Died At Salmonier.

On Sunday, the 26th inst., there passed peacefully away at her home in St. Joseph's, Mrs. Catherine Daley, an old and well-respected resident. Deceased was in the 74th year of her age, and although she had been ailing for the past five years, yet she even presented a cheerful appearance, even under the trials of ill-health, and throughout her whole life she was remarkable for her entire forgetfulness of self in her continuous anxiety for the interests of her family. Her religious habits and sentiments were always a source of edification to those around, and her peaceful death on Sunday evening, about the time when the people had assembled in church for evening devotions, recalled to mind the words of a certain poet: "Oh, Grave where is thy Victory; Oh, Death, where is thy Sting?" Just one day before her death she had received the last sacraments; thus spiritually strengthened, with her husband, Maurice Daley, and four sons by her bedside, she gave up her soul to God. Through some unavoidable delay, her daughter, Mrs. Kelly, of Placentia, was not present at the time of her mother's death. To her and all her sorrowing friends, we offer our heartfelt sympathy. R.I.P.—Com.

BUDGET OF WAR NEWS.

NEW YORK, To-day.
Having straightened out their line by occupying all the French positions north of Forges Brook, between Hancourt and Bethincourt, northwest of Verdun, the Germans are now engaged in shelling the region of Bourrus Wood, some five miles northwest of the fortress. East of the Meuse and around Vaux there has been considerable fighting between the French and Germans in which the French were victorious, driving back the Germans to the northern outskirts of Caillette Wood in reoccupying the western part of the village of Vaux which they had previously evacuated. The occupation by the Germans of Hancourt and Bethincourt front followed a vigorous attack in which, however, the Germans met no foe, the French having evacuated their positions at night without the Germans observing the movement. From their new positions, south of Forges Brook and at Bethincourt the French poured a direct and flanking fire into the attacking Germans, who suffered heavy casualties. Along the remainder of the French front artillery bombardments have predominated, although there have been aerial combats near Verdun in which the Germans lost four aeroplanes, and aerial raids by the French on various German cantonments in Belgium. Artillery duels between the Russians and Germans continue on the eastern front. An attack by the Germans against a bridgehead at Ikskull was repulsed by the Russians. Usual bombardments are progressing on the Austro-Italian line. Constantinople reports the Turks, strongly reinforced, have checked the Russian offensive in the Caucasus region and that the Ottoman forces have made advances in the Tchorsk Valley. Petrograd, however, asserts the Russians seized heavily fortified Turkish positions at an altitude of 4,000 feet on Upper Teloruk further south and have captured a Turkish position and dispersed Turkish cavalry detachments. In Arabia, according to Constantinople, the British near Shiegh Osman has been driven from fortified positions with heavy casualties and forced to retreat.

BROUGHT DOWN GERMAN AEROPLANE.

LONDON, To-day.
A British official to-day says: "Yesterday one of our aviators shot down a German machine in the neighborhood of Lens. Another aviator attacked and drove off 5 hostile machines after a close combat with two of them. This morning early at St. Eloi we attacked a crater which had been held by Germans since March 30. The crater was captured and our 34 prisoners including 4 officers. Artillery on both sides has been active in this neighborhood to-day."

GERMANS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES.

PARIS (Official) To-day.
In Argonne our batteries violently bombarded the west corner of Avacourt wood. An enemy blockhouse was destroyed and a munition depot blown up. West of Meuse the Germans launched yesterday at the end of the day a vigorous attack between Hancourt and Bethincourt against our positions on the north bank of Forges Brook, which we have evacuated, withdrawing to the south bank on the night of March 31 and April 1 without the enemy perceiving it. Surprised by violent fire directed from our new positions and flanking fire from Bethincourt, the enemy forces suffered heavy losses without having been able to fight.

VENIZELON AND CONSTANTINE.

ATHENS, To-day.
It is learned on the highest authority that King Constantine will pay no attention to a series of articles which ex-Premier Venizelos is writing on the political situation in Greece. Arguments cannot alter Greece's attitude, said this authority, only facts can bring about a change. If the material situation in the Balkans shifts so that the interests of Greece appear in some other light than to-day, nobody has ever said Greece would not adopt an attitude suited to circumstances. Further waiting and talking would only confuse the issue.

GERMANY APOLOGIZES.

LONDON, To-day.
Germany apologized to Switzerland for bombing the Swiss village of Portentruy by a German airman last week, says a Reuters despatch from Bern. A promise of punishment to the aviators who supposed they were over Belfort has been made. A despatch from Bern last Friday said two aeroplanes of unknown nationality dropped 5 large bombs on Portentruy with some damage to property. A Geneva despatch said the aircraft undoubtedly were German. The Federal Council ordered the Swiss Minister at Bern to protest.

ARRIVED FOR HOSPITAL.—Two men and a boy came by last night's train to enter hospital for treatment.

BARQUE TORPEDOED.

LONDON, To-day.
Lloyds reports the British barque Bengain sunk by a submarine. A part of the crew was picked up. It is stated the vessel is not armed. The Bengain sailed from Seattle, Dec. 10.

RAID SCOTLAND.

