MORE SOUTHPAW SLANTS PUT LONDON TO THE BAD

Cristal Sends In Harry Eccles, a Mere Youth From Jamestown, and Holds Locals Safe All Through—Final Score Was 9 to 0.

OUR TUCUMSEHES gazed on the slants of another of William Cristal's army of left-handed pill-dispensers yesterday afternoon over in the local ballpark and there was nothing left for us to do now but write the obsequies with as much solemnity and decency as possible. Truly, it's a tough world, and to the London club it seems to be chuck-full of left-handers and lost ball games.

The latest member of Mr. Cristal's pitching party to jump on the puny frames of our local players is a lanky youth named Harry Eccles, a mere youth from Jamestown, N. Y., and they do say that Mr. Cristal plucked him fresh from the high school league. His debut in the Canadian League was something of an event. It was against the Reininga's club in the first week, and for seven innings the Jamestown boy held the London players without a hit. They apparently received all their energy for the last two spasms, and in these sessions scored eight runs.

Eccles having to retire in the ninth while the London players were going around the bases, and the fans in the stand got dizzy looking on.

Looks Like a Million Dollars.

But nothing like a million yesterday in Tecumseh Park. Mr. Eccles is but a mere youth and he looks to be as green as a St. Patrick's Day tie, but believe us, he pitched some pretty good baseball just the same. "Doc" Reininga and the rest of the London boys tried to "kid" him out of the game, but the way he had the local clouters standing on their ears half the time was no "kidding" matter. Possessed of good control and apparently as cool as the well-known cucumber, Eccles stood out there on the mound and pitched shutout ball for nine innings. In one or two spasms he got into difficulties, but he tightened up and London could not produce the timely wallop that was needed. They got nine hits off him in the first seven innings, but in only two innings were two hits bunched.

Dillinger Fanned Nine.

Harley Dillinger, handicapped by a badly swollen elbow, was pitched for London and the former Cleveland southpaw yielded nine hits and struck out nine batters. He was pitched for London and the former Cleveland southpaw yielded nine hits and struck out nine batters. He was pitched for London and the former Cleveland southpaw yielded nine hits and struck out nine batters.

McGroarty's Triple Timely.

The game was devoid of any features. It was a pitcher's game, and it was through three hits in the seventh inning, one a triple to right by McGroarty, that London won.
