grows with the whole plant turned one way is excellent for the purpose. Ivy leaf geraniums are also well worth considering: If the hearth be filled with some substance congenial to its growth, this geranium will trail luxuriantly over it. This plant comes in many forms and colors.

There are several ferns which serve prettily for the fireplace. A small fern may be chosen, a dracaena, or the grevillea robusta, a small, feathery plant which stands well the dry indoor temperature.

Zinc troughs are much used to hold fireplace green things, as they facilitate the operation of watering. Double the amount of plants required to fill the place should be kept on hand. These can be formed into two relays, and alternated with each other every few days. While one portion is within doors the second instalment is placed in sun and open air. In this way the health of the entire number is secured. Branches with leaves—non-poisonous—of pretty coloring may be discovered, even at this early season, in woods and country lanes. These by means of a flation, can be waxed on the mother bough and preserved for months. A fireplace filled with these and containing also a high vase of golden rod—which will soon be in blossom now—is an ideal arrangement.

To the woman who wants the thing done once and for all, run two narrow gilt curtain rods at top and bottom, and fix a sash curtain of Japanese silk. This is a Washington idea, and is effective and cool.

SEIGNIORY FOR SALE.—A fine seigniorial property, beautifully situated, within twenty miles of Montreal; comprising the Manor House on six arpents of land laid out with ornamental trees and shrubs. The house contains twenty rooms, heated by hot water, and there is excellent stabling. There is also a well wooded domain of 150 arpents; a grist mill; water power; water works and aqueduct; three islands, etc. The total revenue is about $8,750. This is an exceptionally good opportunity for a capitalist or a well-to-do politician to acquire a fine country residence, within an hour's ride of Montreal, with all the advantages accompanying the position of Seigneur.