LONDON, To-day.
A Scottish correspondent's despatch concerning the Sunday night's air raid says: "Scotland had its first experience with a Zeppelin raid last night. The Zeppelin appeared ten minutes before midnight and circled over the town for forty minutes dropping many bombs. Warning of the enemy's approach was given to people by the electric lights being cut off. Everybody remained calm. Many persons ventured into the streets to get a better view of the raider. No building of public importance was struck, but damage was done to residential quarters."

BRITISH BUDGET EXCITES LITTLE INTEREST.

LONDON, To-day.
The Cabinet yesterday considered the budget proposals which Reginald McKenna, Chancellor Exchequer, will introduce to-day in the Commons. Despite the fact that the next taxation will be heavy and varied, never before has the budget excited so little interest. The morning newspapers declare every class of people are meeting the proposals quietly, prepared to accept all burdens necessary to pay for war. The Chancellor must provide for an expenditure in the financial year 1916-1917 of nearly £2,000,000,000, revenue for same period without additional taxation calculated will amount to £2,000,000,000, leaving about £1,500,000 to be raised by years borrowing new taxation. In the business world it is generally believed the new taxation will be aimed less at obtaining revenue than can be raised by loan than placing an embargo on luxuries and waste.

The Dutch steamer Kyndam, due to sail on Friday for New York, is still being held up owing to a "strike" of stokers and trimmers over their demands for an increase of wages.

TO SALVE THE ZEPPELIN.

LONDON, To-day.
The British Aeronautical Institute has asked the Government's permission to undertake at its own expense the salvage of the Zeppelin L-15 which is lying in shallow water off the mouth of the Thames. The Institute believes that if salvage is undertaken by aircraft experts the Zeppelin can be saved, rebuilt and launched against the enemy within three months.

LOSSES IN SHIPPING HAVE BEEN MADE GOOD BY BUILDING.

LONDON, To-day.
Admiral Bridge in a report on the Merchant Shipping losses, gives the following statement. As to the total losses to shipping from the beginning of the war to March 23, the loss to the British Steam Shipping says the report is less than four per cent. of the total number of vessels under the British flag and slightly over six per cent. of their total tonnage. In further comment the Admiral details the amount of Merchant Shipping built in France and Great Britain since the beginning of the war and shows that the war losses have virtually been made good, thereby in 1915, says the report. After more than a year of war the steam shipping of Great Britain increased 88 vessels and 344,000 tons. Italy and Russia also shows an increase, while France is short only 12,500 tons. It is therefore clear, says the report, that the present shortage of tonnage is due not to action of submarines but to the great requirements of military and naval forces.

WHAT WILL GERMANY DO TO HOLLAND.

AMSTERDAM, To-day.
I do not for a moment suggest there is a possibility that Great Britain intends to land her new armies on the Dutch coast, said the former Minister of War, Colyn to-day in an interview regarding the recent mysterious military preparations in Holland. We have the assurance of Britain that we rely on their neutrality and we rely on that assurance but the question is what will Germany think of this. If the Germans began seriously to be afraid of such a contingency, namely of the landing of British troops in Holland, what influence will that have on Germany's attitude towards us.

We must assume that she is acquainted with our defensive capacity. If she judge that capacity inadequate and considers a British eruption into Germany through Holland is to be feared, would it then be strange if we were approached from the German side with proposals to which we cannot submit, because that would mean abandonment of our neutrality toward the Allies. I know that against this it may be said that British will not make landing in Holland, and if they tried we are quite capable of stopping the British march eastward or southeastward, but that is not the relevant question. It is not what we think, but what the Germans think. Minister Colyn added that there was an increasing possibility of a conflict on both sides, and while awaiting the attitude that might be adopted toward Great Britain, something positive should be done with regard to Germany. He suggested the strengthening of Dutch forces in order to make clear to Germany that Holland has power and intention to prevent a menace to Germany's open flank.

RUSSIANS PROTESTING.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
The Russian Government has sent a note to all neutral Governments, protesting against the alleged torpedoing of the Russian hospital ship Portugal, has requested the American and Spanish Embassies to bring her protest to the attention of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey.

CLEANSING THE NAILS.
No woman should begrudge the time spent on her finger nails for much of the beauty of her hands is due to the tips of her fingers and their appearance. Cleanse the nails with peroxide and powdered pumice—drawing a fine straight line at the top of each nail. While doing this little particles of under tissue will appear, and these must be removed by means of a beveling file or fine sandpaper. In locating the corners of the nails the greatest care and delicacy should be exercised.

The orange wood stick and a little friction will do better work than the cuticle knife and scissors. Never scrape the nail. Scraping causes ridges and increases the thickness of texture. After grooming, each finger curl, dry with a soft bit of old linen until time to polish, when the cream may be removed, great care being taken to wipe all the emollient away from the base of the nail. For the polishing one needs a jar of nail paste and a small polishing stone, which is more convenient and less wasteful than the old fashioned powder. Each nail is touched with a small amount of the paste, the polishing stone is rubbed over the chamois skin buffer and then the shining up process begins.

Ply the polisher briskly. Since the paste and dry substance are often worked into the cuticle to a certain extent the polishing must be followed by a "once over" with the orange wood stick, which has been dipped in the soapy water.

Rinse the hands in clear, cold water, dry very carefully, give a final polish with the palms of the hands and finish up with a few drops of violet water. The small rim of epidermis which laps over the nail should be gently released each morning with the orange wood stick after the hands have been carefully bathed.
