BIG BLUNDERS BY AUSTRIANS EXPERT SHOWS

Made the Mistake of Underestimating Power of the Russians.

GERMANS GET THE BLAME

General Konrad Also Struck At Italy At Wrong Hour.

Repington Considers Italians Should Strike Hard on Isonzo Line.

[Canadian Press.] London, July 13.-In an article entitled "Why Austria Struck," a Times correspondent, presumably Col. Reping-ton, writes from the Italian front:

Italian or foreign press an appreciation The popular view is that the Austrians have been fools and their armies routed. Austria certainly has made two very great blunders in this campaign of 1916 so far. "The first was her underestimation of the recovered power of Russia, one of those fatal mistakes apt to ruin both an army and a cause. The blunder was probably of German inspiration. Another Blunder.

'The second blunder was the moment What was the object? It was generally supposed to be the invasion of the lains and the interruption of the lines of communiaction with the Isonzo. Consequently, when the plains were not invaded a shout of triumph was raised. In Italy, as abroad, persons spoke of the Austrian rout."

The correspondent says he did not see any rout, much as he admired the excellent dispositions of Gen. Cadorna "The Austrians retired mainly at night. It is likely that they expected to invade Italy with fifteen divisions when they must have known that Gen. Cadorna had some fifty? Why did the Austrians retreat? Because they had effected their object, which was to dispositions and so prevent the delivery of a serious attack on the Isonzo simultaneously with the aliled offensive.

Where Austria Failed. "Where the Austrians falled was in the time chosen. Had Gen. Konrad waited until Gen. Cadorna was deeply mmitted to the attack on the Isonzo I think the effect of the Trentino sortie might have been serious. It is a blessing disguised, not deferred.

"I think the Austrians are playing for time in order to tempt Italy away If they can hold the Italians in the hills another the opening of Von Buelow's campaign two months the snow will begir to fall. and the best of the season of 1916 will into the position he filled until sucbe passed."

The correspondent does not consider the Trentino unconquerable, but thinks it is not worth the cost. He believes in the wisdom of Gen. Cadorna's original scheme, and thinks Italy strong enough to block the Trentino and continue the general scheme of the war take against England. concerted between the Allies to redeem the south Tyrol at Vienna and not at

"We British," he concludes, "dearly love Italy and the Italians. When we see the Italian armies with light heart and swift stroke chasing the Tedeschi out of Italy our enthusiasm is unbounded. But war is a serious business, and the head must rule, not the heart.'
