Petie Behan Allows Tecs But Five Hits, While Hams Find Carmen For Eleven-Score 4--2, With Carlin's Homer and One On a Feature.

If the Tecs had had anything in their pockets yesterday, Tecumseh Park last night would have been littered, for Petie Behan, with stalwart aid, stood the men of Wetzel on their collective heads, and the first ca-lash went to the Hams

Johnny Carlin was the bird with the false and heavy black whiskers yester. Johnny Carlin was the bird with the false and heavy black whiskers yesterday, his homer with Behan on in the fifth being good for half the runs achieved by the Irishers from under the mountain. Besides he had a double and two singles. Peter Behan, not satisfied with the difficulties he was strewing in the path of the Tecs from his vantage point on the mound, came through with a double that drove Claire in with the Hams' fourth run in the ninth, and added double that drove Claire in with the Hams' fourth run in the ninth, and added further discouragement just on the eve of a probable London rally. Fact, this was about the last knot Petie tied in the shackled Tecs, who didn't prove any Houdinis in the last section of the afternoon, though Rebel Oakes made a gallant sortie with a single.

sortie with a single.

Eleven hits were all secured off Carmen, but these were opportune and sizeable knocks, only four going absolutely to the waste can. The game went along with a snap, unexpected, because of the moist condition of the ground at the start of play, but a strong sou'wester helped dry things out considerably as play and the Hams progressed, and the infield work of both clans was bright and neoners.

Tigers Paddled Around.

The Tecs saw the Tigers last as a cowering, tail-between-the-legs collection of athletes, but yesterday they paddled around with a lordly air and the Ham infield with Buck Boyle at first and Carlin at third, and all in between looks like a mighty tidy little inner works.
