He had also assisted in the reorganization of several lines of the Second Christian Workers' Church, which he only occupied the present tabernacle for a short time.

James Arnott Had Fight with Police. Said Wife Will Make Complaint to Police Commissioners.

A great deal of excitement was caused in the vicinity of the Grand Trunk station on Clarence street Sunday afternoon, when P. C. Holden placed James Arnott under arrest.

His lordship then referred to the new sanatorium for consumptives. "I understand that this hospital has been given a grant from an adjoining county and city—Elgin and St. Thomas. This is a very commendable act, and the attention is worthy of every consideration."

Middlesex, possibly for a very good reason, has deemed it to give the hospital no support, but I feel that be taken cognizance of by the county council."

26TH REGT. BAND AFTER CITY MONEY. This Is Why the Musicians Have Withdrawn From Middlesex Corps.

The members of the 26th band have decided that in future they will entirely sever their connection with the 26th Regiment, and the likelihood is that they will become the band of the 1st Hussars or a citizens' band.

The reason given for withdrawing from the 26th Regiment is the opposition raised against giving the band a share of the civic grants made for band concerts.

As the Hussars are a city regiment, by affiliating with them the band will be entitled to an equal share of the city's funds, the members think.

Grace Church services are held in the afternoon, as Miss McFarlan has also been appointed to the organ at the Evans Methodist Church. She presided at both services on Sunday. Sept. 26, for the first time. Miss McFarlan is quite popular and well liked by the young people in this district, and her services at both churches will no doubt be greatly appreciated.

Ex-Aid, Matthews' Views. The Nissouri Nudger, of which ex-Aid, R. F. Matthews is editor, says: "It will be time enough for London to buy an auto fire engine when London has a few more decent streets to run it on. Besides, the auto engine is in the experimental stage as yet, and London has been stung too often with fire apparatus to desire to purchase another thing to the string. It might be money well spent to let the junketing aldermen go away to see, if they were not so busy promising not to make a purchase. Probably they would."

A Former Londoner. Eden Lodge degree staff, of Wilmington, Delaware, of which Past Grand Representative P. Isaac, formerly of this city, and a brother of Mr. J. Isaac, of London, is director, succeeded in capturing the first prize in the second degree and second prize in the first degree in the Big Oddfellows' convention held recently at Atlanta, Georgia. The prizes amounted in all to $700, and Mr. Isaac was very warmly congratulated upon the excellent work done by the team.

CALLS RAGTIME BLOT ON MUSIC IN AMERICA. Max Friedlander Thinks It Halts National Progress in Art.

Director of music at the Berlin University, left today on the steamship Deutschland. He will go as exchange professor to Harvard, where he will lecture on the history of music. Professor Friedlander, who was a pupil of Manuel Garcia, and was once an oratorio singer, will occasionally take a vocal part.

Professor Friedlander speaks highly of the progress which America is making in instrumental and chamber music, but he thinks the musical sense of Americans, as a whole, is not improving until they give up their admiration for ragtime. He considers the Boston Symphony Orchestra the finest in the world, and this opinion, he says, is shared by the Old and Rich and Strass. He hopes later on to help in introducing American chamber music to Europe.

The quarrel between Richard Strauss and the director of the Dresden opera over the composer's latest work, "Rose Cavalier," has been settled. The opera will be given at Dresden in January. Strauss insisted that his two previous operas, "Salome" and "Elektra," must not be sidetracked in favor of the new work.

Geraldine Farrar is singing to crowded houses at Kroll's Theatre, while the Royal Opera House in London turned into a municipal concert hall, and plans for the new royal opera are still incomplete.

TRIES TO KIDNAP MISS TURNBULL. Man Follows Claimant to "Lucky" Baldwin's Millions to San Francisco and Chicago.

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—A supposed plot to kidnap Beatrice Turnbull, claimant to the millions left by "Lucky" Baldwin, was frustrated at the Hotel Manx today, when the girl's mother, Mrs. Lillian Ashley Turnbull, spirited her away from this city and placed her on board the ocean liner.

Accompanied by her mother, she arrived in San Francisco late yesterday afternoon, and went to the Manx, where they were given room 204. About this time a mysterious stranger, giving his name as J. W. Nash, Los Angeles, also went to the Manx, where he asked for room 305. He said in explanation, to take the overland limited for Chicago. Nash took an automobile and followed the mother and daughter to the ferry, where he bought a ticket for Chicago. All left on the eastbound ferry. Miss Turnbull is alleged to be a daughter of Baldwin and claims the $4,000,000 of his estate.
