The situations are said to be strikingly realistic, with an overflow of fun and amusement. There are seven comedy parts in addition to that of Uncle Josh, which character is really a whole show in itself. A sensational novelty is introduced in the third act, in the shape of a realistic circular saw is used, and which is said to actually saw through real timber. -That popular actor, Roland Reed, and his most capable company will be the potent attraction at the Grand on Friday. The favorite comedian has been playing the most successful tour of his career, and as usual he will be seen in a new role. Mr. Reed's new play is "The Wrong Mr. Wright," a comedy in three acts. The scenes are laid at Old Point Comfort. Some ery pretty effects are secured in the ast act in a representation of the parade ground at Fortress Munroe. Seymour Sites (Mr. Reed) is a 'Frisco millionaire, who has been robbed by forgery of $50,000 by his cashier. He hears that the forger has gone to Old Point Comfort, and goes there himself to do some detective work on his own hook, assuming the name of "Mi Wright." It happens that the force has also assumed the name of "Mr Wright," and, as the detectives go after the millionaire for robbing him self, the opportunities for amusing situations are very good. The chief detective is a woman, Henrietta Oli ver (Miss Rush), and instead of cap-

Since using your ronto College of Music, but who is now connected with the London Conpeare's historical drama, "King Henry .," with vividly distinct individualities. In terse, clear style, he briefly outlined the main action of the play, and gave short character sketches of the chief personae. He recited the mar part of the first two acts, eliminating much that did not tend strongly to reveal the various characters. The recitation of the scene where Falstaff's extraordinary ability in exaggerating and dodging, as pertrayed after the robbery, was particularly good. Mr. Williams also recied "The Sleeping Car." a very humorous sketch by Wil liam Dean Howells, in which he represented over ten characters, and kept the audience in continuous roars of laughter. Mons. Walthar's violin solos elicited rapturous applause. The piano accompaniments were rendered by Mr. W. C. Barron. The hour of the close of the evening's delightful entertainment was somewhat late, but the time of starting was considerably

RHEUMATISM

Is a disease which has many complications. All these must be thoroughly eradicated before we can obtain a permanent cure. In fact, almost all cases of rheumatism require the use of a blood purifier to antiqute the large amount o poison that is present in every part of the body.

LEON DINERAL WATER has the power to destroy the cause, and if taken freely will absorb the deadly poisons that undermine the system.
