the trenches several days longer.

Nfld. Association.

PLAN GRAND RE-UNION.

A good list of speakers were heard at the meeting of the Newfoundland Advancement Association held last evening in Institute Hall, East Cambridge. Seven new members were also initiated into the Association's membership.

The membership of the association has advanced by leaps and bounds this year and a large list will be added next year.

Plans were made for a grand reunion in the latter part of September. No special date was agreed upon at the meeting last night. It was expected that this year's reunion will eclipse anything gone before.

Among the speakers were John F. McCormack, of the Registrars of Voters, John Fitzpatrick, Vice-President of the Association, and Thomas E. Williams, of the Board of Cemetery Commissioners.

An entertainment with a musical programme was rendered between the addresses of the various speakers. —Cambridge Daily Standard, June 21, 1915.

CALGARIAN HOME WITH NEW-FOUNDLANDERS—A cablegram sent by Lieutenant J. Nunn, who went across in charge of F. Company of the Newfoundland Regiment or our Fifth contingent of volunteers, was received by His Excellency the Governor, yesterday, informing him that the troopship Calgarian, having on board another batch each for Britain's land and sea forces, had reached her destination safely.

EARL OF DEVON—The Earl of Devon has not been reported since leaving Coachman's Cove on Saturday last, going north.

Dr. Macpherson to His Excellency the Governor.

Room 310, War Office, Whitehall, S.W., June 20th, 1915.

Dear Sir Walter,

Your letter of the 20th ult. arrived just as I was leaving for France on my fifth trip.

I wish to thank you very much for your kind words of congratulation and encouragement. I have no word to express the appreciation I feel of the very great courtesy and kindness with which I have been treated by the staff here in the War Office. Red tape has been almost banished, and I have not once run across an officer in the War Office who has made any difference because of his rank, and in spite of the fact that nearly all my work is done with Generals, Colonels, and Lieutenants, and in nearly a dozen different departments besides the Medical.

A formal order has now been issued that the helmet of my pattern is to supersede the respirators which were issued, because they could be so much more speedily manufactured.

The order is that every man in all ranks is to have two on his person, one at the regimental depot, and one at the ordnance base. Four for each man!

I have asked for and obtained Sgt. M. J. Murphy, of 'Ours', a druggist of some years' experience at McMurdo's, and exceptionally reliable. I had him in France with me, and am taking him over again presently to take charge of one of the depots for reimpregnating the helmets for which I was over this last time to choose the sites.

I do not know when I return—cannot see a chance at present. But you warned me, Sir. I only hope my patients will be patriotic enough to forgive me while I am of use here.

Again thanking you heartily,

I am, Yours faithfully,

(Sgd.) CLUNY MACPHERSON.

Missing Boy Found.

The whereabouts of Allan Bishop, aged 12 years, are now being eagerly sought. His father, Mr. Samuel Bishop, reported to the police yesterday, that the boy left home shortly after 6 o'clock on Friday morning last to get his morning's papers at the Daily News Office, and since then has not been heard of. Search parties and a posse of police scoured the South Side Hills and country roads yesterday without success. He wore a plain navy sweater, dark striped pants, a brown cap and a pair of worn boots. He was a very quiet boy and never got into any sort of trouble. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are greatly alarmed over their son's absence. They would like to be communicated with if a boy answering to the above description is found. Since writing the above the boy was located to-day at Cupids. He walked to Holyrood and bought a ticket from there to Brigus. He used to live at Cupids. His father came here four years ago.

This is Ice Cream weather, and you will enjoy our Ice Cream if you step in and order a plate. Our Ice Cream is honestly made of good fresh milk and cream, flavored just right, and is a healthful as well as a tasty luxury. There is also Ice Cream Soda, College Ices and Sundae at our Soda Counter, and all are really delicious. Price 10 and 15c. each. Pepsalia, the digestive table salt only costs twenty cents a bottle, but it may prevent many dollars worth of discomfort and pain. Pepsalia is used as ordinary table salt and helps to digest the food. Why not have a bottle?

TO REPLACE BRUCE—We understand that no definite arrangements have yet been made for a steamer to replace the Bruce on the Cabot Strait. It is expected that the Glencoe will take up the route, if a suitable steamer cannot be procured and that a steamer to replace the Glencoe will be chartered in the meantime.

Police Court.

Ten drunks were discharged. A young woman, charged with being drunk and for loose and disorderly conduct, was convicted and sent down for four months.

A laborer for drunk and disorderly conduct in his own house was ordered to give two bonds in $50 each or go down for 30 days. A 13 year old laborer had to give bonds for maliciously breaking windows at St. Mary's Church, Southside.

A WORK OF ART—The souvenir cheque presented to His Grace the Archbishop by the laity of the Archdiocese, yesterday, is truly a work of art. The cheque is printed in liturgical colours, black and red, and the form was the personal gift of Hon. P. T. McGrath. It was designed by a very young student, and was drafted in outline by Mr. F. W. Bradshaw. As already referred to elsewhere the cheque will be embodied in a souvenir booklet commemoration of the presentation to be presented to the Episcopal Library.

Our National Birthday.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Sivash."

The United States was a hundred and thirty nine years old yesterday. However, the event was not celebrated until to-day.

This is because a United States birthday celebration and Sunday do not harmonize worth a cent. This country does not spend its birthday in reflection but in reverberation.

An enormous amount of powder will be burned to-day in expressing the satisfaction of this country over its increasing age. However, once the advocates of Safety First will not shake their heads and deplore the fact. In these terrible days burning powder in a birthday celebration is about as harmless a form of amusement as can be devised, even if it does blow off a few scattering fingers.

We have always regarded the United States as an infant country. It did not go into business until centuries after the other half of the world had shown signs of advancing age; and for many years afterward it was so feeble and small in numbers that it arrived at each new birthday with a sigh of relief because no European nation had carelessly stepped on it during the past fiscal year.

It is time to reflect, however, that remaining under one form of government is no small feat as history goes. The United States Constitution is no longer a new and novel instrument but an ancient document. We are not an infant any longer but are able to pat many nations on the head and encourage them in their youth.

When we began business China was too old to be computed. Now China is an infant republic clamoring for our aid and advice.

France has done business for 1,500 years in one way or another. But France as a republic is young and skittish besides the United States of America.

So is Italy, which did not begin a real kingdom until we were rolling on to the century mark.

The Kingdom of Portugal helped discover America. But to-day she is struggling with a five year old republican form of government and wishing she had our experience in handling the blamed thing. Belgium and most of the Balkan States were invented after we had reached a majority and we were ninety years old when Germany ceased to be, a Gothic ruin of one-cylinder kingdoms and embarked on the Empire business with such marked success.

Every nation in the western hemisphere has borrowed the Constitution of the United States to copy liberally from it. Egypt and Persia came to life and started out with a new equipment of laws after our government had a full-grown beard. Norway, which suspected the existence of this country 900 years ago, is started out afresh with new dynasties and other fixtures and will not celebrate its tenth birthday until this fall.

Only a very few countries are older, in their present form, than Uncle Sam; and most of them are shaking their heads sorrowfully and calling for a new deal.

PERSONAL—Hon. R. A. Squires, Grand Master of the Grand Black Chapter of British America, and Mr. J. C. Puddester, Deputy Grand Master of Newfoundland, left by last evening's express to attend the sessions of the Sovereign Grand Orange Lodge which are being held at Winnipeg. Mrs. Puddester, whose health has not been very well of late, accompanied her husband.
