

bors. Another class a week takes up the New Testament doctrines. Another meets three times a week to study New Testament History in French, and there are three more classes, two French and one English, meeting three times a week each, in Old Testament History. Besides this daily class-room work, the religious life of the school is still further developed by the chapel service every morning before classes begin, prayers every night at the close of study hours, the general prayer-meeting every Wednesday evening, the boys' and girls' separate prayer-meetings every Saturday evening, Bible-classes studying the International S. S. lessons every Sunday afternoon, and morning and evening services in the church every Sunday. Regular attendance upon these services is required of all pupils, both Catholic and Protestant.

The teaching in some of the primary subjects, such as geography, dictation, reading, and the lower classes in arithmetic, grammar and history, is done in both French and English. This makes the work in these subjects double what it is in most schools. British and Canadian history and hygiene are taught altogether in French, while Latin, Greek, Geometry, Algebra, and the higher classes in arithmetic are taught entirely from English text-books.

There is provided also a good course in music that takes the entire time of one teacher and an assistant. There are, however, two subjects usually taught to some extent in High Schools that are altogether left out of our course, viz : German and the Sciences. There has been as yet, on the part of our students, no call for these subjects. If they were required of us, we should be compelled to engage another teacher, for our present staff is already heavily overloaded. Painting and drawing also find no place in our school.

Feller Institute differs very much from other schools in the amount of manual labor required of the pupils. All boys and girls have to take the entire care of their own rooms. They have in turn also to sweep and dust their respective buildings, dormitories, halls and class-rooms every morning. The chores at the barn, maintenance of fires in the furnaces, cleanliness and order of the grounds, shovelling of snow and many other odd jobs are the work of the boys. The girls are kept from posing
