

SQUELCHED BY HIS CHIEF

JOHN CHARLTON CALLED DOWN BY THE OPPOSITION LEADER

His ill-timed Prohibition Motion Does Not Meet With Approval at Queen's Birthday. The Redistribution Bill Not to Come Up To-Day.

OTTAWA, May 16.—The divorce bill granting relief to James Albert Manning Adams and Ada Margaret Manning Adams today without dissent, these being the first instances in my memory when a divorce bill has passed the House of Commons within the year and may be recorded. The House could not, however, stand such an innovation as a matter of succession, and when the bill for the relief of Herbert Remington Mead came up the year and was asked for and the bill was carried, 52 for 21 against it.

Mr. Charlton and Prohibition.

The greater part of the afternoon was taken up discussing Mr. Mead's motion. "That the state of public opinion upon the question of the prohibition of the manufacturing, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors should be ascertained by a reference to the question to the electors of Canada at the polls." Mr. Charlton did not address any new or striking arguments in favor of his resolution and was rather set off by Hon. Mr. Laurier, who told him plainly that the wisest thing he could do would be to ask the House to allow him to withdraw the motion. This Mr. Charlton finally did, but not before Sir John Thompson had pointed out the absurdity of the motion in view of the appointment of the Royal Commission to investigate the whole question of the liquor traffic, and Mr. Foster had called attention to the fact that the House had already always the most satisfactory way of arriving at a conclusion on a question requiring grave deliberation.

Next Week's Adjournment.

The question having been raised as to what the length of the adjournment over the Queen's Birthday will be, Mr. Laurier has taken some pains to ascertain the intention of the Government and finds that there is no intention of adjourning Friday next to the following Wednesday, as has been suggested, but that the adjournment will only be from Monday to Wednesday.

The Redistribution Bill.

The debate on the Redistribution Bill will probably commence on Wednesday and promises to be not only long but very vigorous. The objections to the bill do not all come from the Opposition. Conservative members, especially those from the Province of Quebec, are complaining that the bill does not go far enough. The bill now now has to go through the Government that further changes should be made in the bill. The Opposition members have all but agreed to keep Conservative knives out of the map of Quebec, and they do not say "carried up to" to be unscrupulous.

Northwest Police.

The whole of the evening was taken up discussing Mr. Mead's motion. The Northwest Mounted Police should be reduced annually and resulted in the motion being carried by a majority of 113. Mr. Armstrong's separate school resolution or Mr. Devlin's Home Motion.

Just previous to adjournment Sir John Thompson said, in reply to Hon. Mr. Laurier, that the bill would be taken up for a while to-morrow and after that, redistribution will not be on the order.

Dr. McEachern, two representatives of the Waldron Repeal Company, and a number of other ranchmen were here and will have an interview with members of the ministry to-morrow on the old question of grazing lands.

Montreal's Liquor Laws.

MONTREAL, May 16.—The Montreal City Council at a meeting held on Monday night, the question of closing all the liquor establishments in the city at 7 o'clock on Saturday nights. There was a large body of liquor men appeared before the council to oppose it.

After a large discussion it was finally decided to refer the question to a select committee to submit a modified report to the council.

Old Chum—Cut and Plug.

The unprecedented demand for this favorite brand of tobacco in the U.S. has induced us to offer it in the Plug form, which is the question of closing all the liquor establishments in the city at 7 o'clock on Saturday nights. There was a large body of liquor men appeared before the council to oppose it.

People of sanguine temperaments, with light hair and ruddy complexion, almost invariably succeed in business, claims a physiologist authority. The reason is found in the fact that they are hard to discourage, and even under circumstances of adversity rarely become gloomy or morose. They are the ideal workers, for no matter how arduous the task, they are able to keep their buoyancy keeps them superior to the despondency induced by reverses of fortune, and so insure that hope which is so important an element of success.

Five Tailoring.

PARIS HAS ANOTHER MYSTERY

Two Men Deceased to Death by a Woman in a Closed Carriage.

PARIS, May 16.—Paris is excited over another mysterious tragedy. Last Wednesday Mrs. M. Delanion, one of the officials of the Hotel des Monnaies, was summoned to an enclosed carriage in the street by an announcement that a woman wished to see him. On his return he was evidently much annoyed and requested a commissionaire, in his service, accompany him on his mission, the nature of which he did not mention.

Neither in the men returned and the first chapter of the mystery was solved to-day by the finding of two bodies in the Seine, which, subsequently, were identified as those of the missing official of the Hotel des Monnaies and his companion.

The theory of the authorities is that M. Delanion and the commissionaire were deceived by this woman, who, after having been seen by the latter, was seen by the latter, who, however, no motive known for the crime.
