Dr. O'Hagan Honored

The Distinguished Catholic Receives a Fellowship.

The readers of (the Catholic Register will be pleased to hear that our distinguished Canadian Catholic literateur, Dr. O'Hagan, fins been the recipient of further honors in the world of letters. The emanent poet-author has just received word of his appointment to a Fellowship in English Literature in Chicago University. This Fellowship is eagerly sought after by the ablest English scholars in America, and the fact that a Catholic Canadian has secured the coveted honor is one that must be a subject for congratulation not only to Dr. O'Hagan, but also to Catholics and to Canadians. Apart from the monetary advantage that will accrue to Dr. O'Hagan from this Fellowship, there is the greater and higher one—that of additional (iteraty prestige.

O'hagao university is perhaps the greatest post-graduate university in America to-day, and Dr. O'Hagan's appointment reflects a great deal of credit on the work of our Catholic refuresentative in literature. The Fellowship was conferred largely, no doubt, because of the great success of the author's latest work, "Studies in Poetry," which was the subject of great praise from the best American Every Catholic in Canada will join The readers of the Catholic Register

Every Catholic in Canada will join the Register in congratulating Dr. O'Hagan on bis new honors and in wishing him every success in his re-sponsible position.

The Forty Hours' Devotion at Bracebridge.

The Forty Hours' Devotion at St. Joseph's Church, Bracebridge, began on Thursday moraing at 9.30 a. m., with High Mass of Exposition, of which Rev. A. F. Kelly, Trout Creek, was celebrant. Rev. T. F. Collins, pastor of St. Joseph's, chanted the Litany. There was a grand procession of the Blessed Sacrament, and the members of the jumor and adult choirs sang the "Pange Lingua," as also the responses of the Litany of the Saints. The sermon was delivered by the celebrant of the Mass, whose subject was "Salvation." Tuesday evening Father kelly again oscended the pulpit and preached a forcible discourse on "Coulcasion." He gave proofs of the institution of the Sacrament of Penance, and showed the mecessity of having recourse to it when we forfeited God's grace by sin. He exhorted the people in strong terms to prepare themselves now during this time of grace, by a good confession, to receive the Sacrament worthily, and strengthen their souls by receiving the Lord in holy communion ion. The Mass Pro Pace Wednesday at 9.30 was celebrated by the former pastor of St. Joseph's, the beloved and esteemed Father McGuire, P. P., of Hastengs. He was assisted by Frs. Kelly and Collins, as deacon and subdeacon, respectively. Father Maguire preached after the Gospel an eloquent, forcible discourse on the promise and institution of the Bless, ed Eucharist. Wednesday evening Rev. Father Scollard, P.P., of North Bay, spoke in English, and French, on the mulice of mortal sin. In his well-prepared discourse he strongly infpressed upon the people the awful wound that mortal sin made upon the soul, and dwelt upon the cruel ingratiude of man who turned away form God to revel in the slime of sin Thursinspressed upon the people the awful wound that mortal sin made upon the soul, and dwelt upon the soul, and dwelt upon the soul, and dwelt upon the ornel ingratitude of man who turned away from God to revel in the slime of sin Thursday, at 10 a.m., the solemn High Mass of Reparation was sung by Father Scollard, assisted by Father McGuire as deacon, and Father Kelly as subdeacon. Father McGuire addressed the large congregation present. He urged his kind heagers to keep the faith and to profit of that time of the Forty Tour's Devotion, and that the good Catholics of Bracebridge light rely on his presence at the anals, devotion, if he could find the oassist their pastor, Father Collins, who is continuing the good work inaugurated by the suntly Bishop Jamot, who once lived in Bracebridge. The holy exercise come to a close by the chanting of the litany, carrying the adorable host in procession, and Beneartion of the Blessea Secrament, followed by the '1e Deum'. The devotions were largely attended, and many received Holy Communion. The altar looked heautiful, and speaks volumes of credit for the ladies who decorated it. The choir rendered excellent singing under the schie leadership of Mass Ward, A. T. C. M., late of New York.

OBITUARY.

MRS O'CONNELL, OAKVILLE.

