The Rossin House, Toronto.

To globe-trotters, the name "The Rossin," the finest hotel in Ontario, has long stood a synonym of cosiness, home-like comfort and up-to-date luxury, attributes which are much advertised, and in reality possessed little by other pretentious houses. While being the most centrally located of the Toronto hotels, it is happily remote from all the noise, smoke and dust of the city, yet only two blocks from the Union Station, York Street, at its intersection with King Street, Toronto's historic and most fashionable promenade.

In capacity "The Rossin" can comfortably accommodate 400 guests, 50 of its rooms having bathrooms attached. As a protection against fire it is built with brick partitions throughout. There are five stairways from the upper to the first floor, and, nightly, watchmen patrol the corridors, insuring the perfect safety of guests. An additional feature of the house is the absence of winding passages—all the hallways being attractively wide and lofty. In every respect the architect, with an eye to safety, health and comfort, wrought on a generous scale. In fine, the house is like its management, like its cuisine, like its patronage, the best and most modern in the city.

This hotel home, it will be known with no surprise, has numbered among its guests at various times, members of the royal family, of the nobility and the leading men of the day.

UNCLE KRUGER AS GUY FAWKES

Up-to-Date 5th of November Celebrations.

Report Sent From Washington That Great Britain Will Cede the Samoan Islands to Germany—Gold Fever in Wales.

London, Nov. 6.—The Newfoundland difficulties are likely to crop up again. The modus vivendi established with France expires in January and a member of the Newfoundland Government is quoted as saying it will not be renewed, adding that definite imperial action must be taken in the near future. If the anti-British tone of the French press can be taken as an indication of the national attitude, serious complications may be expected.

GOLD FEVER IN WALES. The gold fever has again broken out in Wales. It is now confidently affirmed that Montgomeryshire is channelled with auriferous ore. The latest reports arose from discoveries made while sinking a well on the estate of Lord Powis.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY QUESTION. The Saturday Review in an article on the Alaskan dispute, reiterates the statement that Canada has always been willing to submit to impartial arbitration, which, it adds, was refused by the United States. The Review maintains that the United States expects Great Britain to make concessions in the Alaska dispute which will never be made.

SAMOAN SETTLEMENT.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—The Tageblatt publishes a telegram from Washington to the effect that it is there reported that Britain is willing to cede Samoa to Germany, but for what compensation is not known. The Tageblatt adds that in well-informed circles at Berlin there is no knowledge of this arrangement, and the opinion prevails that the state of affairs is unchanged.

HONORS FOR LORD DUFFERIN.

London, Nov. 6.—The Marquis of Duff and Ava has been elected lord rector of Edinburgh university, over H. H. Asquith, the former secretary of state for the home department. Political feeling has been running high between the liberal and conservative factions among the students, and there have been several conflicts, in one of which a student's leg was broken.

FLOODS IN FRANCE.

Paris, Nov. 6.—Dispatches received here from Nantes, department of Gard, and Privas, department of Ardeche, say that great floods have occurred at those places, roads being cut through and several bridges and houses being carried away. The Rhone is rising rapidly, and has already overflowed its banks at Avignon, department of Vaucluse.

Paris, Nov. 6.—A dispatch from Carpentras, department of Vaucluse, which places the former Capt. Dreyfus went after the close of his trial, says that Dreyfus is confined to his bed by illness.

RUSSIAN FINANCES.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 6.—The Official Messenger publishes a communication from M. De Witte, the minister of finance, refuting the current rumors of a diminution of the monetary circulation of the country. M. De Witte says that the currency exceeds by 25,000,000 roubles the highest figure reached since 1892, and asserts that the amount of credit notes in circulation is 540,000,000, against which there is a gold reserve of 855,000,000 showing that the notes are covered by an amount of gold very considerably exceeding the sum required, the proportions being 153 per cent against 100 per cent in 1897.

TRANSVAAL GOLD.

London, Nov. 6.—Lord Hillingdon, of the banking house of Glyn, Mills & Co., in a recent address before the Institute of Bankers, said that the increase in the Transvaal gold output for the year ended 31st March amounted to more than $15,000,000. He said that he believed the world's gold production during the present year would be nearly twice as great as it was ten years ago. Referring to the enormous production of the gold fields of the world now under British control, he congratulated the bankers upon the fact that the Venezuela boundary award had added to Great Britain's share almost the whole of the extensive gold fields of that region.

Victim of Kidney Disease Escapes From Its Clutches by Means of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Nov. 6.—Twenty years ago this month, John Nicholas Babcock first noticed the symptoms of Gravel and other Kidney troubles. Since that day he has never been free from pain until immediately previous to the report of his complete cure which appeared recently. He has been like a prisoner sentenced for life, but his sentence is up today. He says: "After years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney troubles, I am pleased to make it known that I have been completely cured by one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars without receiving any lasting relief.

BRITISH STRONG ON LAND

She Does Not Depend Alone on Her Matchless Navy.

[Chicago Times-Herald.]

The rapid and effective mobilization of the British army now going on is a demonstration to the continental powers that England's military strength does not rest alone in her matchless navy and her standing army.

All Europe is astounded at the energy of the British war office in putting into the field such a powerful land force, composed largely of trained fighters who have followed the Union Jack in various campaigns in different quarters of the globe. It is confidently asserted by some critics that no military power could place in the field anything like the same number of men and officers who have proved their fighting quality under the fire of an enemy, neither could any power supply a finer equipment of modern fighting machinery in the form of guns and transport service.

In Great Britain, as in the United States, the military strength of the nation rests in the citizen soldiery and citizens capable of bearing arms. The call of President McKinley for troops in the Spanish-American war was responded to by 250,000 volunteers composed largely of the militia of the various states. In response to the call of the British war office 90 per cent of all the reservists rejoined the colors, while regiments of militia were promptly offered by all the colonial dependencies. The reservists, it must be borne in mind, are men who have been in the army, and whose fighting experience makes them equal in drill and effectiveness to the trained regulars. In the First Reserves are 82,532 non-commissioned officers and men; the militia

The Crow of Croup.

It strikes terror to a mother's heart to have her child wake up at night with a croupy cough.

A child can scarcely speak, can hardly breathe—seems to be choking.

There is no time for delay—apply hot poultices to the throat and upper part of the chest, and give Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup—nothing like it for giving prompt relief—will save a child when nothing else will.

Mrs. Wm. Young, Frome, Ont., says: "One year ago our little boy had a severe attack of inflammation of the lungs and croup, which left a bad wheeze in his chest. We were advised to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which we did, and it cured him completely.

"Now we always keep this remedy in the house, as it excels all others for the severest kinds of coughs or colds."

number 132,493, and the volunteers, including staff, 263,963. The reserves, militia and volunteers, together with the active British army, which consists of 7,788 officers, 157,925 non-commissioned officers and men, bring the total British war footing up to 669,259, excluding the British army in India.

As Lord Charles Beresford points out, another bulwark of the British Empire is the colonial militia. The Canadian militia is divided into three sections—the permanent militia, the active militia, and the reserve militia. The second section, or active militia, constitutes for practical purposes the available fighting force of Canada, which is 35,000 strong. In Australia the militia is also divided into three sections, the combined forces reaching a total of 25,000 men.

With volunteers and rifle clubs the total military force of New South Wales reaches the number of 8,937. It is estimated that the number of able-bodied men capable of bearing arms in the British Empire, including Canada and Australia, and excluding India and all other colonies, is not less than 12,000,000. From these the nation can draw all the fighting material necessary for any foreign war, and it has the means to equip and transport its armies beyond the resources of any two continental powers.