On Thursday last there passed away in Oakville one of the grand old Cathrobe Landmarks of Oatario-Mis. B. O'Connell. She was an example of that living fout that admits of no doubt. B'rrm in faith and uncerniting in the practice of the duties of her holy religion, she was indeed a model for her fellow-parishioners to follow. Her bind trus! in the true faith; her faithful adherence to the very letter and spirit of the Church's law and wish; her faithfulness in the fulfilment of her even duty—in a word, her truly Catholic life, will always stand as a living, speaking monument to a woman whose life in this world has made the world a debitin. As she was herself faithful to her Church and her God, so was she rewarded in this life. She had the happiness of seeing a son, and a grandson ordained into the Holy Priesthood and hive as arnaments ito that exalted position, and she had the grief to follow two grandsons, both occlesiastical students, to an early grave. Thus setion, and she had the grief to follow two grandsons, both occlesiastical students, to an early grave. Thus with her milk did her children and grandchildren imbibe that truly Cath-olicy spirit, that burning zeal, that in-domitable courage that fills our holy priesthood with the strength that makes martygs.

Coming to Oakville in the pioneer days, she saw all the trials and diffi-presented with the strength that makes martyrs.

Coming to Oakville in the pioneer days, she saw all the trials and difficulties that attend that life, but she never complained, and never funched. Always strong and hearty, she led a grand life, extending over 90 years. During the past winter she was stricken with , pneumonia, and although she recovered, the shock was too great for a woman of her age to bear, and she passed peacefully away at the residence of her nephew, Mr. R. J. Regan, fortified by all the rites of the Chutch, and surrounded by her son and her grandchildren. The funeral took place from Mr. Regan's residence to St. Andrew's Church on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. The requirem mass was sung by the son of the deceased, the Very Rev. New York's Cathedral is now Filled.

The last vacant chapel in St Patrick's Cathedral, New York, is to be filled with an altar erected by James S. Coleman, the contractor for the Cornell dam, as a anchaerial to his brother, Michiel Coleman, who lost his like because of illness contracted while helping his brother in that work. The design is by Henry G. Wynn, consulting architect to the trustees of the cathedral. The great door of the Abbey of Mellifont is fre-troduced as a nuge retre los with the altar table erected under the portal. In the face of the tuble are embedded fore-similes of the crosses of St. Coleman and Clonmacnoise. The Coleman, who erected the celebrated facilic crosses which bear his name at Clonmacnoise on the banks of the Shannou, in King's County, Ireland. Mellifont is in County Louth. Both Mellifont and Clonmacnoise were founded by the Trappists, of whom St. Colman was an abbot. Mr. Coleman has contemplated the erection of the memorial for some time, but has had difficulty in persuading the cathedral authorities to assent to so novel a design executed in the glowing mass of colored marbles contemplated.

The Work of Monks

The Way in which these Holy Men Retard Progress.

The original name of Mount St. Jo purchased early in 1878 by Count Moore, Moorestort, Tipperary, and Moore, Moore tort, Impletary, and greesented to the Abbot of Mount Melleray for the purpose of establishing or founding a second Trappist Monastery in Ireland. On the lat of March, 1878, the monks got possession of the place. When they arrayed there the old mansion and out-offices were relied to the child of the months of diluminated condition. were in quite a dilapidated condition, and were the home of the owl and the jackdaw. The lands attached were overrum with briars and brushwood, and presented a dreary and neglected overrun with briars and brushwood, and presented a dreary and neglected aspect. But an a short time, and as it by magic, the whole scene was changed. The entrance gates that hed grown rusted on their hinges were thrown open to friend and stranger acide. I radesinen under the guidance and assistance of the monks and brothers—all of whom work at manual labor when not engaged in their spir-stual exercises—soon put the house and offices in good order. In like manner the lands were reclaimed and by judacious and skuiful employment of labor were soon producing abundant crops. (The fine old woods around the house were primed and trimined and put en proper shape, and the whole place presented a very enanged aspect to what was a short time previous nothing but a wilderness being changed anto a similing sarden. This roos nothing but a wilderness being changed into a similing surden. This large tract of 'and-over 400 acres-afforded much-needed employment to the diaborers in the locality, as a large stoff as required for the purpose of assisting the monks in farming operations. In May, 1873, the monks started the building of the splendid church that now accurs the place, also a new warm of the monasters, which a new using of the monastery, which work wave employment to a vast number of artigans and laborers. The building of the church and monastery anvolved, of course, a great strain on the manks' slender resources, but the good people of the neighborhood afsex years ago, the monks having se-cured possession of the Bunnow Mills, edied passession of the Bunnow Mills, adjoining the monastery, they pro-ceeded to equip them with modern ma-chinery, and they soon had the satis-faction of seeing the concern in full working acids. working order.
